LEONARD WOODCOCK
Announces Agreement

Ford Pact Awaits Union Vote

By OWEN ULLMANN
Associated Press Writer

DETROIT (AP) — A 22-day-old United Auto Workers strike against Ford Motor Co. is expected to last at least another week despite a tentative new agreement which puts union members on the road toward a four-day work week.

The new three-year accord, hammered out late Tuesday after a full day of intensive talks, must be ratified by 170,000 Ford workers who struck the No. 2 automaker in 22 states at midnight Sept. 14.

Union officials say it could take a week to 10 days to win ratification and end the walkout, which has shut 62 Ford assembly and manufacturing plants and brought the firm's North American production to a halt.

UAW President Leonard Woodcock said no details of the settlement would be announced until after it is reviewed by the international executive board today and the National Ford Council on Thursday.

But sources said a key element in the pact is a provision for 13 more paid days off spread over the three years, in addition to 33 holiday and vacation days Ford workers now receive annually.

The union had demanded more paid days off as a first step in its long-range goal to shorten the work week to preserve current jobs and create new ones. The idea is to force the industry to hire more workers to replace those taking time off.

Sources said the additional time off provisions are tied to attendance requirements — a worker must be on the job the day before and after his scheduled extra day off to get paid for it.

Other provisions, sources said, include general wage increases averaging about 3 percent a year, an additional first-year increase of about 20 cents an hour, continuation of the cost-of-living protection formula, special cash supplements for retirees and improvements in fringe benefits.

Some union officials have expressed concern that the settlement may be rejected by the 25,000 skilled tradesmen at Ford, who are being polled separately this year. If the tradesmen reject the pact, UAW bargainers may return to the table before putting the pact before production workers.

The dual-vote is in response to a revolt in 1973 by the indepen-

Strikers Swamp Food Stamp Center

DETROIT (AP) — Thousands of striking Ford Motor Co. employees have been turned away from an emergency food stamp processing center because officials say they don't have enough staff to handle the increased load. The center has turned away an estimated 2,500 food stamp applicants since it opened last Friday while processing another 2,800, welfare officials said. The center is one of three set up on an emergency basis to speed processing of food stamp applications by Detroit-area United Auto Workers union members who struck Ford 22 days ago. "We're turning them away because we just can't handle them," said Glenn Minster, head of the center. "Our staff worked 14 hours on Monday and that's just too much." Those turned away have been told to return the following week.

Although the center has a staff of 80 persons, the problem reportedly is compounded by the fact that half of them are brand-new employees with only a few days' training behind them. Minster said he expected things to ease by next week because most strikers will have applied for the benefits by then.

Although the UAW and Ford reached a tentative contract agreement Tuesday, it could be at least a week before the ratification process is finished and workers return to their jobs.

Eligible applicants can buy food stamps for less than their face value and use them at full value to buy food. Eligibility and the cost of stamps are determined by family size, income and savings. Ford workers are receiving from $40 to $50 a week in strike pay.

Ford, Carter Ready To Slug It Out

Foreign Policy On Tap For Tonight's Debate

By DONALD M. ROTHBERG
AP Political Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Jimmy Carter says he's ready to slug it out with President Ford in tonight's debate on foreign and defense policies, but White House aides say Ford isn't preparing for what may be the toughest questions he'll face.

The second of the three debates between the two presidential candidates is scheduled for 9:30 p.m., EDT, at the historic Palace of Fine Arts in San Francisco. The three major commercial networks and the Public Broadcasting Service will televise the encounter.

There have been suggestions that Ford may be asked during tonight's debate about the effect on African nations of the racial slur that led to Monday's resignation of his agriculture secretary, Earl Butz.

And Ford may be asked about a report by the General Accounting Office (GAO) which says 41 American lives were lost in the Mayaguez incident last year because of hasty action and poor intelligence.

Ford advisers brushed aside suggestions that the Butz affair could come up in tonight's debate, but U.S. Ambassador to the United Nations William Scranton was asked in a television interview on Sunday about Butz' comments, and he said they "will hurt in the United Nations."

Scranton said he feared the incident could drive "a wedge in relationships between the West and the Africans."

Ford has been unavailable for questions on the Butz matter since it became public knowledge last Friday night that Butz had made an obscene racial remark about blacks. Ford's only comments about the Butz case were on Monday when he read a prepared statement in which he regretfully accepted Butz' resignation.

Mike Duval, a White House special counsel, said Ford has been given no special briefing material on responses he could make either to questions about the Butz affair or the Mayaguez incident.

Carter, who said after the first debate that he had not been aggressive enough, said of the second encounter, "I think it will be a much more freewheeling, much more aggressive exchange."

But White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen said Ford could be inhibited by the subject of tonight's debate because his words "will be interpreted by foreign leaders as reflecting American policy."

Jim Karayn, debate project director for the sponsoring League of Women Voters, said, "I think the candidates will be looser now that they've been through it once."

Almost certain to come up in tonight's debate is the report issued Tuesday by the GAO which is critical of the Ford administration's handling of the 1975 Mayaguez incident.

The first debate, staged in Philadelphia, concerned economic and domestic policies. An Associated Press poll conducted as soon as the debate ended called it a draw with a slight gain in support for Ford.

In the hours before they were to step on stage to accept questions from a panel of three reporters, the candidates followed a regimen similar to that before their first confrontation.

Both worked alone, studying briefing books prepared by their staffs. There were no reports this time that Ford was rehearsing for the meeting with his Democratic opponent by fielding questions from aides, as he had done before the first debate.

The format of the second debate will be the same as the first. A coin toss will determine which candidate gets the first question. He will have three

Parts Of Berrien Get Inch-Plus Rain

Rainfall totaling more than an inch in some areas of Southwestern Michigan Tuesday and early today led a cold front that sent temperatures downward into the 40-degree range during the early morning hours.

The heaviest accumulation was reported in southern Berrien county. Chuck Egbert, an operator at the Niles sewage treatment plant said his gauge measured 1.17 inches between midnight Tuesday and 9 a.m. today.

Herb Teichman, who operates a weather station at his farm near Eau Claire measured 1.13 inches between 7 p.m. Tuesday and about 7 a.m. today.

Lesser amounts were measured at the Sodus Experiment Farm, where Arnold Hafer reported .89 of an inch and at the Paw Paw public works department where Howard Bush, assistant superintendent, recorded .93 of an inch.

Cloudy weather with a low near 30 tonight and highs Thursday in the 50's are forecast by the U.S. Weather Service in Grand Rapids. Little or no precipitation is forecast Friday through Sunday, but unseasonably cool weather is expected to remain during the period.

Teichman said while the current rain exceeded by far the .63 of an inch he measured during all of August, it probably would do little good for crops locally. He said it could hinder some harvesting.

Teichman said he measured a rainfall of 1.46 inches on Sunday, Sept. 26, and was even more appreciative of a heavy rainfall of about an inch earlier on Thursday, Sept. 9. "The reason we notice this rain more is that it's cold," Teichman said.

Showers and thunderstorms stretched from the Gulf Coast to the Great Lakes region, dropping heavy rains on parts of the South. Snow fell in some areas of Montana.

Carter's Son Jeff Planning Apology

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Jeff Carter, son of Democratic presidential nominee Jimmy Carter, says he will apologize to evangelist Billy Graham for saying Graham paid $5 for a doctor's degree.

Carter said in a telephone interview with an Oklahoma City radio talk show host that, although he feels he was misquoted, he has asked "our press people to get Billy Graham's telephone number ... and I will apologize."

A tape recording of a speech by the candidate's youngest son in Tulsa last week shows that he said:

"You know, Billy Graham is a doctor of religion. ... You know, Billy Graham's doctorate of religion doesn't come from a college. It's just one that he bought. It cost $5."

In answer to questions, young Carter said Tuesday night: "I said that he had an honorary doctorate and the Universal Life Church sold them. I didn't mean to imply that he had bought his."

"I was trying to say that a big evangelist like Billy Graham should not be involved in politics because when they come out and endorse a candidate, inevitably it turns the other side of that congregation off."

The comment, he said, "was one of those stupid comments that people make from time to time that you regret. I got bogged down and said too much of my own opinion in kind of an offhand and casual way, and it got picked up. That's why I don't give my opinions on things, usually."

He said his father and Graham "get along very well."

At Least 22 Dead In Bangkok Riots

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Thailand's defense minister seized power today after frenzied fighting between leftists and rightists, Radio Thailand said. Police said at least 22 persons were killed and about 180 wounded in riots touched off by the return of Thailand's former military dictator.

Radio Thailand said Defense Minister Sa-ngad Chalaway had taken power from the elected civilian government at the head of a national reform council.

Witnesses said two students were hanged and their bodies mutilated and other bodies set afire in the fighting that broke out during a demonstration against the return home of former dictator Thanom Kittikachorn.

Authorities arrested more than 1,300 university students.

About 1,500 police and military stood by at government house and the mob stopped short of entering the building itself.

Prime Minister Seni Pramroj climbed atop a bus to address the demonstrators through a microphone and promised that he would resign if their demands were not met.

Later, a brief announcement, reportedly signed by Sa-ngad, said: "The government cannot govern the country properly and in order not to let Thailand become a prey to Communists and to uphold the monarchy and royal family this council has seized power."

The announcement said the administration of the country would be placed under the council but would "not be altered." It said the council would

Were it left to me to decide whether we should have government without newspapers or newspapers without government, I should not hesitate to prefer the latter. — Thomas Jefferson.

Guessing The Cost Of An Embarrassing Slip Of The Tongue

Just when the Ford campaign appeared to be making waves on some errors by Jimmy Carter, the G.O.P. is wondering if it is staring at a hole or is in it.

This is the flap over Earl Butz's comment to some travelling companions on the way back from August Presidential convention that Republicans can't draw the black vote because the "coloreds" are only interested in sex, fancy shoes and a warm place to go to the bathroom.

The now resigned Agricultural Secretary used saltier language than that which John Dean of Rolling Stones, a far out magazine, quoted but which the postal authorities might feel a bit strong for a family newspaper to reproduce.

Irrespective of the fact that much of the white community may feel as Butz quipped, it is bad form for a person in high places, public or private, to slander an entire race.

It is a devastating example of not so much what is said but who says it and under what circumstances.

Had some other cabinet member less prominent and influential than Butz dropped the remark, the tempest might have been of lesser wind strength.

Butz, though, has stood out front and center since he left Purdue University to head up the Department at the Nixon Administration.

Farmers raising the nation's staple grain crops have cheered his effort to improve their position by freeing them from the artificial controls which have been Washington's standard answer for problems in agriculture.

Four years ago bumper stickers abounded in the prairie states reading, "Save Our Butz, Vote Nixon."

With Ford in trouble in those states because of a belief the Administration gave the Russians too much of a bargain in the massive wheat sale last year at the expense of the U.S. grower, the G.O.P. campaign managers were counting strongly on Butz to carry the ticket in those areas.

This anxiety does not apply to Republican candidates for state and federal offices in other sections where the black vote looms large.

Their tee wees are the hope to obtain some of that vote or at the very least hold its Democratic inclination to a minimum.

Virtually in unison they called upon Ford to dismiss Butz once the story hit the headlines.

Under pressure which can only be guessed at, Butz acceded to that bidding.

Carter quickly pounced upon the delay between the disclosure and the resignation as another illustration of his major campaign theme, "lack of leadership in the White House."

How much the incident will hurt Ford who definitely needs more friends than the latest public opinion polls disclose depends on the agility with which he handles the bruha.

Jimmy made a similar slip, though of lesser degree, shortly after his nomination when he said he said he approved the concept of the neighborhood school.

To many black leaders this is the slogan of segregation.

The artful Jimmy, however, quickly mended his fences on that one through a televised interview of him and some of the country's black leaders shaking hands.

Ford is not that adept an open field runner, but, hopefully, for his party he may be able to shake the albatross from his neck.

Time will tell. Meanwhile, singer Pat Boone—who was present when Butz made the slur that lost him his cabinet post—seemed puzzled by the whole affair. Said Boone:

"I just can't get it into my head that a cabinet man can tell a bad joke in private and get fired, and then John Dean can tell the same joke to millions and get paid for it."

Old Ingrained Habit Comes To Fore Again

For those who haven't noticed, this is an election year. And an old ingrained habit which seems to surface about every four years is coming to the fore again.

It is the habit of ignoring as much as possible the pronouncements of the various political candidates. A minimum of observation leaves no doubt that while some people conscientiously try to follow the trends, techniques and sundry developments of political campaigns, many ignore them.

These people skip news about political candidates in the newspapers and tune them out of their radio and tv sets. Perhaps this is merely an extension of a more general habit. Many people are poor listeners. The fast pace of modern living has affected the ability of people to receive verbal communications from others.

The mind can function faster — much faster — than the mouth. Tests have indicated the thought process is four to 10 times as quick as most persons speak. The result is many individuals only hear part of what is said. They are too busy interlacing the incoming words with other thoughts.

Then there is the common variety of listener who tries to do a number of other things at the same time. He generally ends not knowing either what he did or heard.

Another type of listener is the one who subconsciously shuts out of his mind controversial thoughts which go against his own. Instead of listening to an argument, he concentrates on constructing a rebuttal to put the talker in his place.

One of the most annoying listeners is the one who anticipates what the other person is going to say. Sometimes these conversations can be most amusing to a third party, particularly when the two conversationalists are tuned into different wave lengths.

Concentration is not an easy art. It requires patience, practice and a forbearance for others' ideas, traits which are not uncommonly noticeable — especially in an election year.

Turnabout In Campaign Coattail Riding!

Editor.

Opponents of Proposal C have deliberately attempted to deceive and mislead the public with lies, innuendo and half-truths. We feel that it is imperative that the record be set straight regarding the impact of Proposal C.

An analysis of Proposal C done by the highly respected, non-political, non-partisan Citizens' Research Council of Michigan, truly presents the impact of Proposal C. The facts are clear.

Passage of this amendment:

- 1) will not cause drastic cuts in the budget.
- 2) will not force up local property taxes. This clearly prohibited in Section 30 of the amendment.
- 3) will not affect property tax credits.

The Office of Management and Budget excludes property tax credits from income to the state, so that property tax credits does not come under the 8.3 per cent limitation as presently defined.

Proposal C will not cut back on the State's ability to meet the essential needs of the people, but will tie the rate of growth of government spending and taxes to the people's ability to pay. In addition, local governmental units are clearly protected from any loss in their current proportion of state revenues (Sec. 29).

Proposal C will force the legislature to carefully budget spending to the top priority items.

Therefore, voters will have a clear choice this November: they can finally vote to have a voice in controlling government expenditures, or they can vote to continue the reckless, irresponsible spending habits that lead to the fiscal chaos that New York is currently undergoing.

Private enterprise has made this state and nation the greatest social, economic and political force in the world. Unless the people constrain the authority of elected officials to determine total tax revenues, private enterprise will become a thing of the past.

Taxes, all levels considered; local, state and federal, now consume four months of labor of every taxpayer citizen in the state and the nation. Obviously, the free spenders believe that the supply of tax dollars is inexhaustible.

With tax limitation, we have the opportunity to stop the trend to bigger government, more restrictive regulations and controls, and unconstrained spending for more public largesse.

TV Keeping Deaf In Dark

NEW YORK — I am one of the 14 or 15 million Americans who are known to be deaf or hard of hearing. I have otosclerosis, a freezing of the tiny stapes bone in the middle ear.

I believe the condition formed over many years and became serious during the Vietnam War. One day I received shrapnel in the leg, but never heard the grenade explode, and I know I wasn't quite right.

In any event, I'm fortunate. My disease has been surgically corrected. Well, almost. Occasionally in conversation someone will ask me how I am and I'll respond, yes, it does look like rain.

Still, sometimes I think I hear too much. For instance I am told that many people, including some medical people, believe hearing loss is associated with such matters as stupidity, paranoia and sexual impotency. Sexual impotency? I resent that.

All of this personal data is not by way of inviting you to send in pennies. Rather my wish is to identify myself with an important but generally unknown social issue of the moment: television captioning for the deaf, otherwise known as the Line 21 dispute. As it is now and always has been, TV for the deaf is something like eating without swallowing. If one can't hear as well as see what is going on, the crudity of the tube is, alas, incomplete. A solution is at hand, however. I.e., the Line 21 dispute.

Roughly speaking, Line 21 is the first non-visual horizontal band above a TV picture. Screens are composed of 525 such lines, the top 21 of which are unseen and are used by the industry for technical matters. For example some of the lines are necessary for the synchronization of the picture. Others are used for test transmission. Line 21, however, is an open line, not vital to set requirements, and thus it has a potential that the others do not.

One potential is public service to the deaf. Line 21 can be used to relay caption television programs to any set fixed with a special decoding device. The meaning of this technology should not be minimized. Captioned TV would allow those with a hearing loss to read dialogue, the same as everyone used to read at the silent movies. Admittedly, much of what is said on television is not worth reading, much less hearing, witness the foggy chatter of Mary Hartman, but social progress is never without its objections.

The caption technology is not experimental. It is a present reality. Engineers at the Public Broadcasting Service perfected the methods, and affiliated stations in certain areas have tested the transmissions successfully. Any program can be captioned. Any television set can be adjusted for decoding. Those who want the service would have to spend about $125 for a decoding device; all other television sets would receive the regular, noncaptioned, picture.

It is an amazingly simple answer to a complex problem. And yet, as of now, chances are slim to zero that it will soon become a reality. The Federal Communications Commission has the power to authorize caption use for Line 21, yet it is hesitating because of unanimous opposition from the four commercial networks.

Why the network disavow? They give several reasons, all of which are lame. For example they say the captioning equipment is too expensive. In fact, here would be a one-time cost of about $50,000 (the price of a 30-second commercial on prime time) and thereafter about $1,000 for each 60-minute program captioned. Actually, the networks wouldn't have to buy anything if they choose not to; Line 21 captioning would not force caption, it would merely allow it.

Dull Campaign, Lively Moments

WASHINGTON — The immortal Dante said long ago that, "The hottest places in Hell are reserved for those who, in a time of moral crisis, preserve their neutrality."

To the extent that indifference to the presidential contest qualifies as copping out on crisis, there may be plenty of candidates for those pits. Neither presidential candidate has yet been able to arouse the voters out of a pervasive apathy which threatens to result in the lowest election day turnout ever.

Things are more lively elsewhere, however:

Resident of the exclusive Watergate apartment, which include vice presidential nominee Robert Dole and FBI chief Clarence Kelley, are in a state of shock. Elizabeth Ray tried to buy an apartment there, but was headed off when the management explained bluntly that since it was a cooperative the other owners had the right to veto any prospective tenants.

Then she asked about space in the office complex next door, which she said she needed to write a book, but was turned down there too.

The Secret Service has forbidden Jimmy Carter to attend any more fund-raising parties in supporters' private homes, because they are too difficult to secure. That's why this weekend's big Carter shindig, raising money for the Democratic National Committee's voter registration drive, was held back in Plains, Ga., in his mother's house. The tab, by the way, was steep — $5,000 per person.

The 83 Democratic House freshmen are panicky about reelection, but most of them are in pretty good shape. The Democratic Study Group, a liberal congressional organization, has surveyed the freshmen problem and concluded only 40 per cent of the exceptionally huge class, elected in reaction to Watergate, is marginal. The rest appear to be either safe or in races in which they are favored.

President Ford's campaign team is making a big fuss over ethnic groups. Meanwhile, however, the Heritage Council of the Republican National Committee, which is sponsored to appeal to such groups, is virtually defunct. It's headed by Rep. Edward Derwinski of Illinois and he's busy with his own campaign.

Twelve million more families watched the presidential debate than watched the Miss America Pageant a few weeks ago. That's encouraging.

One of Walter Mondale's standard campaign gags is to mock a recent publicity photo of President Ford posed with a cow. "When I was a kid, I spent a lot of time with cows, and they're really dumb," Mondale says. "Now I know where Ford gets his advice."

The gag always gets a good laugh. The press, however, hearing the story over and over, began to get a bit sick of it during Mondale's whistlestop train journey.

Suddenly, as the train rolled to its final stop after six cow stories in 12 hours, a loud "moo-oo-oo" came over the loudspeaker in the press car. It was Mondale, horsing (or cowering) around in his compartment, unaware his imitation was being broadcast throughout the train.

managers were counting strongly on Butz to carry the ticket in those areas.

This anxiety does not apply to Republican candidates for state and federal offices in other sections where the black vote looms large.

Their tee wees are the hope to obtain some of that vote or at the very least hold its Democratic inclination to a minimum.

Virtually in unison they called upon Ford to dismiss Butz once the story hit the headlines.

Under pressure which can only be guessed at, Butz acceded to that bidding.

Carter quickly pounced upon the delay between the disclosure and the resignation as another illustration of his major campaign theme, "lack of leadership in the White House."

How much the incident will hurt Ford who definitely needs more friends than the latest public opinion polls disclose depends on the agility with which he handles the bruha.

Jimmy made a similar slip, though of lesser degree, shortly after his nomination when he said he said he approved the concept of the neighborhood school.

To many black leaders this is the slogan of segregation.

The artful Jimmy, however, quickly mended his fences on that one through a televised interview of him and some of the country's black leaders shaking hands.

Ford is not that adept an open field runner, but, hopefully, for his party he may be able to shake the albatross from his neck.

Time will tell. Meanwhile, singer Pat Boone—who was present when Butz made the slur that lost him his cabinet post—seemed puzzled by the whole affair. Said Boone:

"I just can't get it into my head that a cabinet man can tell a bad joke in private and get fired, and then John Dean can tell the same joke to millions and get paid for it."

These people skip news about political candidates in the newspapers and tune them out of their radio and tv sets. Perhaps this is merely an extension of a more general habit. Many people are poor listeners. The fast pace of modern living has affected the ability of people to receive verbal communications from others.

The mind can function faster — much faster — than the mouth. Tests have indicated the thought process is four to 10 times as quick as most persons speak. The result is many individuals only hear part of what is said. They are too busy interlacing the incoming words with other thoughts.

Then there is the common variety of listener who tries to do a number of other things at the same time. He generally ends not knowing either what he did or heard.

Another type of listener is the one who subconsciously shuts out of his mind controversial thoughts which go against his own. Instead of listening to an argument, he concentrates on constructing a rebuttal to put the talker in his place.

One of the most annoying listeners is the one who anticipates what the other person is going to say. Sometimes these conversations can be most amusing to a third party, particularly when the two conversationalists are tuned into different wave lengths.

Concentration is not an easy art. It requires patience, practice and a forbearance for others' ideas, traits which are not uncommonly noticeable — especially in an election year.

A Dull Life

People with perfect records have very little time to do other than keep up with the bookkeeping.

Four Lawmakers Answer Critics Of Proposal C

Editor, Opponents of Proposal C have deliberately attempted to deceive and mislead the public with lies, innuendo and half-truths. We feel that it is imperative that the record be set straight regarding the impact of Proposal C.

An analysis of Proposal C done by the highly respected, non-political, non-partisan Citizen's Research Council of Michigan, truly presents the impact of Proposal C. The facts are clear.

Passage of this amendment:

- 1) will not cause drastic cuts in the budget.
- 2) will not force up local property taxes. This clearly prohibited in Section 30 of the amendment.
- 3) will not affect property tax credits. The Office of Management and Budget excludes property tax credits from income to the state, so that property tax credits does not come under the 8.3 per cent limitation as presently defined.

Proposal C will not cut back on the State's ability to meet the essential needs of the people, but will tie the rate of growth of government spending and taxes to the people's ability to pay. In addition, local governmental units are clearly protected from any loss in their current proportion of state revenues (Sec. 29).

Proposal C will force the legislature to carefully budget spending to the top priority items.

Therefore, voters will have a clear choice this November: they can finally vote to have a voice in controlling government expenditures, or they can vote to continue the reckless, irresponsible spending habits that lead to the fiscal chaos that New York is currently undergoing.

Private enterprise has made this state and nation the greatest social, economic and political force in the world. Unless the people constrain the authority of elected officials to determine total tax revenues, private enterprise will become a thing of the past.

Taxes, all levels considered; local, state and federal, now consume four months of labor of every taxpaying citizen in the state and the nation. Obviously, the free spenders believe that the supply of tax dollars is inexhaustible.

With tax limitation, we have the opportunity to stop the trend to bigger government, more restrictive regulations and controls, and unconstrained spending for more public largesse.

JOB OFFERS ARE NEEDED

Editor,

Struggle for survival, beatings, unnecessary shakedowns, harassment by guards, overcrowded conditions, filth, killings, stabbings — where does it all stop?

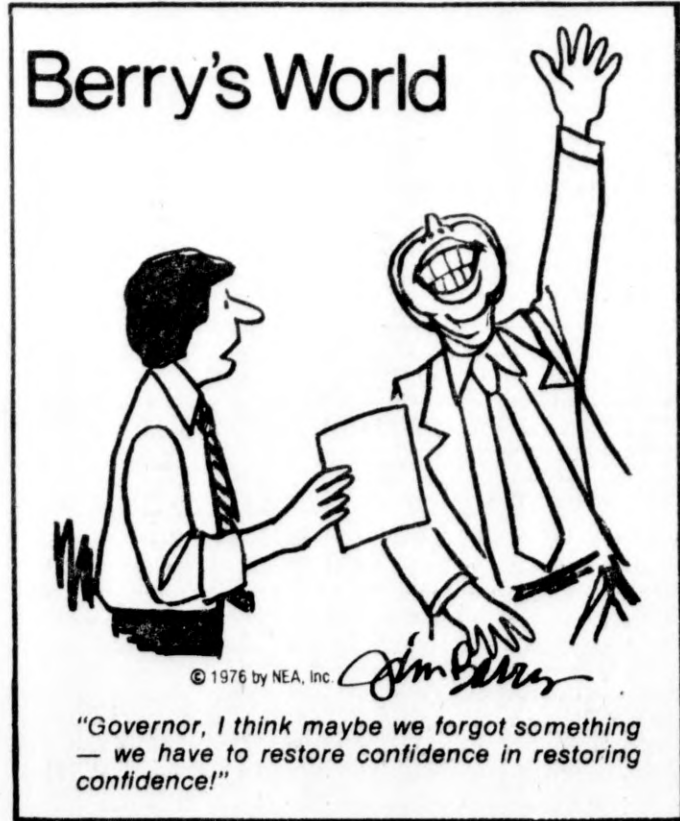

There has not been any change at Jackson, only the population, which is always getting bigger. There are people here that shouldn't be in here at all, but only you as the people of the community can help.

Why not get it together with your community organization and sponsor a few of those inside to be released and given a job so they can prove they are human as you are?

We need letters from you the public who will pledge a job for someone who will be released and help others the same. Just your vote of a yes or a no on a piece of paper sent to me and I will give it to the appropriate party who is behind us 100 per cent as sponsoring a few of us to be released and to become a person again. Only those with non-violent offenses will be considered.

Remember, there's no help until you help.

Living Cost Here Below U.S. Average

City Editor

The cost of living in Benton Harbor-St. Joseph for July was lower than the U.S. average and eight of nine other Great Lakes region cities, according to the inter-city cost of living survey conducted by the American Chamber of Commerce

Researchers Association (ACCRA).

The index for the Twin Cities of 96.9 was based on the U.S. average of 100. In the Great Lakes region, Chicago was the highest, 117.4; followed by Jackson, Mich., 112.1; Detroit, 110.5; Ann Arbor, 109.9; Traverse City, 107.0; Lansing, 101.2; Madison, Wis., 100.8; and Flint, 97.7.

Only South Bend at 92.7 had a lower index than Benton Harbor-St. Joseph in the Great Lakes region.

Roger H. Curry, executive vice president of Twin Cities Area Chamber of Commerce, said the local chamber participated in the survey.

Chamber personnel canvassed the community to obtain at least three prices for each item in the survey. In the Great Lakes region, the survey showed South Bend, Benton Harbor-St. Joseph and Lansing with the lowest monthly housing mortgage payments on three bedroom homes (excluding taxes and insurance) $240 to $250. Traverse City and Ann Arbor were highest, $334 to $339.

The Twin Cities also ranked low in cost of electricity for a three-bedroom home which also uses gas, and "moderate" for other items.

WHFB Radio Dale Carnegie Host Again

The management of radio station WHFB has announced that for the seventh consecutive year it will act as sponsor of the world-famous Dale Carnegie course to be offered soon in the twin cities.

The course, now in its 63rd year, is designed to help people develop more self-confidence, improve their memory, express themselves more effectively and develop better human relations skills.

The course, which has attracted more than two million participants since its inception, will be directed here by Jim Knight, area manager.

Further information may be obtained by listening to WHFB, 1060 on the standard radio dial.

BH ELECTION

Mrs. Wells Seeks Helen Ford's Seat

Mrs. Nathaniel (Mildred) Wells Sr. has announced her candidacy for the Benton Harbor commissioner-at-large seat vacated by the Aug. 3 recall of Helen Ford.

Mrs. Wells said yesterday she will run as a sticker candidate in the Nov. 2 election.

All candidates for the commissioner-at-large seat must run on a sticker or write-in basis in the election because no one submitted enough signatures on filing petitions by the Sept. 7 deadline to get his name on the election ballot.

Mrs. Wells was the only person to file petitions for the seat but was short of the 237 valid signatures required to get on the ballot.

"I have faith in the present city officials and feel they are dynamic leaders with a vision for the future," Mrs. Wells said. "I believe, together, we can build upon the foundation of the founding fathers wisely, fairly, without malice or prejudice."

Mrs. Wells, 66, and her husband, the Rev. Nathaniel Wells Sr., pastor of the Community Church of God in Christ in Benton Harbor, live at 127 Cross street and have four grown children.

Mrs. Wells is active with the March of Dimes and the Berrien County Chapter of the American Cancer Society.

BENTON TOWNSHIP

Fellow Republicans To Back Candidates

A slate of Republicans seeking Benton township offices in the November general election have scheduled a press conference Friday to announce the support of fellow GOP candidates.

The press conference will be held at 5 p.m. at Dave Stockman's headquarters, 901 Main street, St. Joseph, according to Hank Handy, spokesman for the "Citizens Voice" slate.

Handy indicated the slate has received the endorsement of Stockman, Fourth District congressional candidate, who is scheduled to make an announcement at Friday's session.

Also scheduled to be present to throw their support to the Benton township slate are Berrien county Commissioners R.J. Burkholz and Nancy Clark.

SJ Water Bills Are Delayed

The City of St. Joseph is a little late in mailing out the water bills this October due to a mix-up in computing the rates, according to City Clerk Patrick Phelan.

Phelan said the bills were mailed out yesterday instead of Oct. 1 as usual. He said people will have 16 days (until Oct. 21) to pay their bills and take advantage of the normal 10 per cent discount. Water bills are mailed quarterly.

Ken Malkin Plans Personal Campaign

Ken Malkin, Democratic candidate for the Benton township treasurer's post, announced he will begin a door-to-door campaign this weekend and make it a major part of his election effort.

Malkin said the campaign will begin in the Millburg and Blue Creek subdivisions area and continue in different neighborhoods each week until the election Nov. 2.

Malkin said that "through an old fashioned door-to-door campaign," he will show voters he has the capacity and "a sincere desire to serve them as their treasurer."

EDWARD DONAHUE, ROBERT STARKS

Catholic Fund Chairmen Named

Edward T. Donahue, vice president and general manager of the Construction Machinery Division of Clark Equipment Co., and Robert L. Starks, partner in Kerley & Starks funeral home, have been named co-chairmen of the Lake Michigan Catholic schools '77 Advancement fund.

Announcement of the appointments was made today by Dr. B.A. Phillips, president of the Twin City Area Catholic School Fund, Inc.

LMC Staffer Gets New Role

Kenneth E. Snow, Lake Michigan college coordinator of trade related instruction, has been appointed by the Michigan Department of Education to serve as an evaluator of proposed systems of training and testing the competency of community college part-time instructors of occupational courses.

Snow, with four other college occupational administrators in the state, will examine the competency training and testing projects submitted by five Michigan institutions of higher education and will recommend to the Michigan Department of Education the one best suited for statewide application.

The projects are the outgrowth of the recent mandate by the Michigan Department of Education that all part-time occupational studies faculty members in Michigan's community colleges complete a competency-based training program before teaching courses beginning with the fall term of 1978.

KENNETH E. SNOW
Named as evaluator

and industry. Ray Jordan, executive director of Lake Michigan Catholic schools, said the school has not formally set a goal for the 1977 Advancement Fund. Last year, $32,000 was raised for the fund, he said.

In accepting the co-chairmanship, Donahue said voluntary giving by individuals has historically been a very important part of the funding of private education. Starks noted that Lake Michigan Catholic, with almost 20 per cent of its enrollment being of religious faiths other than Catholic, serves the entire community.

Donahue is vice president and director of the Twin Cities Area Chamber of Commerce, vice president and director of the Area Resources Improvement Council, a trustee of Barat College in Lake Forest, Ill., and a director of Inter-City bank.

Starks has been president of the St. Joseph-Benton Harbor Rotary club. He is a member of the National Selected Morticians, past president of the Twin Cities Area Chamber of Commerce, and past president of Blossomland United Way.

City Editor

The cost of living in Benton Harbor-St. Joseph for July was 96.9, below the U.S. average and of nine other Great Lakes cities, according to the city cost of living survey conducted by the American Chamber of Commerce

Researchers Association (ACCRA).

The index for the Twin Cities of 96.9 was based on the U.S. average of 100. In the Great Lakes region, Chicago was the highest, 117.4; followed by Jackson, Mich., 112.1; Detroit, 110.5; Ann Arbor, 109.9; Traverse City, 107.0; Lansing, 101.2; Madison, Wis., 100.8; and Flint, 97.7.

Only South Bend at 92.7 had a lower index than Benton Harbor-St. Joseph in the Great Lakes region.

Roger H. Curry, executive vice president of Twin Cities Area Chamber of Commerce, said the local chamber participated in the survey.

Chamber personnel canvassed the community to obtain at least three prices for each item in the survey. In the Great Lakes region, the survey showed South Bend, Benton Harbor-St. Joseph and Lansing with the lowest monthly housing mortgage payments on three bedroom homes (excluding taxes and insurance) $240 to $250. Traverse City and Ann Arbor were highest, $334 to $339.

The Twin Cities also ranked low in cost of electricity for a three-bedroom home which also uses gas, and "moderate" for other items.

The top average housing payment in the U.S. among cities surveyed was $500 in Aspen, Colo.

in the Nov. 2 election.

All candidates for the commissioner-at-large seat must run on a sticker or write-in basis in the election because no one submitted enough signatures on filing petitions by the Sept. 7 deadline to get his name on the election ballot.

Mrs. Wells was the only person to file petitions for the seat but was short of the 237 valid signatures required to get on the ballot.

"I have faith in the present city officials and feel they are dynamic leaders with a vision for the future," Mrs. Wells said. "I believe, together, we can build upon the foundation of the founding fathers wisely, fairly, without malice or prejudice."

Mrs. Wells, 66, and her husband, the Rev. Nathaniel Wells Sr., pastor of the Community Church of God in Christ in Benton Harbor, live at 127 Cross street and have four grown children.

Mrs. Wells is active with the March of Dimes and the Berrien County Chapter of the American Cancer Society.

LMC Staffer Gets New Role

Kenneth E. Snow, Lake Michigan college coordinator of trade related instruction, has been appointed by the Michigan Department of Education to serve as an evaluator of proposed systems of training and testing the competency of community college part-time instructors of occupational courses.

Snow, with four other college occupational administrators in the state, will examine the competency training and testing projects submitted by five Michigan institutions of higher education and will recommend to the Michigan Department of Education the one best suited for statewide application.

The projects are the outgrowth of the recent mandate by the Michigan Department of Education that all part-time occupational studies faculty members in Michigan's community colleges complete a competency-based training program before teaching courses beginning with the fall term of 1978.

Shoreham Eyes Tighter Zoning

The Shoreham village council is studying the village's zoning ordinances to determine if the village should use a Planned Unit Development (PUD) approach to future planning, John Helsley, village president, announced at the council meeting last night.

Planned Unit Development would place tighter control on the type of buildings constructed in the village and their location and landscaping.

Helsley said the council will study the effects of the PUD approach and later set public hearings to review the new zoning approach.

The Shoreham council also urged residents concerned with a proposed apartment complex to attend the Oct. 18 meeting of the St. Joseph township board to comment on a proposed rezoning request by American homestead Corp., developers of the apartments.

Helsley said the proposed apartment complex is planned to be built just south of the corner of Shoreham drive and Lake Shore drive in St. Joseph township just outside of and adjacent to the village limits.

Club Opens New Season

By ARLYS DERRICK Women's Editor

The versatility of the flute and the professional blending of human voices featured the opening program for Monday Musical club Oct. 4.

The musical portion of the afternoon was presented in the sanctuary of First Congregational United Church of Christ, St. Joseph, and was preceded by a salad luncheon in Fellowship hall.

Five talented flutists — Charlotte Wuepper, Dorothy Daterma, Nancy Polyea, Kim Faulstich, and Nancy Nettleton — demonstrated the versatility of the flute with such diverse selections as the lyrical "Quatuor" by Pierre Dubois and Claude Debussy's "Sarabande," combining an old dance rhythm with seventh and ninth chordal dissonances, and "Konzert in D Major, Opus 15" by Joseph Boismortier.

The flutists demonstrated a complete change of pace with "Flute Rag," a fine example of America's own popular music which originated in the latter 1800's.

The Monday Musical chorus, directed by Mary Schlachach, sang the prayerful "Open Our Eyes," by McFarlane, the quiet "Spirit Flower," Campbell Tipton, and two away popular tunes, "Give My Regard To Broadway," George M. Cohan, and "Swanee," George Gershwin.

The chorus concluded with "Water Wonderland" by Phillip Hadrill which is being considered as an official Michigan song, and "America" in a dramatic modern arrangement by John Coates Jr.

Guest artist was Jane Dine.

Bean Prices Lower This Fall

Michigan Produce

Housewives across this country, England, Western Europe and even Australia will find that one of their favorite budget stretchers — Michigan-grown canned beans — are priced right again this fall and winter.

Mrs. Americ and her international counterparts turned thumbs down on the thirty-three plus cents price tag they saw on one pound cans of pork and beans last fall and winter. The higher than normal prices were caused by a weather plagued bean harvest in Michigan a year ago which cut production to nearly an all time record low. The shortfall in production drove bean prices up materially.

This season the prospect for beans is brighter, according to the Michigan Bean Shippers association. No one is predicting a bumper crop, but supplies are expected to be adequate for both the domestic and international market; and "adequate" means lower prices at the retail level for packaged and canned beans, association spokesmen say.

The state's 6,000 bean growers are just putting the finishing touches on the harvest of a 515,000 acre crop this week. Michigan State university extension personnel and industry observers say that the weather pattern during most of the growing season was a bit short of the mark but the harvest season has not been hampered with anything like the weather which raised havoc with last year's crop.

Approximately 90 per cent of the bean acreage in the state was planted to Navy beans this year.

"With any luck at all Michigan farmers will end up with bean crops that will average close to one half ton per acre. This is a production level below the state's capabilities but still enough to bring into play the full effect of the supply/demand curve in favor of the consumer," according to the association.

HARVEST TIME: Michigan farmers near final phase of the 1976 Navy bean harvest. Michigan's 6,000 bean growers are close to ending the harvest of the state's 515,000 acre bean crop. Industry officials predict a shorter bean crop than expected, but supplies have been termed adequate, which should mean lower prices at the retail level for beans this fall and winter.

The spokesmen also say, "You can look for domestic canners to be pushing canned bean sales this fall and winter. They like the Michigan producers, and shippers felt the pinch last season when higher input costs, coupled with a very small crop, pushed retail prices of canned and packaged beans up to the 'no thanks' mark."

A fun to eat, nutritional and quick to prepare Michigan grown product that generates anywhere from 90 to 100 million dollars to the state and nation's economy is definitely on the way back this fall at prices calculated to turn the bean frowns that the moms in this country wore most of last year into smiles once again, association members point out.

Cut Calories With Pork

One of the greatest misconceptions about pork concerns calorie content, since from the past pork acquired a reputation as a "fatty" meat.

Actually research shows that many cuts of pork are just as low in fat as similar cuts of beef or lamb. Pork cuts on the market today contain a larger proportion of lean meat than in former years. The cuts contribute fewer calories, which pleases those on special diets.

Apples In America

Apple seeds reached America around the year 1600 and their culture spread rapidly.

The first New World orchard was reported planted in 1626 by a pioneer settler in Boston whose farm was on Beacon Hill, across the slope from where the Massachusetts State House now stands.

The first well-known variety developed in America was the Roxbury Russet. It originated at Roxbury, Mass., in the early 1800's. The first apple nursery was established on Long Island

An old farmer's almanac advises apple growers that "the varieties of apples to be grown on the farm need not be great; some 20 or 30 kinds for summer, fall and winter would probably embrace all that are desirable for family use."

Bacon Curls Add Appeal

Bacon curls add to the appeal of many main dishes, salads and soups.

Wrapped around a small piece of fruit, cooked vegetable or cheese cube, they also provide an attractive garnish. Simply separate bacon slices and place on a rack in a shallow pan (broiler pan may be used). Bake in a 400 degree oven for 10 to 12 minutes. Immediately twist slices around fork to make curls.

No one is predicting a bumper crop, but supplies are expected to be adequate for both the domestic and international market; and "adequate" means lower prices at the retail level for packaged and canned beans, association spokesmen say.

The state's 6,000 bean growers are just putting the finishing touches on the harvest of a 515,000 acre crop this week. Michigan State university extension personnel and industry observers say that the weather pattern during most of the growing season was a bit short of the mark but the harvest season has not been hampered with anything like the weather which raised havoc with last year's crop.

Approximately 90 per cent of the bean acreage in the state was planted to Navy beans this year.

"With any luck at all Michigan farmers will end up with bean crops that will average close to one half ton per acre. This is a production level below the state's capabilities but still enough to bring into play the full effect of the supply/demand curve in favor of the consumer," according to the association.

HARVEST TIME: Michigan farmers near final phase of the 1976 Navy bean harvest. Michigan's 6,000 bean growers are close to ending the harvest of the state's 515,000 acre bean crop. Industry officials predict a shorter bean crop than expected, but supplies have been termed adequate, which should mean lower prices at the retail level for beans this fall and winter.

The spokesmen also say, "You can look for domestic canners to be pushing canned bean sales this fall and winter. They like the Michigan producers, and shippers felt the pinch last season when higher input costs, coupled with a very small crop, pushed retail prices of canned and packaged beans up to the 'no thanks' mark."

A fun to eat, nutritional and quick to prepare Michigan grown product that generates anywhere from 90 to 100 million dollars to the state and nation's economy is definitely on the way back this fall at prices calculated to turn the bean frowns that the moms in this country wore most of last year into smiles once again, association members point out.

Casseroles Are Popular In Today's Households

Casseroles and skillet dinners have become standard menu items in today's busy households. With more and more mothers joining the work force and generally becoming more active outside the home, there is less time being spent in the kitchen and more quick-to-fix meals being served.

Combination main dishes, such as casseroles and skillet dinners, should meet the serving recommendations of the Basic Four Food Groups. Otherwise they should be accompanied by a salad, bread or dessert to make a complete meal.

Suggested next are two one-dish meals that the whole family will enjoy. Serve with milk or dairy desserts for nutritious, well-balanced meals.

SKILLET PORK HAWAIIAN

Makes six servings

One egg, well beaten
Two tablespoons water
One-fourth cup flour
One-fourth teaspoon salt
One-eighth teaspoon pepper
Two and one-half cups cubed cooked pork
Three tablespoons shortening
One can (one-pound four-ounce) pineapple chunks, undrained
One cup concord grape juice
One-fourth cup soy sauce
Two tablespoons vinegar
Two tablespoons cornstarch

One small clove garlic, minced
One-eighth teaspoon ground ginger
Generous dash ground cumin
One pkg. (nine-ounce) frozen pea pods, thawed
One-half cup green onion pieces, cut one-inch length
One medium green pepper, cut into strips
Two cups hot cooked rice
One cup hot Chinese noodles
Combine egg, water, flour, salt and pepper; beat until smooth. Stir in meat; stir until coated. Heat shortening in large skillet. Add meat and brown well on all sides over medium heat. Remove meat and keep warm. Pour off drippings.

Drain pineapple; reserve liquid. In skillet, combine pineapple liquid, concord grape juice, soy sauce, vinegar and cornstarch. Cook, stirring, until thickened and smooth. Blend in garlic, ginger and cumin. Add pea pods, onion and green pepper. Cook and stir until vegetables are almost tender. Add meat and pineapple. Heat through. Combine rice and noodles. Serve meat mixture over rice and noodles.

POTLUCK BEAN RAKE
One (one-pound) can pork and beans, undrained
One (fifteen-ounce) can pinto beans, drained
One (fifteen-ounce) can chili beans, drained
One-half pound frankfurters, diagonally sliced
One (eight-ounce) can tomato sauce with onions
Two tablespoons brown sugar, packed
One tablespoon Worcestershire
One teaspoon prepared mustard
Combine all ingredients in a seven and one-half by twelve by one and one-half inch baking dish. Mix thoroughly. Bake, uncovered, at 375 degrees 30 to 35 minutes. Makes six to eight servings.

Easy Zucchini Sausage Bake is a nutritious meal-in-a-dish. It contains representatives from the dairy, meat, vegetable and fruit and bread groups.

Its hearty flavors of Italian sausage, two kinds of cheese, rice and zucchini are blended well with an herb tomato sauce.

EASY ZUCCHINI SAUSAGE BAKE
One-half pound Italian sausage
One-half cup chopped onion
Three zucchini, cut into one-half-inch slices
One (fifteen-ounce) can tomato herb sauce
Three cups hot cooked rice
One teaspoon seasoned salt
One-half cup shredded mozzarella cheese

One-fourth cup grated Parmesan cheese
Remove sausage from casing; cook with onion in ten-inch skillet until sausage loses redness. Remove and drain on paper towel. Sauté zucchini in skillet drippings until transparent. Cover; cook five minutes or until almost done; reserve.
Combine half the tomato sauce with rice and sausage mixture in seven and one-half by twelve by one and one-half inch baking dish. Add salt; mix well. Arrange slices of zucchini over top. Sprinkle with mozzarella and Parmesan; spoon remaining tomato sauce over all. Bake, covered, at 350 degrees for 20 minutes. Makes four to six servings.

The pasta urge grows stronger throughout the country as all age groups find Italian-oriented dishes to their liking. Even if few make their own pasta at home these days, most are tempted by a variety of linguine, ravioli, manicotti or tortellini dishes.

Starting with store-bought noodles, one can whip up a respectable mock lasagna in about 45 minutes, including the 30 minutes it takes for baking.

Serve this satisfying, hearty dish with a crisp green salad with vinegar and oil dressing, a crisp Italian bread and perhaps ice cream or fresh fruit for dessert.

MOCK LASAGNA
One pound lean ground beef
One tablespoon salad oil
One large onion, chopped
Two jars (about one pound each) spaghetti sauce
Sixteen ounces medium egg noodles (about eight cups)
Two tablespoons salt
Four to six quarts boiling water
One tablespoon butter or margarine
Sixteen ounces creamed cottage cheese
Three slices process American cheese, cut in half diagonally
In large skillet, cook beef in oil until lightly browned, stirring frequently. Add onion and cook two minutes. Stir in spaghetti sauce. Simmer uncovered five minutes. Set aside.
Gradually add noodles and salt to rapidly boiling water so that water continues to boil. Cook uncovered, stirring occasionally, until tender. Drain in colander.

Return noodles to pot and toss with butter. Pour half the meat sauce into a thirteen by nine-inch baking pan; cover with noodles. Pour remaining sauce in center of noodles. Spoon cottage cheese on top.

Cover and bake in 375-degree oven 30 minutes. Uncover. Place American cheese slices over cottage cheese and bake, uncovered, five minutes. Makes eight servings.

POTLUCK BEAN BAKE

A Clean Pot -- A Good Brew

Coffee experts may disagree about which coffee or coffee maker is best. They do agree, however, that the pot must be clean to make a good brew, reports The Soap and Detergent Association.

Other points to consider are the type of appliance, the various brewing methods, the grind of coffee, the amounts of fresh coffee and cold water and the brewing time.

Coffee makers and component parts are made of various materials. Stainless steel and plated copper are available as well as aluminum — polished, buffed, anodized or chrome-plated. Glass, Pyrexeram and plastic are also used. They are either non-electric or electric; the choice depends on personal preference.

There are three types of brewing methods: drip, percolator, vacuum. In the drip method, water is heated to boiling separately and poured into the upper section of the coffee maker containing the coffee ground. Water heated in the bottom rises into an upper chamber where it mixes with the coffee in the vacuum method. Percolators utilize one unit with a basket for the coffee grounds and a hollow stem. Water boils up the stem and through the coffee.

Coffee makers come in many sizes to suit family needs and quantity amounts; from two to three cup capacity to the urn type which may make from 18-60 cups. One manufacturer supplies a small inner basket, designed to brew two to three cups of coffee in a large-capacity coffee maker.

Features to check before selecting any type coffee maker include the following. See that the utensil is well-balanced; be sure handles are heat-resistant; the spout is drip-proof and coffee grounds can be removed easily. The cover on a coffee maker should not tilt forward or fall off when pouring. And, the opening should be large enough for a hand to reach in for cleaning. Cup markings are another desirable feature.

Some convenience features of electric coffee makers are a see-through coffee level gauge; an interval timer which postpones perking for a preset period and a signal light which goes on when the coffee is ready. Some models provide selectors for mild, medium or strong coffee and a handy reheat button. Detachable cords and permanent mesh filters attached to the basket may also be provided.

The newer drip automatics utilize a heat-resistant carafe set on a self-contained warming plate; coffee is brewed by the drip method. This type appliance sometimes heats water for making tea, soups and other instant, too. It is equipped with an on/off switch.

When selecting an urn or party perk, check for a non-drip faucet; room under the spout to place a cup and saucer; a signal light; keep-warm element and detachable cord.

Since a clean coffee maker is essential to good coffee, it is imperative to wash it before using the first time and, thoroughly after each use. Coffee oils and sediment tend to cling to surfaces and, if not washed away, may cause poor flavor and bitterness.

In a non-electric model, take removable parts, such as lid, basket, cover and wash in hot suds and rinses along with the pot. Give narrow spouts, stems and other hard-to-reach places attention with a well-lathered narrow brush.

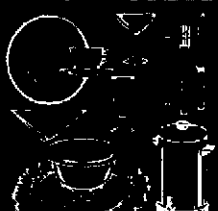

Employ the same method for component parts of an electric coffee maker, but do not immerse the pot itself unless the manufacturer's use and care booklet specifies that it is safe. Some models have removable heating elements so that the body and parts can be immersed or placed in a dishwasher. Otherwise, clean by half filling with a solution of hot water and detergent or soap. Swish clean with a cloth or sponge; rinse thoroughly. Heating bases on the automatic drip-types can be wiped with a sponge. Clean the entire unit and cord occasionally. Be sure all parts are dry before storing coffee makers to prevent a musty odor from developing when the utensil is not in constant use.

Infrequent special treatment may be needed to remove stubborn stains and discoloration from hard water deposits. Generally speaking, a solution of three tablespoons of baking soda to a quart of water may be used to clean all but aluminum coffee makers. Stains on the inside of aluminum pots can be remedied by using a soap-filled steel wool pad or by adding one or two tablespoons cream of tartar to a full perking cycle. Commercial cleaners may also be used on coffee makers. Check manufacturer's instruction booklet for special problems; read package directions on specialty cleaning products.

To make a pot of coffee, the Pan-American Coffee Bureau suggests measuring two level tablespoons of fresh coffee to six ounces of cold water. The amount of time needed depends on the kind of grind used and on what strength of coffee is desired.

For regular or percolator grind, allow six to eight minutes. Drip grind takes from four to six minutes. Fine or vacuum grind calls for one to four minutes. If weaker coffee is preferred, add hot water after coffee has been made full strength. For stronger coffee, extend brewing time, use more coffee or less water.

Your Problems By Ann Landers

He Has Aversion To Funerals

Landers: Just when I have it all together, I wake up with some off-the-beat idea that is totally different from the 17-year-old who version to death, and I wake up. You suggest. A teenager killed by death and is healthier than the one who are attracted to the reckless drive. I'm not for the dead. The living who want or an emotional binge. When I was 17 I told my parents I would not attend their funerals. They were shocked, but I kept my word. Maybe it was precognition, but I was on the other side of the world when they died and I couldn't attend. Bread for the living is more important than ceremonies for the dead. I hope my beloved and bereaved go to Disneyland when I die. I'd prefer that they had a little fun rather than tear themselves apart with grief. It would make me much happier in the next dimension. — J.L. Seagull wrote to express the same point of view. Parts of their letters (and yours) made sense. But most authorities on death say the funeral provides proof that the deceased is gone. Many mourners need this in order to combat the denial mechanisms. Funerals also allow for releasing pent-up emotions. And last but not least — they offer an opportunity to pay last respects.

Loves Lennie

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a 20-year-old college student who will have completed her senior year by June 1977. I will also be getting married to a young man, 23. He has a high-school education.

Lennie works very hard (50-60 hours a week) as a floor clerk in a supermarket. He is very ambitious and would like to get into a better-paying field. Lennie is good with motors and wants to be a mechanic. But several of my friends and relatives have warned me against "marrying below my station." They say I'll be ashamed of him when my vision clears and the stars are no longer in my eyes.

I am very much in love with Lennie and he loves me. I've told everyone who is against Lennie to go to hell. Those snobs are not going to live my life. I'm determined to do what I think is right for me. What do you say? — Brooklyn

Dear Brook: I say you can do what you think is right without telling anyone to go to hell. These days a lot of mechanics make more money than Ph.D.s. Moreover, any kind of honest labor is respectable. The world needs mechanics. When a car breaks down, an anthropologist or a psychologist isn't much help.

Got Him Doing It

Dear Ann Landers: You make me sick. Don't married people know enough ways to aggravate each other without you printing letters suggesting more? I refer to that hard-of-hearing woman whose husband irritated her by moving his lips and not uttering a sound. She thought the battery in her hearing aid was gone and it upset her a lot when she finally caught on.

Now my husband is doing the same to me. You do more harm than good. — Former Reader In San Diego

Dear Former: Hate to lose you, dear. I hope your husband tells you that your letter made the column.

Is alcoholism ruining your life? Know the danger signals and what to do. Read the booklet, "Alcoholism — Hope and Help," by Ann Landers. Enclose 50 cents in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Ill. 60120.

Dr. Lester Coleman

My niece had an emergency telescopic operation. The doctor said it saved her life. I tried to find it in medical books but can't get any information about this. Have you heard of this condition? — Mrs. P.F., Va.

Dear Mrs. F.: The technical name of the condition you describe is known as intussusception. This disorder is relatively rare, but when it occurs, it happens in very young children or infants.

The reason it might have been referred to as the telescope operation is that at surgery the bowel resembles a collapsing telescope. A small portion of the intestine is trapped by this collapsing telescope and causes severe abdominal pain and spasm. In some instances, this telescoping condition can spontaneously clear itself and may never occur again.

At other times, the collapse may cure swollen tissues, cut off the blood circulation, and impair the health of the intestine. In such cases, emergency surgery is necessary as a life-saving procedure.

When the condition is recognized early and treated, complications are avoided and recovery is assured.

I have suddenly discovered a large, hard lump in the roof of my mouth. I can't believe that my doctor was correct when he told me that I had it all my life. It never gave me any pain. It was called to my attention by my dentist when he had to fit a plate into my mouth. I am sure it is a cancer. — Mrs. S.W.J., Tex.

Dear Mrs. J.: I am just as sure that it is not a cancer. The fact that your doctor and your dentist both agree does not seem to be giving you any assurance.

Many people are born with tumors on the roof of their mouth or in the floor of their mouth. It is a birth malformation that has no significance. It is surprising how often people go through their lives without being aware of it.

The bony growth does not enlarge. Most often it is recognized when the dentist has to fit an appliance around it or take a dental impression of that area.

I can assure you that your doctor was correct in insisting that you had this all your life.

It is only on rare occasions that surgery is necessary to remove it.

Mary Hartman's Pal Finally Makes Nashville

By JOE EDWARDS
Associated Press Writer
NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Loretta has finally made it to Nashville.

Mary Kay Place, who plays Loretta Haggard on the "Mary Hartman, Mary Hartman" comedy-soap opera on television, was in Nashville last week for the first time.

Accompanied by Graham Jarvis, who plays her husband

Charlie on the show, Miss Place sang on the Grand Ole Opry, was given a tour of the city and met several celebrities.

On the show, the dream-deluded Loretta and her ambitious husband have been trying to travel to Nashville so she can become a big country music star.

In real life, she's already recorded a country album and now may boast that she's sung on the Grand Ole Opry, visited the Country Music Hall of Fame and had her picture taken in front of a wax figure of Hank Williams Jr.

She bought a book showing the homes of the stars, sang briefly for a man drinking beer at the famed Twisted's Orchid Lounge and was complimented by Minnie Pearl.

"She IS Southern, isn't she?" Miss Pearl said after meeting Miss Place and discovering that Loretta really does have a Southern accent.

"This is the closest I'll ever get to the 'Mary Hartman, Mary Hartman' show," Miss Pearl said. "Minnie Pearl would be a little lost in that atmosphere."

Miss Place's album is entitled "Tonight! At The Capri Lounge." Dolly Parton, Emmylou Harris, Anne Murray and Herb Pederson are supporting vocalists on the album.

Though she has been singing since her days at the University of Tulsa, she is of course best known now as an actress. But she has written scripts for episodes of "Phyllis," "Paper Moon," "Maude," "The Mary Tyler Moore Show" and "M-A-S-H."

One of her first singing parts came when she sang "If Communism Comes Knocking At Your Door, Don't Answer It," on another television show, "All In The Family."

After singing on "Mary Hartman, Mary Hartman," record companies began trying to sign her.

"I knew why people were after me — because I was so well-known from the show," she said. "I didn't want to cash in on my television exposure. I didn't want to do a novelty album."

She finally accepted an offer to record with the understanding the album would be more than a collection of badly sung country songs.

The album includes original material, Miss Parton's hit "All I Could Do" and the sacred song, "Have A Little Talk With Jesus."

ABC Still Tops, But Slipping

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The good news for ABC: The Nielsen again show it No. 1 in ratings for evening shows, again with 11 of its shows among the nation's 20 highest-rated evening programs last week.

The bad news for ABC: Its prime-time average in last week's ratings dropped by more than a ratings point, with its shows seen in 925,600 fewer homes than during the first week of the new season.

Second-place NBC's ratings dropped just slightly, with 71,200 fewer homes watching its shows than in "premiere week," while the weekly rating average for CBS was unchanged from the previous week.

Ironically, last week's top-rated show — "Happy Days" — also accounted for the bulk of the drop in ABC's weekly ratings average, according to A.C. Nielsen Co. audience estimates made public Tuesday.

It was seen in more than 24 million homes. But in the previous week, when it also was the nation's highest-rated show, it was seen in about 700,000 more homes, according to Nielsen estimates.

Last week, with only three series pre-empted, marked the new season's first real test of program strength.

The previous "premiere week" wasn't typical, with eight longer-than-usual series premiering and a nationally televised presidential debate disrupting network program schedules the night of Sept. 23.

SUPPORTS RETURNABLES: Former Oregon Gov. Tom McCall urges Michigan voters to support Proposal A, the bottle ban, at a press conference in Lansing Tuesday at which both he and Gov. William Milliken spoke. (AP Wirephoto)

FORMER OREGON GOVERNOR Visitor Disputes Bottle Ban Critics

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Disputing beverage industry claims, former Oregon Gov. Tom McCall says a ban on throwaway containers in his state created jobs and opened a "great ethic of cleanliness."

McCall said Tuesday a four-year-old ban on throwaways in Oregon has created from 53 to 335 jobs, won the approval of close to 90 per cent of Oregon's 2.2 million residents and stirred them to pick up litter willingly.

"The phus are so numerous and so impressive that it's just a crying shame that you're probably not going to win" in November, McCall said. And well-financed industry opposition to Proposal A, he said, "is probably the most stacked deck you'll ever run into."

"I've never seen such a campaign of such distortion," he said at a joint news conference with Gov. William Milliken.

McCall challenged industry claims in four Michigan cities Tuesday. He was the best political muscle supporters of Proposal A could muster to meet the bottling industry's heavy media offense expected to cost at least $1 million.

Supporters of Proposal A have raised about $6,500, in addition to a $50,000 loan from the Michigan United Conservation Club which is spearheading their drive.

Milliken was the first to sign a petition to put the question on the Nov. 2 ballot. But he refused to criticize Michigan brewers, bottlers and container makers.

Crossing Country

WASHINGTON (AP) — First Lady Betty Ford sets out today on a cross-country trip that takes her to California, Washington, Colorado and upstate New York.

who have launched a campaign against the ballot proposal.

The proposal would require a 10-cent deposit on cans, a 5-cent or 10-cent deposit on bottles and ban flip-top cans.

Milliken called the industry battle, with commercials, billboards and literature, "a very clever, very powerful, very heavily funded campaign." But he would not say opponents were distorting the truth.

"I think industry is clearly on the wrong side as far as the public interest is concerned," Milliken said, the strongest criticism he would make.

Legislation requiring deposits on all pop and liquor containers in Oregon was passed in 1971, and took effect in October 1972. McCall was governor until 1975.

Now, he said, the cost of cleaning up litter in Oregon is 28 cents per capita, compared to 38 cents per capita in next-door Washington State.

McCall admitted that the throwaway ban put one Oregon can maker out of business. But he said several other can makers switched to making glass returnable bottles.

In Lansing, McCall also said he would complain to the Federal Communications Commission about a WXYZ-TV show where the former Oregon governor argued Tuesday in support of Proposal A. McCall claimed the show was "lopsided" because all four people who called to speak on the show opposed Proposal A, including Stroh Brewery Co. executive Peter Stroh.

In a related development, the Michigan Education Association, said it is supporting Proposal A.

Among others supporting the proposal are the League of Women Voters, the Michigan Farm Bureau, the Michigan Council on Alcohol Problems.

Health Chief: Pine River Fish Contain PBB

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Fish taken from the Pine River at St. Louis and downstream contain PBB and should not be eaten, the state health director warned Tuesday. Dr. Maurice Reizen said he was renewing his warning, first issued in 1974, because the water and fish in the Pine River below the Michigan Chemical Corp. plant at St. Louis continue to have detectable levels of the toxic chemical.

Michigan Chemical is the state's only known manufacturer of PBB, which was accidentally mixed with grain and fed to cattle in 1973.

The plant's liquid wastes had been dumped into the river from mid-1971 to November 1974, when the practice was stopped on state orders. Not only is PBB still detectable in the water, but tests of fish collected by the Department of Natural Resources reveal PBB concentrations as high as 1.33 parts per million. Fish taken 29 miles downriver showed .10 parts per million of PBB.

The U.S. Food and Drug Administration has set a standard of 0.3 parts per million in milk, meat and food for PBB, but there is no "acceptable level" set for fish.

Witnesses Testify Against Del Rio

DETROIT (AP) — Witnesses say Judge James Del Rio confronted a policeman in a precinct station lobby and ordered him to return a business license to the operator of a pool room where narcotics allegedly were being sold.

The testimony came Tuesday in the third day of a Michigan Judicial Tenure Commission hearing into 23 charges of misconduct against Del Rio, a Detroit Recorder's Court judge.

Police Sgt. Robert Michalak said he was at a desk in the First Precinct on May 28, 1975 when Del Rio spun him around and demanded the license he returned to Ronald Garrett, who was standing nearby.

Michalak had taken confiscated the license for a pool room from which drugs allegedly were sold and Michalak identified Garrett as the operator of the pool room.

Recorder's Court Judge Geraldine Ford testified Del Rio tried earlier that day to have her transfer the Garrett case from her bench to his. She said she refused.

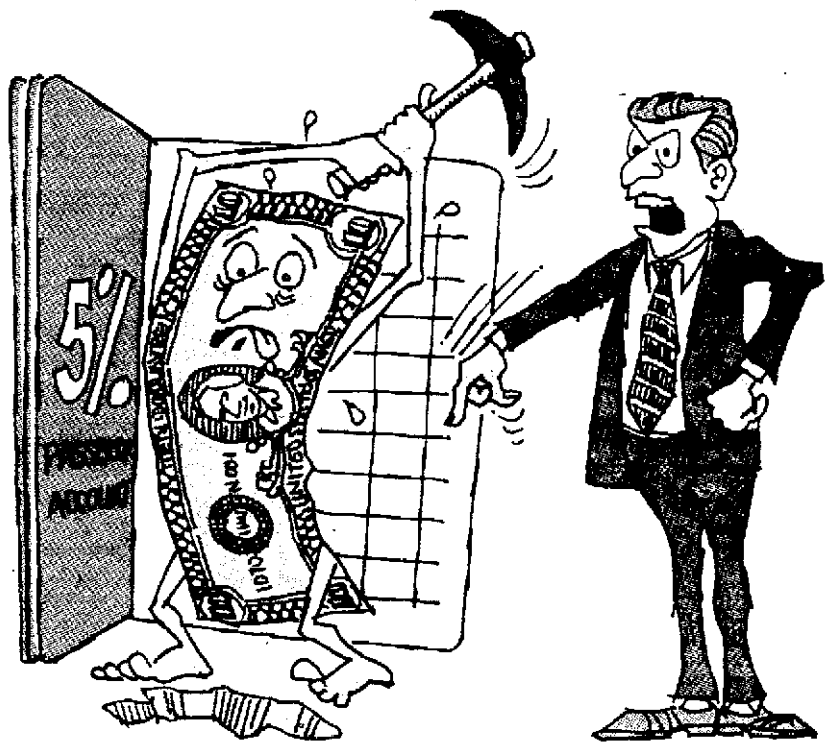

Michalak said when he complained to Del Rio that the judge was pushing and jabbing him, Del Rio threatened to hold him in contempt. Another policeman corroborated Michalak's story.

In other testimony, Ronald J. Smart Jr., a self-employed carpenter, told how Del Rio "held court on him" after Smart's arrest for aggravated assault against a woman Del Rio knew.

Smart said Del Rio held a court session at 2 a.m. or 3 a.m. April 27, 1974 and set a $20,000 surety bond on him that Judge Susan Borman later lowered to $300 in personal bond.

ITS RETURNABLES: Former Oregon Gov. McCall urges Michigan voters to support A, the bottle ban, at a press conference in Tuesday at which both he and Gov. William spoke. (AP Wirephoto)

FORMER OREGON GOVERNOR Visitor Disputes Bottle Ban Critics

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Disputing beverage industry claims, former Oregon Gov. Tom McCall says a ban on throwaway containers in his state created jobs and opened a "great ethic of cleanliness."

McCall said Tuesday a four-year-old ban on throwaways in Oregon has created from 55 to 355 jobs, won the approval of close to 90 per cent of Oregon's 2.2 million residents and stirred them to pick up litter willingly.

"The pluses are so numerous and so impressive that it's just a crying shame that you're probably not going to win" in November, McCall said. And well-financed industry opposition to Proposal A, he said, "is probably the most stacked deck you'll ever run into."

"I've never seen such a campaign of such distortion," he said at a joint news conference with Gov. William Milliken. McCall challenged industry

claims in four Michigan cities Tuesday. He was the best political muscle supporters of Proposal A could muster to meet the bottling industry's heavy media offense expected to cost at least $1 million.

Supporters of Proposal A have raised about $6,500, in addition to a $50,000 loan from the Michigan United Conservation Club which is spearheading their drive.

Milliken was the first to sign a petition to put the question on the Nov. 2 ballot. But he refused to criticize Michigan brewers, bottlers and container makers.

Crossing Country

ASHINGTON (AP) — First Lady Betty Ford sets out today on a cross-country trip that takes her to California, Washington, Colorado and upstate New York.

who have launched a campaign against the ballot proposal.

The proposal would require a 10-cent deposit on cans, a 5-cent or 10-cent deposit on bottles and ban flip-top cans.

Milliken called the industry battle, with commercials, billboards and literature, "a very clever, very powerful, very heavily funded campaign." But he would not say opponents were distorting the truth.

"I think industry is clearly on the wrong side as far as the public interest is concerned," Milliken said, the strongest criticism he would make.

Legislation requiring deposits on all pop and liquor containers in Oregon was passed in 1971, and took effect in October 1972. McCall was governor until 1975.

Now, he said, the cost of cleaning up litter in Oregon is 28 cents per capita, compared to 38 cents per capita in next-door Washington State.

McCall admitted that the

In Lansing, McCall also said he would complain to the Federal Communications Commission about a WXYZ-TV show

where the former Oregon governor argued Tuesday in support of Proposal A. McCall claimed the show was "lopsided" because all four people who called to speak on the show opposed Proposal A, including Stroh Brewery Co. executive Peter Stroh.

In a related development, the Michigan Education Association, said it is supporting Proposal A.

Among others supporting the proposal are the League of Women Voters, the Michigan Farm Bureau, the Michigan Council on Alcohol Problems.

Health Chief: Pine River Fish Contain PBB

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Fish taken from the Pine River at St. Louis and downstream contain PBB and should not be eaten, the state health director warned Tuesday. Dr. Maurice Reizen said he was renewing his warning, first issued in 1974, because the water and fish in the Pine River below the Michigan Chemical Corp. plant at St. Louis continue to have detectable levels of the toxic chemical.

Michigan Chemical is the state's only known manufacturer of PBB, which was accidentally mixed with grain and fed to cattle in 1973.

The plant's liquid wastes had been dumped into the river from mid-1971 to November 1974, when the practice was stopped on state orders. Not only is PBB still detectable in the water, but tests of fish collected by the Department of Natural Resources reveal PBB concentrations as high as 1.33 parts per million. Fish taken 29 miles downriver showed .10 parts per million of PBB.

The U.S. Food and Drug Administration has set a standard of 0.3 parts per million in milk, meat and food for PBB, but there is no "acceptable level" set for fish.

Kepone Fines Should Be Sign, Official Warns

By GEORGE W. WILBUR
Associated Press Writer
RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Fines totaling more than $17 million against two firms and two individuals for dumping the pesticide Kepone into a river "clearly signaled that polluters will be held accountable," says the nation's top environmental officer.

Russell Train, administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency, hailed Tuesday's ruling by U.S. District Judge Robert R. Merhige as a "landmark decision."

Allied Chemical Corp. was fined $13.2 million — the maximum allowable — after the firm pleaded no contest to 940 separate counts of discharging Kepone and other highly toxic chemicals into the James River. It was believed to be the largest fine ever levied for pollution of the nation's waterways.

Before fining Allied, Merhige called pollution "a crime against every citizen," and said, "The word must go out. We are not going to pollute the waters."

Life Science Products Co., which took over Kepone production from Allied in 1974, was fined $3.8 million. Since the firm is now defunct and has no assets, however, there's no way the fine can be paid.

Two former Allied employees who founded Life Science Products, William P. Moore and Virgil Hundtote, were each fined $25,000 and placed on probation for five years. They were also allowed five years to pay the fines.

Life Science Products was closed by the state Health Department in July 1975 after a score of workers developed symptoms of Kepone poisoning. Five months later Kepone contamination of marine life forced Gov. Mills Godwin to impose a fishing ban on the lower James River. There is now a threat that the ban may have to be extended to the Chesapeake Bay, a major source of fish.

Merhige left the door ajar for a reduction of the fine against Allied by saying he would consider after 90 days "what actions have been voluntarily taken (by Allied) to alleviate the horrendous effects that have occurred" as a result of the pollution.

Attorneys for Allied said the fine would not be covered by the company's insurance.

Students Really Digging For Knowledge In U.P.

HOUGHTON, Mich. (AP) — Some 72 students at Michigan Technological University are attending classes 300 feet underground.

They are enrolled in the university's mining department, and their lab and research center are deep in MTU's recently acquired copper mine shaft.

University officials announced this week they had reached agreement with the Quincy Mining Co. over the long-term lease of a 1,800-foot section of subterranean mine shaft in Ripley, a few miles north of Houghton in the Upper Peninsula.

Students and faculty of the mining department are using explosives to enlarge the tunnel to allow entry of large machines used in the study of copper mining. The shaft will serve as a research center for the department, which currently ranks third in the nation with 130 students enrolled.

Mining is nothing new to MTU. The university was founded in 1885 as a mining school. Over the years, as the once-productive Upper Peninsula copper mining industry flagged, the number of mining students dropped and other engineering and scientific departments were added to the curriculum.

University officials say economic changes in recent years have brought an upsurge in mining, and most students in the department are going after degrees in mining engineering.

The underground lab isn't MTU's first venture into on-the-job training. Students enrolled in the university's forestry department do their field work at the MTU-owned Henry Ford Sawmill, near Alberta.

Funds for the mining operation come in part from a bequest by the late Scott Turner, a mining engineer and MTU alumnus.

Kissinger Takes Peace Efforts To Meal Table

By KENNETH J. FREED
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger is carrying his Middle East peace efforts to the meal table as he resumes talks with key Arab and Israeli leaders.

Kissinger's second week of consultations with foreign ministers attending the U.N. General Assembly starts with a breakfast meeting today with Israeli Foreign Minister Yigal Allon.

Kissinger will then have a working lunch in his plush Waldorf-Astoria suite with Saudi Arabian Foreign Minister Prince Saud.

The U.S. secretary planned talks the rest of the day with leaders from Indonesia, Pakistan, Cyprus and The Philippines.

For dinner, Kissinger invited British Foreign Secretary Anthony Crosland to his suite to watch the foreign affairs debate between President Ford and Democratic presidential nominee Jimmy Carter.

In his speech last week to the General Assembly, Kissinger said it was time for quick movement to promote a full settlement in the Middle East.

U.S. officials said the secretary planned to explore the possibility of a meeting between Israel and key Arab states before a full-fledged peace conference at Geneva.

A new Geneva conference is considered unlikely soon because of conflicts over the role to be played by the Palestine Liberation Organization (PLO) and the general question of the Palestinians.

Kissinger hopes to put these problems into the background and deal with the more direct issues between Israel and the Arabs in an informal preliminary setting.

He made a similar approach last year, but Syria rejected the idea. Now, because of improved relations between Israel and Syria and the weakened condition of the PLO because of the fighting in Lebanon, U.S. officials say Kissinger's idea might have a better chance.

Prince Saud plays a crucial role because Saudi Arabia, as a main financial prop to the rest of the Arab world, carries considerable influence.

Kissinger is expected to stay in New York for further consultations until at least Saturday.

The United States is still trying to work out an arrangement with Pakistan to ensure that it does not go through with a deal to buy a French nuclear plant that could provide material to build atomic weapons.

The issue to be discussed with Philippine Foreign Minister Carlos Romulo is the state of negotiations over a new agreement extending U.S. military base rights in the islands.

'Sunshine,' Transit Bills Become Law

By MALCOLM JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer
LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Landmark bills opening the doors to public meetings and financing a Detroit-area public transportation system have been signed into law by the governor.

The open meetings measure will require public agencies — ranging from the legislature to local school boards — to conduct most of their business and discussions before the public. Critics said the bill still allows closed-door sessions in too many cases, but Gov. William Milliken said he was satisfied that the exceptions are reasonable.

The transit bill is designed to attract federal funding for a massive rail-bus system in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties.

Both measures passed the legislature last month after major battles, which, in the case of the open meetings bill, took years before passage was achieved.

"Citizens need to know — in fact they must know — what their government is doing," Milliken said in signing the bill. "This new law helps open government to the bright light of public scrutiny and responds to the public's right to know."

Under the new law, a public body must provide extensive notice of its meetings and provide minutes. Meetings could be closed to the public on a two-thirds vote of the body in special cases.

The special cases are for discipline of an employee or a student; strategy sessions relating to collective bargaining; consideration of purchase of property; or discussion of pending legal matters.

The attorney general or any citizen could sue to challenge the validity of any decision made illegally in a closed-door session. The court could invalidate any illegal decision.

The law also contains misdemeanor penalties for intentional violation of the act. Maximum penalties would be $1,000 for the first offense and one year in jail and $2,000 for the second offense.

The transportation measure increases license plate fees and the fee for auto title transfers in the three-county area. That is expected to raise some $12 million in local money. The state is slated to kick in $25 million to attract $600 million to $900 in federal funds.

License plate fees will rise $2.50, while title transfer fees will go up $6. The new taxes are effective next April 15.

"This law is the key ingredient which will enable Southeast Michigan to qualify for hundreds of millions of dollars in federal funds to finance a total transportation system for the area," Milliken said.

The new law restructures the Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority (SEMTA). The board will be expanded from nine to 15 members. Five will come from Detroit, three from elsewhere in Wayne County, three from Oakland County, two from Macomb County and two others will represent the counties of Washtenaw, Monroe, Livingston and St. Clair.

Convict Escapes, Goes On Welfare Rolls

DETROIT (AP) — A convicted burglar applied for and received welfare payments just two weeks after his escape from a Michigan prison this summer.

State Police said they arrested 38-year-old George Harris Sunday night as he stood outside a Macomb County appliance store with burglary tools in hand.

Harris was carrying documents indicating that the Department of Social Services had been paying rent for the Detroit apartment where he has been living since his escape. Officers said he also admitted receiving other welfare assistance.

Detective Paul Barrett of the New Baltimore State Police post said Harris escaped May 16 from the Southeastern Michigan Prison parole camp in Jackson, where he was serving terms of 4½ to 10 years for burglaries in Wayne County and in Midland.

Harris used a fake Social Security card in early June to apply for welfare assistance under the name Theodore Jones, Barrett said.

Harris pleaded innocent at his arraignment Monday on charges of attempted breaking and entering and possession of burglary tools.

So everyone has the chance to save, we must reserve the right to limit quantities.

His Pot Plant Now Immune From Police

By JOHN STOWELL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bob Randall's pot plant was once seized by police, but he now has a legitimate supply — thanks to federal approval of a new study of marijuana use in treating glaucoma.

The 28-year-old Randall was away from his home here last summer when police found his illegal marijuana plant sunning on a balcony. Seizure of the plant was of more than legal interest for Randall. He suffers from glaucoma, a progressive eye disease that has destroyed 50 per cent of his vision. No medication helps relieve his pain, except marijuana.

In a burst of speed unusual in the federal government, the Food and Drug Administration, the Drug Enforcement Administration and the National Institute on Drug Abuse cooperated to, in effect, get a new and legitimate supply for Randall.

The FDA said Tuesday it has approved a plan by Dr. John C. Merritt of Howard University Medical School to use marijuana to treat severe glaucoma cases. Randall will be among about 50 test subjects. The FDA, anxious to avoid the appearance of giving unusual attention to the Randall case, said the Merritt study is the 16th new drug approval involving marijuana. But the agency's action, the spokesman said, "was among the more rapid approvals."

Merritt received permission to test whether use of THC, the primary psychoactive ingredient in marijuana, reduces painful internal eye pressure caused by glaucoma. The disease, which destroys the optic nerve, is one of the leading causes of blindness. The test subjects will receive cigarettes of prime marijuana grown on a federal farm in Mississippi or, if they're not experienced in smoking marijuana, capsules of synthetic THC.

notice of its meetings and provide minutes. Meetings could be closed to the public on a two-thirds vote of the body in special cases.

The special cases are for discipline of an employee or a student; strategy sessions relating to collective bargaining; consideration of purchase of property; or discussion of pending legal matters.

The attorney general or any citizen could sue to challenge the validity of any decision made illegally in a closed-door validate any illegal decision.

The law also contains mis-deemeanor penalties for intentional violation of the act.
Maximum penalties would be $1,000 for the first offense and one year in jail and $2,000 for the second offense.

The transportation measure increases license plate fees and the fee for auto title transfers in the three-county area. That is expected to raise some $12 million in local money. The state is slated to kick in $25 million to attract $600 million to $900 in federal funds.

License plate fees will rise
$2.50, while title transfer fees will go up $6. The new taxes are effective next April 15.

said.

will come from Detroit, three from elsewhere in Wayne

County, two from Macomb

DETROIT (AP) — A convicted burglar applied for and received welfare payments just two weeks after his escape from a Michigan prison this summer.

State Police said they arrested 38-year-old George Harris Sunday night as he stood outside a Macomb County appliance store with burglary tools in hand.

Harris was carrying documents indicating that the Department of Social Services had been paying rent for the Detroit apartment where he has been living since his escape. Officers said he also admitted receiving other welfare assistance.

Detective Paul Barrett of the New Baltimore State Police post said Harris escaped May 16 from the Southeastern Michigan Prison parole camp in Jackson, where he was serving terms of 4½ to 10 years for burglaries in Wayne County and in Midland.

Harris used a fake Social Security card in early June to apply for welfare assistance under the name Theodore Jones, Barrett said.

Harris pleaded innocent at his arraignment Monday on charges of attempted breaking and entering and possession of burglary tools.

Romney Labels Riegle 'Unstable Prima Donna'

D WOUTAT Press Writer (AP) — U.S. Sen. Donald Riegle and his election "magic," former George Romney say while campaigning in Michigan.

arges came on a paign swing to gling candidacy ailed Riegle in a per poll by 15 ts.

gle are running ing vacated by n. Philip Hart,

Riegle, campaigning in Pontiac, dismissed Romney's charges as a desperate campaign tactic and said, "George ought to be ashamed of himself."

"The Republicans are feeling sort of desperate these days...They've been resorting to a lot of mud-slinging," Riegle said. "The attack today was very much in keeping with the tone of the Esch campaign. I'm not going to get down in the gutter with them."

He speculated that Romney is still "bent out of shape" over Riegle's criticisms of the Nixon administration when Romney was part of it.

At a Romney-Esch press conference at the Lansing airport, the third stop on their tour, the former secretary of Housing and Urban Development brought up Riegle's 1972 divorce and recent disclosures of an income-tax rebate flap with his ex-wife as evidence of Riegle's "instability."

"He can't get along with his own wife," Romney said, apparently referring to Riegle's first wife. The congressman has since remarried.

Riegle's marital problems, his 1973 switch from the Republican to the Democratic party and what Romney called Riegle's changing stand on issues all bring his stability into question, the former governor said.

Tuesday, Romney said a rating of senators and congressmen by newspaper columnist Jack Anderson labeled Riegle "one of the 20 worst representatives" in Congress while giving high marks to the retiring Senator Hart.

"It would be tragic to replace one of the best men in the U.S. Senate with one of the worst men in the U.S. Congress," Romney said.

Commenting on his 1966 support of then-Republican Riegle, Romney said, "Many go into politics with a bright future and come out with disappointing pasts."

PAW PAW — A Kalamazoo woman who was charged with manslaughter in connection with the 1975 stabbing death of another woman was resented yesterday in Van Buren circuit court to a term of from four to 15 years in prison.

Judge Meyer Warshawsky imposed the sentence on Marilyn Cook, 19, who pleaded no contest to the charge on July 8, 1975. Miss Cook had originally been sentenced by Judge David Anderson, Jr. to serve from five to 15 years in prison.

The new sentence was imposed because Judge Warshawsky recently granted a motion by Miss Cook's attorney, Harold Schuitmaker, asking that the old sentence be set aside.

Prosecutor Ward Hamlin, Jr. said the motion was based essentially on the premise that testimony by another defendant in the case during his trial put a new perspective on Miss Cook's role in the stabbing which merited consideration of a lighter sentence.

The testimony was given by Carle Cordell Vaughn, 21, Kalamazoo, who was convicted of first degree murder in connection with the March 7, 1975 stabbing death of Sarah Towne, 28, Kalamazoo. Vaughn's jury occurred after Miss Cook had already been sentenced.

During the trial, the prosecution alleged that Vaughn committed the actual stabbing, and that Miss Cook was at the murder scene near Lawton.

Judge Warshawsky, in imposing the new sentence, gave Miss Cook credit for 507 days already served in the Detroit House of Correction. He noted that while she had had an excellent record at the facility, she was still a participant in the taking of a human life.

In other cases, Maria Chandler, 42, South Haven, was sentenced to 286 days in jail, with as many days credit, fined $150, and placed on two years probation on charges of delivery of heroin and possession of heroin.

Mrs. Chandler had pleaded guilty to the charges last March 15, but sentencing was delayed so that she could enter a Lansing drug rehabilitation center.

Judge Warshawsky said it appeared Mrs. Chandler had straightened out most of her problems, and made it a condition of probation that she attend the treatment center for another 30 days.

Ronald Halsey, 30, Kalamazoo, was sentenced to serve from one to two years in prison as a result of his guilty plea to a charge of issuing a no account check for $43 Aug. 16 in Pine Grove township.

Johnnie Kennedy, 26, route 3, Bangor, was sentenced to serve 200 days in jail, with 190 days credit, fined $150, and placed on two years probation as the result of his no contest plea to a charge of breaking and entering a motor vehicle in Paw Paw on March 30.

Desi Arnaz Hall, 20, route 1, Covert, pleaded innocent to a charge of breaking and entering a South Haven cottage on July 23.

Douglas Fox, 34, and Larry McNew, 25, both of Coloma, pleaded innocent to charges of resisting arrest by Covert township police on July 17. Harold Dickson, 20, and Peggy Tucker, 18, both of South Haven, pleaded guilty to charges of attempted larceny in a building in connection with the alleged theft of a television set from a South Haven home July 6.

Harold T. Shaw, 50, Lawrence, Mass., pleaded guilty to a charge of uttering and publishing a forged check for $184 at M&M Foods Lawrence, on Sept. 16.

Trick Or Treat Out Of Favor In Watervliet

WATERVLIET — The Watervliet city commission last night voted not to sanction Halloween trick or treat hours this year and instead urged city youngsters to attend a planned Halloween party.

The commission acted unanimously on the issue to avoid problems which have marred the trick or treating during recent years. It urged youngsters to attend a Halloween party being sponsored by the Young Womens Social League, slated Sunday, Oct. 31, from 6 to 8 p.m. at the Watervliet junior high. The party is for pre-school to fifth grade age youngsters.

In other areas, the commission set Tuesday, Oct. 19 at 7 p.m. as the date for a special commission meeting.

During the meeting, the commission will hold a public hearing on a request from the Paw Paw Lake Area Cable TV Co. to raise monthly rates for users from $5.95 to $7.50. The firm has reported the boost is needed to offset increased operating costs.

Craig McCrystal, regional manager for the firm, was present to review the request. The firm serves Watervliet and Coloma townships and Coloma city in addition to Watervliet. Watervliet township has already approved the rate boost while the other two municipalities are considering it.

Commissioner Albert Steffens outlined plans to extend city water lines 200 feet along a city right-of-way and install a fire hydrant to serve approximately five lots on Baldwin avenue. The cost would be paid by the city.

In return, the owner of the lots, identified as Fred Williams, will grant the city a permanent utility right-of-way easement at the back of all five lots.

According to Steffens, the decision on whether to undertake the work will be made during the special meeting Oct. 19.

The commission granted approval to Watervliet Jaycees to use Hayes field for the organization's annual July 4 celebration next year. Terry Richerick, representing Jaycees, said plans call for allowing other community organizations to join in the celebration next year.

The commission referred to the city attorney for clarification of an ordinance on keeping animals in the city limits.

Complaints against residents keeping rabbits and chickens in large numbers has resulted in the need to determine if the animals are considered livestock, which is not permitted in the city limits, officials said.

The commission approved putting all city elected officials' names on plaques to be installed on the new Butternut street bridge and water tower.

Two Head For Trial In Van Buren

PAW PAW — Donald Pasley, 17, route 2, Watervliet, was bound over to Van Buren circuit court Tuesday after waiving Seventh district court preliminary examination on two counts of breaking and entering.

Hartford police said the charges stem from alleged break-ins Sept. 13 at the Robert Rowe residence, 433 Clark street, and the home of Donald Gibbs, 107 North Center, Hartford.

In another case, Fred Lebeda, 20, 56th street, Lawrence, was bound over to circuit court following preliminary examination on a charge of breaking and entering a barn on 60th avenue, Lawrence township, on Sept. 19.

to the street committee for action.

Bill Perkins, in charge of the Watervliet post office, said several complaints have been received about the current location of the mailboxes.

The commission granted approval to the Garden Club of Watervliet to plant three trees on the east side of Main street, south of Butternut street, in honor of the club's former members. A similar request from Commissioner William Loshbough to plant a tree by city hall in memory of his late wife was also approved.

A city resident, Harvey Harper, complained to the commission about speeders along Harper avenue. The matter was referred to the safety committee.

AUGUST DECISION RESCINDED

Cass Board Won't Buy Land

CASSOPOLIS — The Cass county board of commissioners yesterday rescinded an August vote to buy land across from the courthouse from a Cassopolis attorney.

Several board members said they objected to a demand by Atty. Glenn Squires that he be given first opportunity to buy the land on Broadway street back from the county should the county decide to sell it.

In August, the board voted to buy the land big enough for 48 parking spaces for $20,000 plus paying $346 in 1975 and 1976 taxes.

In other areas, a $15,500 contract for designing a 143-car parking lot adjacent to the courthouse went to Snell Environmental of Lansing which had been paid a preliminary $1,500 to suggest ways to solve a drainage problem and make the land useful. The firm's plans will now be the basis for construction bids. The lot will cost an estimated $117,000 to build.

The board accepted the low interest bid of 3.48 per cent from the Michigan National Bank of Detroit on $225,000 bonds the board did not really want to sell.

The bonds were part of a $2,575,000 bond issue for a new 76-bed medical care facility approved by voters in 1974.

The board sold $2,350,000 of the issue in mid-1975, but had not acted on the $225,000, because the county had already collected a similar amount from a property tax levied to pay off the issue. The levy was imposed in 1974 and is to run for eight years to pay off the debt.

Claire Hulett from the state auditor's office was at the county board meeting yesterday, and told the board that what it advertised on the ballot as a bond issue must ultimately be sold as bonds.

Commissioner Robert Powers of Marcellus, chairman of the special medical facility building committee, said the county had not sold the $225,000 in an attempt to save county taxpayers money.

He said the $225,000 in bonds the county was forced to sell yesterday will cost $3,920 in net interest and the total cost will probably be nearer $5,000 once bond printing costs are computed.

The $2,350,000 in bonds sold in June, 1975, at 5.31 per cent, will cost the county another $523,668 in interest over the eight-year period of the bond issue, he added.

The board again approved seeking an itemized bill from Borgess hospital, Kalamazoo, on a $24,769 bill for services to a prisoner treated by the hospital in 1974.

In March, the board voted to pay the bill, but has withheld payment pending receipt of an itemization.

The bill was to cover costs of treating Dirk Skatvold, Elkhardt, Ind., from July 29, 1974 to Oct. 20, 1974, when he died from a brain tumor. The man was in custody of the county sheriff's department when his hospitalized.

Galien Township Firemen Plan Millage Drive

GALIEN — The Galien township board was told last night that volunteer firemen will be campaigning door to door for passage of a one-mill property tax levy proposal to be decided in the Nov. 2 general election. "They're going to have to do some leg work if they're going to get it passed," said Supervisor Frank James.

Revenue from the additional mill is being sought to finance the purchase of new fire trucks and equipment.

If approved, the additional mill would raise about $7,300 a year. It would run five years, from 1977 to 1981.

The township is already levying one mill for fire protection. That levy will expire in 1978, James said.

James said that in recent years the fire department has been continuously operating in a deficit because of equipment purchases.

In September, the township board approved putting the additional one-mill proposal before township voters.

BH Man Innocent

A Benton Harbor man was found innocent of a larceny in a building charge yesterday following an all-day trial in the courtroom of Berrien Circuit Court Judge Chester J. Byrns.

Found innocent was Stan Willis, 18, of 820 Pipestone, charged with larceny of a purse, cash and other items from Calvin Britain elementary school, Benton Harbor.

Willis, defended by Atty. Stanley White, claimed he was not present during the alleged theft Feb. 20. The jury deliberated about one hour before reaching its verdict.

Asst. Prosecutor Thomas Gezon presented the state's case.

minutes to answer. The questioner then can ask a follow-up query which the candidate has two minutes to answer. The other candidate then gets two minutes to comment.

Karayn said the panel has been asked to keep follow-up questions "on the same point as the original question."

A different panel and moderator are chosen for each debate. The moderator tonight will be Pauline Federick, inter-

The Benton township board of trustees last night agreed to separate 4 to 2 votes to apply for a federal grant under the public works act and to assign contract preparation to Perkins, Rogers & Associates, a Detroit consulting firm.

Supporting the proposal were Supervisor Martin J. Lane, Clerk Cathryn Sirk, and Trustees Margaret Crisbal and Ken Malkin. Opposed were Trustees Walter Slowik and Chester Jullay.

The board at its meeting Sept. 21 rejected the same proposal by a 3 to 3 tie. Mrs. Sirk, who favored the proposal was absent from that meeting, and Treasurer Joseph Postelli who opposed it was absent last night.

Details of the application for part of some $2 billion in funds expected to be available nationwide were reported from the Sept. 21 meeting. The amount of the grant to be sought by the township hasn't been determined.

Judd Spray, township Community Development program director, said the use of such federal funds hasn't been determined either. He cited as possibilities the construction of a proposed Ox Creek sewer interceptor through the township, and a proposed public safety building for the township.

Spray said the funds are to be available under the federal

Public Works Employment Act, aimed at bolstering employment on varied public works projects. Spray made the request for the grant at both meetings.

Edward Cytacki, manager of Belco discount store, M-139 at Napier avenue, and Joseph Giannola, manager of Fairplain plaza shopping center, asked the board for help in curbing problems they said have been caused by crowds of youths driving and congregating in store parking lots.

The board instructed township Atty. Thomas N. Robinson Jr., to make recommendations. Robinson said the recommendations could be for the adoption of the uniform state motor vehicle code for the township, and/or the adoption of a township-wide ordinance giving police broader powers in issuing traffic tickets on the private store lots.

Robinson said the township in 1970 adopted the latter or-inance which gives police broad powers, but only in the Fairplain plaza lot. This was because of the size of the lot, some 11 acres, Robinson said.

Giannola said the ordinance hasn't been enforced by police vigorously enough, but he didn't blame police because of the large number of other complaints answered by police in the township. Giannola said more police may be needed on the force. Giannola said last month he met with representatives of some 30 youths and told them they wouldn't be bothered in their congregating on a hill area south of the plaza, but owned by the plaza. This area is undeveloped.

Cytacki said problems with youths driving aimlessly and littering the Belco lot had diminished recently until last Sunday when the lot was found strewn with bottles and broken glass.

The board also voted to accept recommendations by the township planning commission in approving the combination of several lots for Calvary Lighthouse Bible church, 3300 Territorial road; and in denying a used car license at 2090 Red Arrow highway sought by Delbert Bickers.

Crashes In Area Hurt 10

Ten people sustained injuries in three highway crashes in St. Joseph and in Berrien and Bainbridge townships Tuesday.

St. Joseph police said five people were injured, none seriously, in a two-car collision Tuesday about 7 p.m. at the intersection of Hilltop road and Lake Shore drive.

Three of the injured were passengers in a car driven by Ronald K. Russell, 28, of 4862 Michigan avenue, Stevensville, who was uninjured. They were identified as Betty Wainscott, 46, Nancy Russell, 25, and Mary Wainscott, 16, all of 4862 Michigan. Also injured were the driver of the other auto, Mary Ellen Scales, 40, and her passenger Sharon Scales, 15, both of 435 Yellow Creek drive, Royaltown township. All of the injured were released after treatment at Memorial hospital, St. Joseph.

Police reported no tickets were issued because of conflicting statements about the collision.

One driver was hospitalized and another received apparently minor injuries in a head-on collision between a car and truck in Berrien township, Berrien sheriff's deputies said.

Listed in "satisfactory" condition today at Pawling hospital, Niles, was Max Clifford Marzig, 25, of 230 Meadow lane, Berrien Springs. He suffered a broken jaw and cuts, deputies reported. The driver of the truck, Jimmie L. Hiner, 18, of 776 Bluffview, Berrien Springs, was released after treatment for cuts and bruises at Berrien General hospital, Berrien Center.

Deputies said the collision occurred on US-31 near Mechanic street about 2:35 p.m. and reported Marzig was ticketed for violation of the basic speed law, speed too fast for conditions. Deputies reported the wet pavement was extremely slippery.

Three drivers got apparently minor injuries in a three-vehicle, chain reaction collision on Napier avenue near M-140, Bainbridge township, state police of the Benton Harbor post said.

One driver, Helen Kathleen Getz, 46, of 8727 East Napier avenue, Bainbridge township, was released after treatment at Memorial hospital, St. Joseph. The other two, Gregory Phillip Green, 23, route 6, Oak street, and Clifford Floyd Hauch, 58, route 5, Swisher street, both of Dowagiac, sought their own treatment. Troopers said Green was ticketed after the 3:40 p.m. collision, charged with failure to stop in an assured, clear distance.

OFF TO JAIL: Unidentified man is led to police van for transportation to jail after being arrested Monday night in crackdown on a burglary ring in Atlanta, Ga. Arrest came after a massive undercover operation which bought $100,000 worth of stolen goods from "fences." Officials said some 260 people would be arrested in connection with the operation. California Tightens Truck Smog Rules

FRESNO, Calif. (AP) — Stricter anti-smog regulations are on the road for California's heavy duty trucks and buses.

The California Air Resources Board adopted the regulations Tuesday after testimony from representatives of most of the country's heavy duty vehicle makers.

The regulations are to cover both gasoline and diesel engines of vehicles over 8,000 pounds gross weight, except certain limousines.

The maximum allowable hydrocarbon emission for the 1979 model year was set at 1.5 grams per brake horsepower hour, dropping progressively to 0.5 gram in the 1983 model year.

The maximum of hydrocarbons and oxides of nitrogen combined was set at 5 grams per brake horsepower hour for 1979 models, dropping to 4.5 grams for 1983 models.

Also adopted were test procedures similar to those of the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency.

Heavy duty vehicles have been under anti-smog regulations since 1969, but board said the standards haven't grown so progressively stringent as those for passenger cars.

By the 1977 model year, trucks and buses will be 7 to 14 times dirtier than cars, said Mary Nichols, vice chairman.

provide protection to officials and facilities of all foreign embassies, consulates and international organizations.

The unrest began after Field Marshal Thanom, whose military regime was ousted after widespread student rioting in 1973, returned from exile on Sept. 19 and was ordained as a Buddhist monk. He was staying in a Bangkok monastery. He said he wanted to be close to his ailing 91-year-old father.

The demonstrators at government house, from various right-wing organizations, called for the ouster of three cabinet ministers whom they labeled "Communists."

Police said most of those killed in the fighting were students.

Right-wing groups that earlier fought a gun battle with the Thammasat University students were seen moving in behind the phalanx of police, beating and kicking students as they were being herded to police vehicles or ambulances.

Associated Press photographer Chee Sae Chu saw a mob drag four students from the university gates through nearby streets, beating them, soaking their bodies with gasoline and setting them afire. Strips of automobile tire were used to feed the flames. Chee said he could not determine whether the students were dead or alive before they were burned.

The body of another victim lay headless on the campus grounds, and the rightists hanged two students, then set upon their bodies with sticks, gouged out their eyes and cut their throats.

The police made only half-hearted efforts to stop the violence and in some cases were helped by the right-wing groups in making arrests.

Labor groups say they will go on strike Monday if Thanom has not left Thailand. Military forces in Bangkok have gone on alert, but a senior officer said the military would not try to seize power.

Seni faces a vote of confidence in parliament Friday, and he told reporters today he was not certain he could win it.

Black Aide Rates Butz 'Nice Guy'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The only black in the policy-making hierarchy of the Agriculture Department defended Earl L. Butz, saying the resigned agriculture secretary "doesn't have a racist bone in his body."

Butz resigned Monday after almost five years in the Cabinet post because of the controversy surrounding an obscene racial slur he made against blacks.

Butz said his resignation was "the price I pay for a gross indiscretion."

James E. Bostic Jr., 29, deputy assistant secretary for rural development, said Tuesday that as a Southern black "I know my racists ... and Earl Butz is no racist. ... He was just one of the nicest men I ever met."

The body of another victim lay headless on the campus grounds, and the rightists hanged two students, then set upon their bodies with sticks, gouged out their eyes and cut their throats.

3,635 Freeway Arrests

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan state troopers made 3,635 arrests on Detroit area freeways in September, and police activity will increase in coming weeks, Col. George L. Halverson said. The troopers were ordered on the city freeway system Aug. 26 by Gov. William G. Milliken to combat rising crime. Twenty-four hour patrol is being provided by 100 officers. The September arrests included 2,765 traffic citations and 870 criminal arrests, Halverson said. Troopers also assisted more than 3,400 motorists and investigated about the same number of vehicles. From Sept. 28 through Monday, police averaged 125 arrests a day.

Judge Rules Against New Chief

DETROIT (AP) — A Wayne County circuit court judge has ruled that recently-appointed Fire Chief Donald Robinson — the first black ever to hold the position — was unfairly promoted. Judge Peter Spivak made the ruling on a suit brought by the Detroit Fire Fighters Union. An order is expected from the court forcing Robinson to step down from the post pending an unfair labor practice hearing by the Michigan Employment Security Commission. Judge Spivak ruled Robinson's appointment violated city charter and department requirements that a candidate for chief be picked from the department's fire-fighting division and have at least 25 years experience. Robinson, 44, is in his 20th year with the department. Only eight of those years were served in the fire-fighting division. He was named chief of the 1,800-member department last month by Mayor Coleman Young and the Fire Commission.

DEBATE SCORECARD: Graphic outlines criteria that will be used by forensic professors in judging outcome of second debate between President Gerald Ford and Jimmy Carter in San Francisco tonight. (AP Wirephoto)

You Can Score Debaters, Too

WASHINGTON (AP) — You can again keep your own score in tonight's foreign policy debate between President Ford and Jimmy Carter. And you'll have a chance to compare your judgment with the opinions of the experts.

Five prominent university debate coaches again will judge the debate for The Associated Press, using a scorecard adapted from the one used by the American Forensic Association in student competition. You can judge the performance of the candidates for yourself using the accompanying scorecard. You can then compare your results with the experts' scoring, which will be published in Thursday's edition.

You and the experts will use a point system to evaluate Ford and Carter on each of six aspects of their performance. The six aspects include presentation, or the candidate's style; evidence, or how well a candidate documents his positions; reasoning; analysis; refutation, or his skills in rebuttal; and organization. In each category, a candidate gets a score ranging from one point for a poor performance to five points for a superior job.

The scorecard was prepared by James J. Unger, director of forensics at Georgetown University in Washington. Unger, whose debate teams have reached the final round of every national debate tournament, is a graduate of Harvard Law School and will be one of the five AP panelists.

The other panelists are: Dr. Barbara O'Connor, chairman of the Department of Communications Studies at California State University, Sacramento. She directs one of the country's largest speech programs. Dr. Donn Parson, forensics director at the University of Kansas. His team won the national intercollegiate debate championship in April.

William Southworth, forensics director at the University of Redlands in Redlands, Calif. His teams have the most successful record in the Far West. And Melissa Maxey Wade, forensics director at Emory University, Atlanta. She is director of the largest debate tournament in the South.

In the first Ford-Carter debate, the panelists concluded the encounter had been very close, with four of the five panelists giving Ford a slight edge, while the fifth judge said Carter had a slight advantage.

Benton Votes To Seek Public Works Grant

The Benton township board of trustees last night agreed in separate 4 to 2 votes to apply for a federal grant under the public works act and to assign contract preparation to Parkins, Rogers & Associates, a Detroit consulting firm.

Crashes In Area Hurt 10

Ten people sustained injuries in three highway crashes in St. Joseph and in Berrien and Bainbridge townships Tuesday.

St. Joseph police said five people were injured, none seriously, in a two-car collision Tuesday about 7 p.m. at the intersection of Hilltop road and Lake Shore drive.

Three of the injured were passengers in a car driven by Ronald K. Russell, 28, of 4862 Michigan avenue, Stevensville, who was unhurt. They were identified as Betty Wainscott, 46, Nancy Russell, 25, and Mary Wainscott, 16, all of 4862 Michigan. Also injured were the driver of the other auto, Mary Ellen Scales, 40, and her passenger Sharon Scales, 15, both of 435 Yellow Creek drive, Royalton township. All of the injured were released after treatment at Memorial hospital, St. Joseph.

Police reported no tickets were issued because of conflicting statements about the collision.

One driver was hospitalized and another received apparently minor injuries in a head-on collision between a car and truck in Berrien township, Berrien sheriff's deputies said.

the protection to officials of all foreign embassies, consulates and international organizations.

Unrest began after Field Marshal Thanom, whose military regime was ousted after a student rioting in Thailand returned from exile on 9 and was ordained as a monk. He was staying at a Bangkok monastery. He wanted to be close to his 11-year-old father.

Monstrators at government house, from various right-wing organizations, called for the ouster of three cabinet ministers whom they labeled "Communists."

Police said most of those killed in the fighting were students.

Right-wing groups that earlier fought a gun battle with the Thammasat University students were seen moving in behind the phalanx of police, beating and kicking students as they were being herded to police vehicles or ambulances.

Associated Press photographer Chee Sae Chu saw a mob drag four students from the university gates through nearby streets, beating them, soaking their bodies with gasoline and setting them afire. Strips of automobile tire were used to feed the flames. Chee said he could not determine whether the students were dead or alive before they were burned.

The body of another victim lay headless on the campus grounds, and the rightists hanged two students, then set upon their bodies with sticks, gouged out their eyes and cut their throats.

The police made only halfhearted efforts to stop the violence and in some cases were helped by the right-wing groups in making arrests.

Labor groups say they will go on strike Monday if Thanom has not left Thailand. Military forces in Bangkok have gone on alert, but a senior officer said the military would not try to seize power.

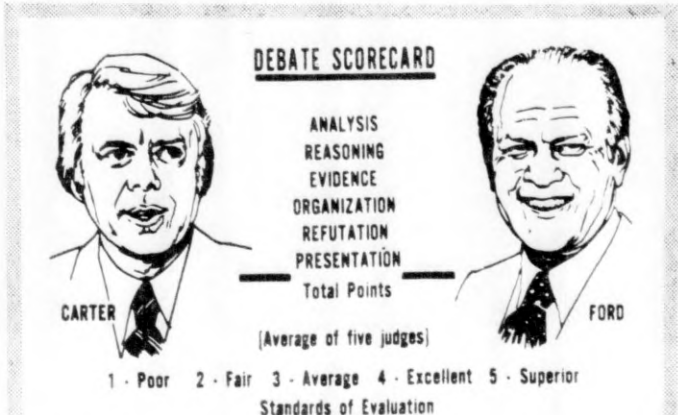

Seni faces a vote of confidence in parliament Friday, and he told reporters today he was not certain he could win it.

You Can Score Debaters, Too

WASHINGTON (AP) — You can again keep your own score in tonight's foreign policy debate between President Ford and Jimmy Carter. And you'll have a chance to compare your judgment with the opinions of the experts.

Five prominent university debate coaches again will judge the debate for The Associated Press, using a scorecard adapted from the one used by the American Forensic Association in student competition. You can judge the performance of the candidates for yourself using the accompanying scorecard. You can then compare your results with the experts' scoring, which will be published in Thursday's edition.

You and the experts will use a point system to evaluate Ford and Carter on each of six aspects of their performance. The six aspects include presentation, or the candidate's style; evidence, or how well a candidate documents his positions; reasoning; analysis; refutation, or his skills in rebuttal; and organization. In each category, a candidate gets a score ranging from one point for a poor performance to five points for a superior job.

The scorecard was prepared by James J. Unger, director of forensics at Georgetown University in Washington. Unger, whose debate teams have reached the final round of every national debate tournament, is a graduate of Harvard Law School and will be one of the five AP panelists.

The other panelists are: Dr. Barbara O'Connor, chairman of the Department of Communications Studies at California State University, Sacramento. She directs one of the country's largest speech programs. Dr. Donn Parson, forensics director at the University of Kansas. His team won the national intercollegiate debate championship in April.

William Southworth, forensics director at the University of Redlands in Redlands, Calif. His teams have the most successful record in the Far West. And Melissa Maxcy Wade, forensics director at Emory University, Atlanta. She is director of the largest debate tournament in the South.

In the first Ford-Carter debate, the panelists concluded the encounter had been very close, with four of the five panelists giving Ford a slight edge, while the fifth judge said Carter had a slight advantage.

dent-minded skilled tradesmen, who rejected the last settlement but were overruled by union executives, who declared the pact ratified.

As a concession to the tradesmen, the new pact is said to contain a special extra wage boost for them, starting at 25 cents an hour depending on the classification.

An end to the walkout and resumption of normal production also could be held up by unresolved disputes over new local working agreements.

Only 37 of 99 Ford bargaining units have reached accord on new local agreements and company officials conceded Tuesday the walkout likely will not end until the remaining disputes are resolved.

Once the pact is ratified, the union will seek similar accords for another 530,000 workers at General Motors, Chrysler and American Motors.

Ford's top bargainer, vice president Sidney F. McKenna, said after the union announced the settlement he was "hopeful that we will be back at work at most plants by the early part of next week, but that, at this point, is only a hope."

The agreement came after five consecutive days of intensive bargaining at Ford world headquarters in suburban Dearborn. The major economic provisions apparently had been fitted into place by early Monday, but unexpected snags involving a number of non-economic issues delayed completion of the settlement.

It has been reported the new package would raise Ford's total labor costs by about 10 percent a year on the average, from a current $11 an hour to more than $14 in the final year of the agreement.

Currently, the typical Ford worker makes nearly $7 in hour in straight wages plus fringe benefits estimated to cost about $4 an hour.

The walkout has cost UAW members at Ford about $50 million a week in lost wages. The company is expected to lose more than 350,000 cars and trucks — with a wholesale value of about $1.75 billion — from its North American production schedules through mid-October.

Financial analysts have said the walkout would not have any serious adverse effects on either the company, its workers or the national economy if it could be ended within a month.

The strike is the first nationwide walkout against Ford since a 66-day work stoppage in 1967.

Bargainers for the UAW and Deere & Co., meanwhile, reportedly have reached tentative agreement on key issues in their struggles for a new three-year pattern contract for the farm implement industry. Some 27,000 Deere workers walked off their jobs in six states last Friday. No maintainable sessions have been held since Saturday in those discussions and none are currently planned for this week.

McGee was a central figure in a statewide controversy last year over the insanity defense.

Under Michigan law, persons acquitted of crimes by reason of insanity are committed to the Department of Mental Health until they are found to be no longer mentally ill.

McGee was committed indefinitely to the state Center for Forensic Psychiatry in June 1974 after being acquitted by reason of insanity in another murder case.

He was released in March 1975 after a Wayne County Probate Court jury found that he was no longer mentally ill. A month later his wife was killed, sparking a statewide controversy over McGee's release and the release of other criminally committed patients found to be no longer mentally ill.

The state's current "guilty but mentally ill" statute developed from that case.

California Tightens Truck Smog Rules

FRESNO, Calif. (AP) — Stricter anti-smog regulations are on the road for California's heavy duty trucks and buses.

The California Air Resources Board adopted the regulations Tuesday after testimony from representatives of most of the country's heavy duty vehicle makers.

The regulations are to cover both gasoline and diesel engines of vehicles over 6,000 pounds gross weight, except certain limousines.

The maximum allowable hydrocarbon emission for the 1979 model year was set at 1.5 grams per brake horsepower hour, dropping progressively to 0.5 gram in the 1983 model year.

Also adopted were test procedures similar to those of the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency.

Heavy duty vehicles have been under anti-smog regulations since 1969, but board said the standards haven't grown so progressively stringent as those for passenger cars.

By the 1977 model year, trucks and buses will be 7 to 14 times dirtier than cars, said Mary Nichols, vice chairman.

LAWTON — Service was the byword for the Van Buren county chapter of the American Red Cross over the last year. According to figures released at last night's 59th annual dinner meeting of the chapter at White Oaks Manor retirement center here, some 44 volunteers worked a total of 4,261 hours at Lake View Community hospital, Paw Paw, this past year.

Volunteers also collected 1,667 units of blood, taught 178 persons in various first aid classes, issued 630 certificates to young people who completed a water safety course, and instructed another 61 persons in home nursing classes.

Guest speakers at last night's meeting, which was attended by about 70 persons, included Miss Corrine Otto, executive director of the Kalamazoo chapter of the Red Cross, and Keith Bankwitz, a Red Cross field representative.

Miss Otto noted that while the Red Cross sometimes makes human mistakes, "it hopefully doesn't make the biggest mistake of all—doing nothing."

Bankwitz told those gathered, "There's no jayvee team here, you're all varsity people."

A number of persons were singled out for recognition of their efforts, including: Mrs. Rena Buskirk, Paw Paw, who served as chapter executive secretary for 17 years; Mrs. Howard Bush, Paw Paw, a former chapter chairman; Dr. Edward Lean, Paw Paw, who has assisted in getting physicians for the bloodmobile program; and Miss Virginia Chamberlain, Paw Paw, blood program director.

Also honored were: Mrs. Mary Brown, Lawton, hospital volunteer chairman; Mrs. George Seamehorn, Bloomingdale, volunteer chairman; Miss Sandra Osanec, Decatur, nursing chairman; Ivan Ray, Gobles, first aid chairman; Robert Wagner, Paw Paw, chapter treasurer; and Mrs. Dorita Benson, Decatur, and Mrs. Grace Paul, South Haven, water safety instructors.

Jack DeMorrow of Hartford was elected chapter chairman, and Wagner and Mrs. Evelyn Falan, Paw Paw, were re-elected as treasurer and secretary respectively.

Entertainment was provided by the Rev. Leroy J. Hoover, Paw Paw, who sang and was accompanied by pianist Steve Griffith of Richland. The Rev. Nelson Lumm of Paw Paw gave the benediction.

Apple Growers Get Price

By JOHN FENNELL
Staff Writer

Michigan Agricultural Cooperative Marketing Association's (MACMA) asking prices for apples prevailed in two mandatory arbitration cases, and two other apples processors both agreed to MACMA asking prices for all varieties except Northern Spys.

As a result of the arbitration panel's rulings and the two agreements, the entire frozen apple slicing industry in Michigan and most canners are paying MACMA's asking prices per hundredweight of $8.75 for hard varieties, 2½-inch and up, $8 for soft varieties and $10 for Northern Spys. The prices are about three times as high as last year's.

A three-man arbitration panel, which is made up of one member chosen by MACMA, one by the company and one that is mutually agreeable to both sides, met last Thursday with Michigan Quality Frozen Foods, Lawrence, and on Tuesday with Stokely-Van Camp. In both cases the panels ruled in favor of MACMA, according to Tom Butler, manager of the Michigan Processing Apple Growers. The arbitration process is provided for in the state agricultural marketing and bargaining act.

Both companies had offered prices of $6.50 for soft varieties and $7 for hard varieties. Michigan Quality Foods had also offered $8 for Spys.

Two other companies, Michigan Fruit Canners, Benton Harbor, and Burnette Farms, Keeler, agreed to pay $8.75 per hundred pounds for Golden Delicious, Grimes Golden, Winesaps, Rome and Jonathan, $8 for other varieties, $3.75 for under-size and $4 for straight loads of juice apples.

There was no agreement made on the price of Northern Spys by either Michigan Fruit Canners or Burnette Farms, Butler said.

Arbitration proceedings are scheduled to take place next week with both National Fruit Products Co., Kent City, and Musselman, Division of Pet, Inc., Paw Paw.

The asking prices for this year's short crop is based on a United States Department of Agriculture estimate of 11.9 million bushels. Last year when MACMA went into arbitration with the entire apple industry, an arbitration panel ruled in favor of MACMA. Processors then paid $3.25 for Spys, $3 for slicers, and $2.25 for sauce apples for a crop of 17.1 million bushels.

Moody Says Court Not Party Matter

BY STEVE SAGER

Blair Moody Jr., a Democrat running on the nonpartisan ballot for State Supreme court, said yesterday recent remarks from a Republican about Democratic judges were "inappropriate."

Moody, a Wayne county circuit judge, was in the Twin Cities campaigning yesterday. In an interview with The Herald-Palladium, he said the differences between judges do not run along party lines.

BLAIR MOODY JR.
High Court Candidate

Moody was referring to statements made earlier this week by Alpena county Circuit Judge Joseph Swallow, a Republican. Swallow, also a Supreme court candidate, said Democratic judges have gone overboard in protecting the rights of defendants in criminal cases. He further termed Democratic judges on the Supreme court as being too lenient.

Moody said Swallow's remarks were an attempt to bring "partisanship into a non-partisan race."

Moody and Swallow are not running against each other. Moody, who has the state Democratic endorsement, is running against Incumbent Supreme Court Justice Lawrence Lindemer, a Republican, and Zolton Ferency, the Human Rights candidate. Swallow is running against Democrats Roman S. Gibbs, a Wayne county circuit judge, and the present Chief Supreme Court Justice Thomas G. Kavanagh.

Moody said the number one issue in the Supreme court race is crime. He said, "There are two things we (judges) see most. (1) Lack of education and

(2) rotting teeth." He continued, "They reflect two things. A lack of training and a lack of parental concern. People tend to forget that parents have a job to fulfill. The real help has to come at home."

In other areas, Moody said the Supreme court needs to take the leadership in relieving the backlog of cases in the lower courts.

One such program he suggested was pre-trial diversion. He explained that a first offender under 25-years-old and involved in a nonviolent crime would be placed on probation. If the offender is successful on probation there is no trial. If he violates probation he must face the original charge and the probation violation charge.

Moody is the son of the late U.S. Sen. Blair Moody. He is a graduate of the University of Michigan School of Law. He has 24 years of civil and criminal trial experience as both a lawyer and judge. He said he has more experience as a circuit trial judge than all present Supreme court justices combined.

The Michigan Trial Lawyers association has endorsed Moody's candidacy this year. He and his wife, Mary Lou, have five children.

Fishermen Wash Ashore

LUDINGTON, Mich. (AP) — Two fishermen were hospitalized after washing ashore Tuesday in the small boat where they had been stranded for nearly two days on Lake Michigan. The pair were taken to Ludington General Hospital for treatment. An extensive search for the two Ludington men was launched along Lake Michigan earlier Tuesday after their families reported the pair had not returned on schedule from a fishing trip.

Ali's Aide Fined On Weapon Count

Staff Writer

An aide to heavyweight boxing champion Muhammad Ali was sentenced to fine and costs of $105 Tuesday in Berrien Fifth District court for carrying a weapon in an unsafe manner.

Harold Nathaniel Hazzard, 28, who gave the Ali estate, 1600 Kephart lane, Berrien Springs, as his address, was arrested Sept. 24 on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon after Benton Harbor police discovered an unloaded .32 caliber revolver behind the front seat of a 1976 Corvette.

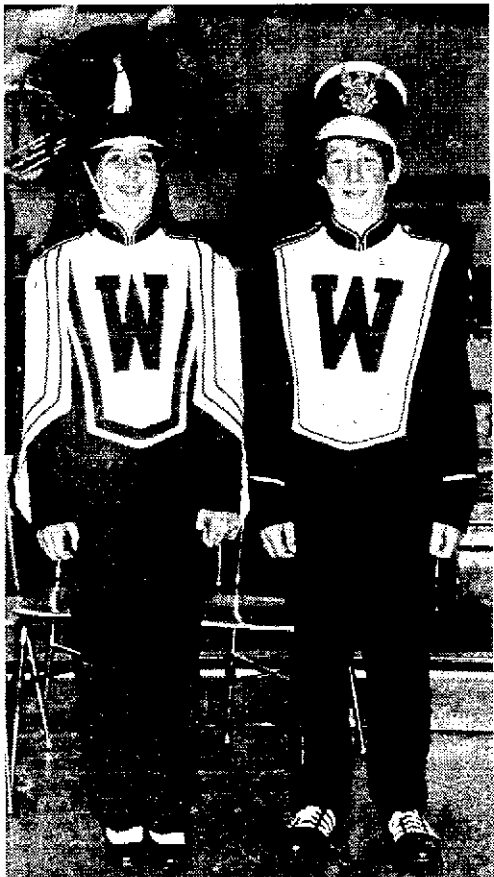

During preliminary examination, the concealed weapon charge was dismissed by the prosecutor because it was discovered that the gun was recently purchased and registered with the Berrien county sheriff's department, according to assistant prosecutor Jeffrey Long.

However, Hazzard was charged with the lesser offense because he neither carried the gun in a trunk or in a box or wrapper of some kind, as is prescribed by state law, Long said.

Hazzard told police that since his auto has no trunk, he put the gun in the rear of the two-seater auto under the window. Hazzard said that the gun must have fallen behind the seat, Long said.

Police discovered Hazzard's car in the parking lot of the Greyhound Bus station and an investigating officer said he noticed the gun through the window. Police had the car watched until Hazzard drove it off. He was then arrested in the parking lot of the Michigan Cleaners, 136 West Main street. Hazzard told a reporter from this newspaper that he has worked for Ali for the past seven years.

Ex-Student Suing Andrews, Teacher

A former Andrews Academy student and her husband have filed suit in Berrien Circuit court seeking $125,000 damages from the Berrien Springs school and a physical education teacher.

The plaintiffs, Anthony and Tammy Jean Yancoer Mack, of Tacoma, Wash., claim Mrs. Mack was injured Oct. 10, 1973, while attempting to do a back handspring in gym class. The suit says Mrs. Mack was 15 at the time of the accident and married after she left Andrews Academy.

Named defendant in addition to the school was Sandra Cavanaugh, identified as a gym teacher.

The suit contends Mrs. Mack sustained back and neck injuries while doing the handspr

ing and was knocked unconscious for several hours. The suit charges the defendants failed to properly instruct students how to do back handsprings and failed to have an assistant available to students who were doing the exercises.

In another suit, Irma and Milton Smith, of Benton township, seek $100,000 damages for injuries the couple allegedly sustained in a two-car crash Oct. 26, 1973, at Main street near Valley drive in Benton Harbor.

Michigan Agricultural Cooperative Marketing Association's (MACMA) asking prices for apples prevailed in two mandatory arbitration cases, and two other apples processors both agreed to MACMA asking prices for all varieties except Northern Spys.

As a result of the arbitration panel's rulings and the two agreements, the entire frozen apple slicing industry in Michigan and most canners are paying MACMA's asking prices per hundredweight of $8.75 for hard varieties, 2½-inch and up, $8 for soft varieties and $10 for Northern Spys. The prices are about three times as high as last year's.

A three-man arbitration panel, which is made up of one member chosen by MACMA, one by the company and one that is mutually agreeable to both sides, met last Thursday With Michigan Quality Frozen Foods, Lawrence, and on Tuesday with Stokely-Van Camp. In both cases the panels ruled in favor of MACMA, according to Tom Butler, manager of the Michigan Processing Apple Growers. The arbitration process is provided for in the state agricultural marketing and bargaining act.

Both companies had offered prices of $6.50 for soft varieties and $7 for hard varieties. Michigan Quality Foods had also offered $8 for Spys.

Two other companies, Michigan Fruit Canners, Benton Harbor, and Burnette Farms, Keeler, agreed to pay $8.75 per hundred pounds for Golden Delicious, Grimes Golden, Winesaps, Rome and Jonathan, $8 for other varieties, $3.75 for undersize and $4 for straight loads of juice apples.

There was no agreement made on the price of Northern Spys by either Michigan Fruit Canners or Burnette Farms, Butler said.

Arbitration proceedings are scheduled to take place next week with both National Fruit Products Co., Kent City, and Musselman, Division of Pet, Inc., Paw Paw.

The asking prices for this year's short crop is based on a United States Department of Agriculture estimate of 11.9 million bushels. Last year when MACMA went into arbitration with the entire apple industry, an arbitration panel ruled in favor of MACMA. Processors then paid $3.25 for Spys, $3 for slicers, and $2.25 for sauce apples for a crop of 17.1 million bushels.

Ali's Aide Fined On Weapon Count

Staff Writer

An aide to heavyweight boxing champion Muhammad Ali was sentenced to fine and costs of $105 Tuesday in Berrien Fifth District court for carrying a weapon in an unsafe manner.

Harold Nathaniel Hazzard, 28, who gave the Ali estate, 1600 Kephart lane, Berrien Springs, as his address, was arrested Sept. 24 on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon after Benton Harbor police discovered an unloaded .32 caliber revolver behind the front seat of a 1976 Corvette.

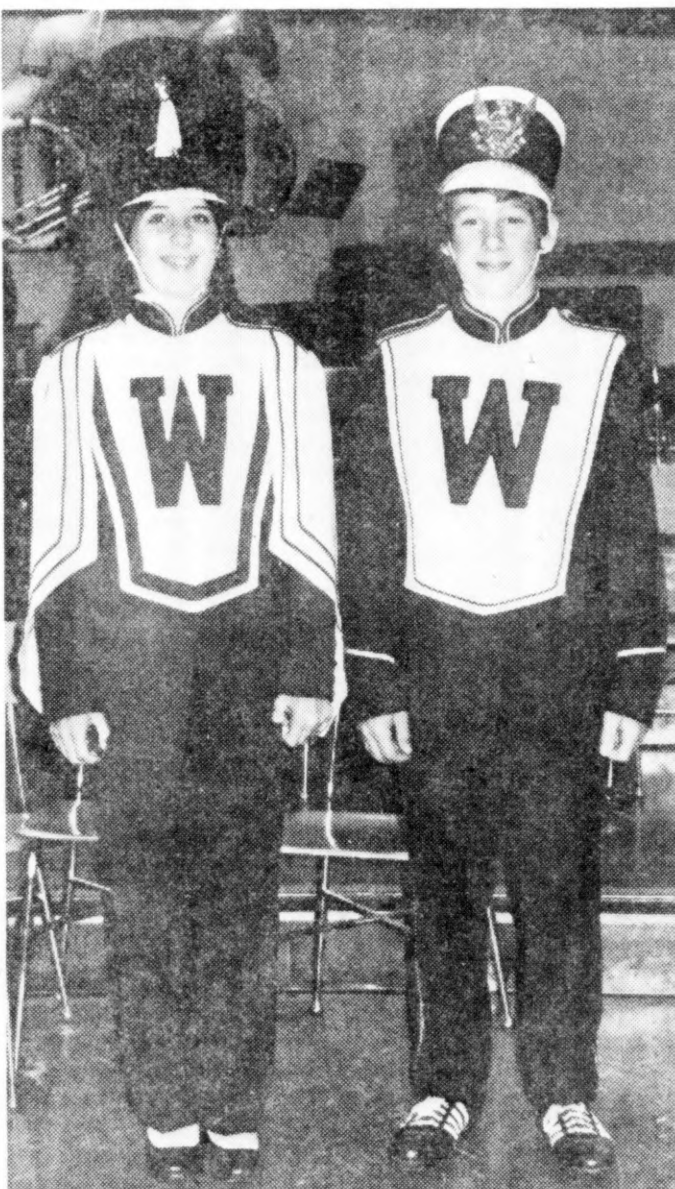

During preliminary examination, the concealed weapon charge was dismissed by the prosecutor because it was discovered that the gun was recently purchased and registered with the Berrien county sheriff's department, according to assistant prosecutor Jeffrey Long.

However, Hazzard was charged with the lesser offense because he neither carried the gun in a trunk or in a box or wrapper of some kind, as is prescribed by state law, Long said.

Hazzard told police that since his auto has no trunk, he put the gun in the rear of the two-seater auto under the window. Hazzard said that the gun must have fallen behind the seat, Long said.

Police discovered Hazzard's car in the parking lot of the Greyhound Bus station and an investigating officer said he noticed the gun through the window. Police had the car watched until Hazzard drove it off. He was then arrested in the parking lot of the Michigan Cleaners, 136 West Main street. Hazzard told a reporter from this newspaper that he has worked for Ali for the past seven years.

Wounded Boy Dies

SAGINAW, Mich. (AP) — An East Detroit boy who was accidentally shot in the head by his brother over the weekend died Tuesday at a Saginaw hospital, according to State Police. Troopers said Ronald Radziwian, 13, was wounded at his family's Gladwin County hunting camp near West Branch.

Ex-Student Suing Andrews, Teacher

A former Andrews Academy student and her husband have filed suit in Berrien Circuit court seeking $125,000 damages from the Berrien Springs school and a physical education teacher.

The plaintiffs, Anthony and Tammy Jean Yancer Mack, of Tacoma, Wash., claim Mrs. Mack was injured Oct. 10, 1973, while attempting to do a back handspring in gym class. The suit says Mrs. Mack was 15 at the time of the accident and married after she left Andrews Academy.

Named defendant in addition to the school was Sandra Cavanaugh, identified as a gym teacher.

The suit contends Mrs. Mack sustained back and neck injuries while doing the handspr

ing and was knocked unconscious for several hours. The suit charges the defendants failed to properly instruct students how to do back handsprings and failed to have an assistant available to students who were doing the exercises.

In another suit, Irma and Milton Smith, of Benton township, seek $100,000 damages for injuries the couple allegedly sustained in a two-car crash Oct. 26, 1973, at Main street near Valley drive in Benton Harbor.

Named defendant, and identified as the driver of a car which allegedly struck the back of the Smiths' auto, was Donald R. Stewart, who at the time of the accident was stationed at the U.S. Coast Guard station in St. Joseph.

Red Wings Make Few Changes, But Have Stability

DETROIT (AP) — If the Detroit Red Wings have anything heading into their 50th National Hockey League season it's stability.

Whether that can make up for some of the deficiencies in talent remains to be seen.

Changes have been superficial, and the team may have to rely more on hustle than anything else if it hopes to gain a playoff spot by finishing third in the Norris Division of the Wales Conference.

"I think they made a wise decision to keep the team together," Red Wings goalie Jimmy Rutherford said Tuesday. "When I first came here every time you came in the dressing room you were shaking hands with somebody new."

Rutherford and veteran defenseman Terry Harper both said they were optimistic about the season, despite predictions that Detroit will again battle Washington to escape the cellar of the Norris Division.

Montreal is an overwhelming favorite to repeat as division titlist, with Los Angeles tabbed by experts to finish second ahead of Pittsburgh. Third place is the last playoff spot.

"I think it was a great vote of confidence to the players that they (Red Wings management) didn't make a lot of changes," Harper said. "I've always been very critical of teams that make a lot of changes. Sometimes it seems they make them for the sake of change."

Detroit opens its season at home Thursday night against Washington.

Besides the lack of superstars, the Red Wings have the extra burden entering a season with a lame-duck coach — who isn't even a head coach. Assistant Billy Dea will run the team from behind the bench, while Coach-General Manager Alex Delvecchio "coordinates" things from the press box.

Dea, who assumed the bench-coach role just past mid-campaign last season, was reported to be Detroit's new head coach this year. But the Wings denied that and said Dea would remain in his current position. A new coach, however, has been picked out but won't assume the job until next season because he's already got a coaching job. Asked whether that arrangement would create some confusion, Harper replied:

"I don't even think about it. It would be kind of fun if this one (Dea) wins it all though, wouldn't it? Maybe I shouldn't say that, but that's the way I feel."

Mickey Redmond, a two-time 50-goal scorer with Detroit, retired recently because of continuing injury problems. The Red Wings' best players include center Walt McKechnie (leading scorer last year), Rutherford and Harper, forward Danny Grant (injured much of last season), forward Nick Libett and forward Dan Maloney (cleared recently in an assault charge stemming from a game in Toronto last season).

Young players counted on heavily include defenseman Rick LaPointe and Al Cameron, plus center Fred Williams, Detroit's No. 1 draft choice.

"We can't let any early (losing) trends develop," Harper said, "especially early with that schedule."

Of the first 17 games this year, 14 are against teams that were in the Stanley Cup playoffs

INTERIM COACH: Tommy Hudspeth was all smiles when he met with press Tuesday after being named interim coach of Detroit Lions. He replaces Rick Forzano, who resigned Monday. (AP Wirephoto)

Stern Hudspeth Lions' Coach

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — Rick Forzano's stern discipline didn't set well with the Detroit Lions — and his successor doesn't sound like he'll be any easier.

"We're gonna be demanding of our football players," said surprise coaching choice Tommy Hudspeth. "We're gonna ask them to do certain things and go from there and put the chips on the table."

Execution is vital, Hudspeth told reporters.

"You've got to block and tackle if you're gonna get the job done," he said. "When you're asked to do something, you should do it."

Whether he can stifle player grumblings and at the same time get more out of the lackluster Lions may determine whether Detroit can turn things around this National Football League season.

Hudspeth, a 45-year-old Kansan and former college coach, was named interim coach Tuesday by Lions' owner William Clay Ford. He moves up from his post as Coordinator of Personnel and Scouting to replace Forzano, who resigned Monday.

Hudspeth believes Detroit has the talent to reach the playoffs, "but you have to get it out of them."

Forzano wasn't able to do that. Who knows why?

He was able to get along well with the news media. But there were several serious incidents of player dissension in his tenure of just over two seasons as head coach.

Forzano didn't duck out after his resignation, which he said was not the result of any pressure from Ford.

Forzano faced a battery of reporters at a Pontiac Stadium news conference prior to the one that introduced Hudspeth as his replacement. Despite the sessions, the team's internal problems remained clouded.

"Circumstances have to be overcome, and I feel I was unable to overcome certain circumstances," Forzano said.

Asked if his resignation saved the job of General Manager Russ Thomas, Forzano said: "If this helps save Russ's job then fine, but that wasn't the reason I resigned."

Forzano said he gave Ford two letters, one of resignation and another stating a number of things he refused to disclose.

"I don't feel I should view any problems I have to the public," he said.

Forzano said even if the Lions, now 1-3, hadn't lost to Green Bay (24-14) Sunday he intended to resign. And Hudspeth said Ford asked him two weeks ago if he was willing to replace Forzano if need be.

Ford was not at either news conference.

In a release he said: "I had two major reasons for asking Tommy to take over the team ... Hudspeth has more head coaching experience than any other man on our staff. Just as important, and maybe more so, is the fact that I wanted to keep the present staff of assistants intact. There are men on it with definite head coach potential."

Hudspeth joined the Lions in November 1974 as a pro scout. He became Coordinator of Personnel and Scouting in July 1975. He began his career in 1953 as an assistant at Norman (Okla.) High School. He was in the Air Force the next two years, then became an assistant at Tulsa Central High.

The articulate Hudspeth, 14th Lions coach in their 43-year history, was an aide at Tulsa University for four years. He was at Calgary from 1961-63. In 1964, Hudspeth became head coach at Brigham Young University.

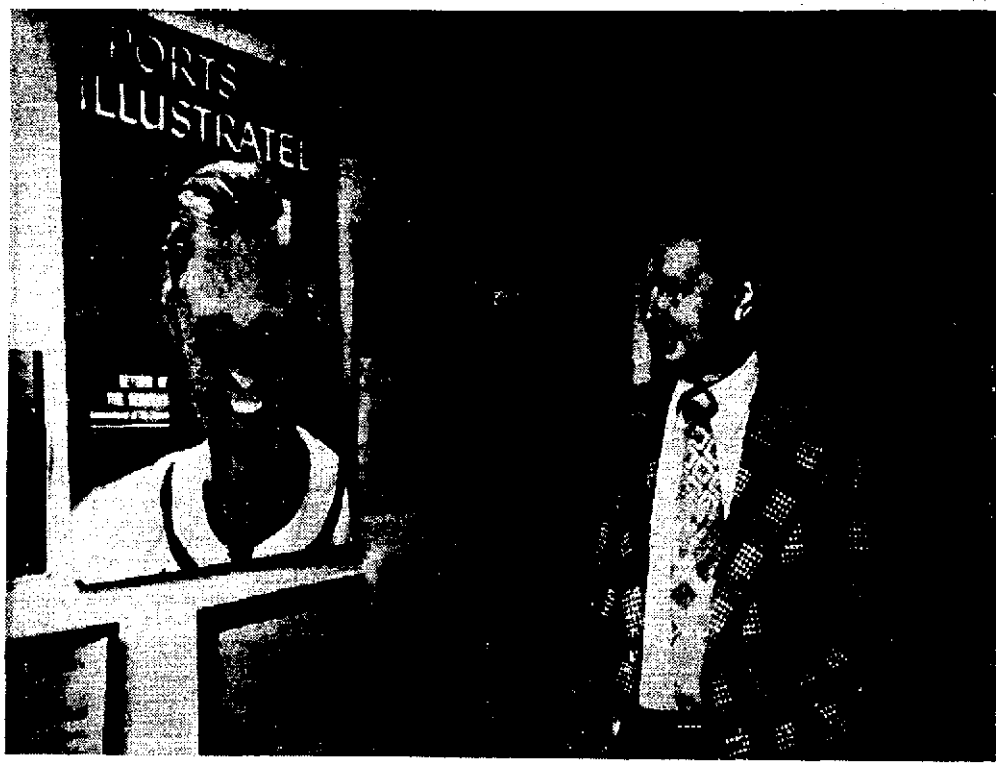

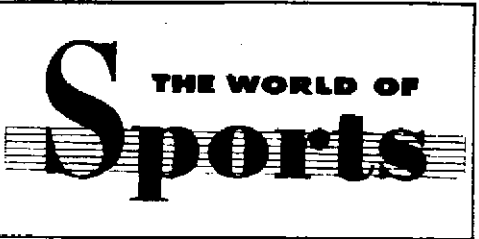

"We had a 39-42-1 record (in eight years)," he said. "We won the first championship they ever had there (1965) and four out of eight times were ranked in the top 13 in the country in offense. We were in the top 15 defensive teams three of those four years."

After that he took an assistant's role at Texas-El Paso. He assumed the head job near the end of the 1972 season and remained in 1973. Just before joining the Lions he was offensive backfield coach of the Chicago Fire of the now-defunct World Football League.

"I had a terrible team at Texas-El Paso," Hudspeth said. "I inherited a team as interim coach. We won one game out of four the first year and didn't win any (out of 11) the second year. I stepped out for the betterment of the coaching staff and organization."

He said he had no excuses for that season and that "I'm not saying I'm gonna set the world on fire now. But I'll tell you we're gonna try. We're gonna get after them."

Hudspeth said he was in Tulsa and planning to visit the University of Arkansas on a scouting mission when Ford phoned him Monday and asked him to become coach.

Kentucky To Host Finals

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — The University of Kentucky wants to host the finals of the 1982 NCAA basketball championships at Rupp Arena here, Athletic Director Cliff Hagan says.

Hagan said the university has submitted a bid for the games. He said the new 23,000-seat arena, scheduled for opening this fall, would be an attractive site for the semifinals and final contests of the basketball tournament.

The National Collegiate Athletic Association voted recently to hold the 1982 finals in a midwestern or mid-eastern city, Hagan said.

With completion of a new hotel and the Lexington Civic Center, Rupp Arena should be a natural for the finals, Hagan said.

St. Louis Fires Schoendienst

Boyer Eyes Cards' Job

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Another hero of yesteryear, Ken Boyer, has thrown his hat into the ring as a candidate to manage the St. Louis Cardinals.

But the 45-year-old Boyer, currently the field boss of the Cards' top farm club, concedes a successor to Red Schoendienst may be chosen from outside the National League baseball team's organization.

"I have no way of knowing what his reaction was," said

Boyer after talking Tuesday with club president August A. Busch Jr., following the firing of Schoendienst.

"I think he may even have been startled that I asked," Boyer suggested, "but I just wouldn't want to live with myself this winter if they went out and hired somebody else without my having asked."

Cards General Manager Bing Devine, who informed Schoendienst of the firing, said Boyer's name is on a list of three candidates he has submitted to Busch.

"Boyer is not in any better position than any of the others," Devine said. However, he added, "He is not the heir apparent. No one else from the organization is on that list."

Boyer, the NL's Most Valuable Player in 1964, played 16 seasons in the major leagues, including 11 at third base for St. Louis.

Since retiring as a player in 1968 he has managed at three minor league levels in the Cards' chain, including the last three at Tulsa of the American Association.

"I've been in the organization since 1949 and I feel like I've got Cardinal blood in my veins," he said. "With all the young kids they have here, I'd kind of like to grow up with them."

Busch, 77, said in a statement the decision not to rehire Schoendienst, 53, was based on "our consensus that there is a need for a change."

"There are times, regardless of one's capabilities, when a different perspective is in order," the statement said. "Red Schoendienst's distinguished career, both as a player and a manager, are on the record books for all to see."

Schoendienst had managed the Cards since 1965, twice leading them to National League pennants and once to a World Series title during his 12 seasons.

"If you've got the ball players you can manage," he said, alluding to St. Louis' skid during the past season to 72-90, the club's worst record since 1955.

"In baseball you never know what's going to happen," added Schoendienst, a former Cards player. "I think I'm a pretty good man and I can take it in stride."

Dick Williams Managing NL's Floundering Expos

MONTREAL (AP) — Dick Williams, a strict disciplinarian who guided the Boston Red Sox and Oakland A's to American League championships, now will try and inject some life into the floundering Montreal Expos.

The Expos, who never have finished higher than fourth in the National League East in their eight years of existence, wound up with the worst record in baseball this year. They signed the 47-year-old Williams to a two-year contract as manager Tuesday.

Terms of the agreement were not disclosed.

"I think things are in good hands," said Expos President John McHale in making the announcement of Williams' hiring. "We have a guy in Dick who knows how to win and has an attraction in Montreal."

Williams' attraction in Montreal stems from his tenure as a player for Montreal's International League team in 1953 and 1956 and his tenure as Expos coach during the 1970 season. He also worked in Canada in 1965 and 1966, managing the Toronto Maple Leafs to International League pennants.

Williams said there wasn't a single player left on the Expos' roster from 1970 and he would have to do some homework on the National League after spending the past six years in the American League. "I'm going to have to do a little catching up," he said.

So will the Expos.

They finished the 1976 season with a 55-107 record, 46 games behind the first-place Philadelphia Phillies.

Williams said he planned to stress fundamentals at the team's spring training camp next year and did not anticipate any personnel problems, particularly with petulant shortstop Tim Lincecum.

Folt publicly criticized rookie Manager Karl Kuehl this year, saying he was incapable of managing in the major leagues.

Folt's comments were considered one of the reasons for the Expos' dismal showing.

Kuehl was fired Sept. 3 and Charlie Fox was named interim manager. Fox, 54, spent 34 years in the New York-San Francisco Giants organization before joining the Expos as a special assignment scout this year. He was retained by the club as vice president in charge of baseball operations, with Jim Fanning shifting to vice president in charge of player development.

Williams began his major league managerial career with Boston in 1967 and led the Red Sox to the American League pennant. Boston fell to fourth place in 1968, and Williams was fired late the following year. He managed the A's from 1971-73, winning three division titles and the World Series in his last two years, then quit after a feud with owner Charles Finley.

After that, he signed to manage the New York Yankees, but Finley protested, saying Williams still had a contract obligation to the A's, and AL President Joe Cronin voided the contract with the Yanks. Williams then was named manager of the California Angels in June, 1974, and held the job until being fired last July 22.

scoring attack were Laura Price with 14 points and Ann Ryan and Sandi Seal with eight each. Seal also had 10 rebounds. St. Joe is now 2-5 overall and Niles is 2-2 in the conference.

St. Joe's junior varsity girls remained unbeaten taking their seventh in a row 37-8 over the Vikings' jayvees. Michele Priefer had nine points for the junior Bears.

SJ Gals Rip Niles

St. Joseph's varsity girls basketball team ran its conference record to 2-1 last night by steamrolling Niles 51-27 in a Big Seven game.

Coach Rick Bloodworth's girls used a "very effective" half-court press in shoring to a 24-8 halftime lead. Sherri Zitta had nine steals for the Bears.

NTREAL (AP) — Dick Williams, a strict disciplinarian who guided the Boston Red Sox to American League championships, now y inject some life into the floundering Montreal Expos, who never have player for Montreal's International League team in 1953 and 1956 and his tenure as Expos coach during the 1970 season. He also worked in Canada in 1965 and 1966, managing the Toronto Maple Leafs to International League pennants.

Williams said there wasn't a single player left on the Expos' roster from 1970 and he would have to do some homework on the National League after spending the past six years in the American League. "I'm going to have to do a little catching up," he said.

So will the Expos.

They finished the 1976 season with a 55-107 record, 46 games behind the first-place Philadelphia Phillies.

Williams said he planned to stress fundamentals at the team's spring training camp next year and did not anticipate any personnel problems, particularly with petulant shortstop Tim Lincecum.

Foli publicly criticized rookie Manager Karl Kuehl this year, saying he was incapable of managing in the major leagues. Foli's comments were considered one of the reasons for the Expos' dismal showing.

Kuehl was fired Sept. 3 and Charlie Fox was named interim manager. Fox, 54, spent 34 years in the New York-San Francisco Giants organization before joining the Expos as a special assignment scout this year. He was retained by the club as vice president in charge of baseball operations, with Jim Fanning shifting to vice president in charge of player development.

Williams began his major league managerial career with Boston in 1967 and led the Red Sox to the American League pennant. Boston fell to fourth place in 1968, and Williams was fired late the following year. He managed the A's from 1971-73, winning three division titles and the World Series in his last two years, then quit after a feud with owner Charles Finley.

After that, he signed to manage the New York Yankees, but Finley protested, saying Williams still had a contract obligation to the A's, and AL President Joe Cronin voided the contract with the Yanks. Williams then was named manager of the California Angels in June, 1974, and held the job until being fired last July 22.

scoring attack were Laura Price with 14 points and Ann Ryan and Sandi Seal with eight each. Seal also had 10 rebounds. St. Joe is now 2-5 overall and Niles is 2-2 in the conference.

St. Joe's junior varsity girls remained unbeaten taking their seventh in a row 37-8 over the Vikings' jayvees. Michele Priefer had nine points for the junior Bears.

St. Joe Gals Rip Niles

Joseph's varsity girls ball team ran its winning record to 2-1 last night by steamrolling Niles 14-3 in a Big Seven game. Rick Bodenworth's gals, "very effective" half-court press in pacing to a 24-8 lead. Sherri Zitta had 10 points for the Bears.

Kentucky To Host Finals

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — The University of Kentucky wants to host the finals of the 1982 NCAA basketball championships at Rupp Arena here, Athletic Director Cliff Hagan says.

Hagan said the university has submitted a bid for the games.

He said the new 23,000-seat arena, scheduled for opening this fall, would be an attractive site for the semifinals and final contests of the basketball tournament.

The National Collegiate Athletic Association voted recently to hold the 1982 finals in a midwestern or mid-eastern city, Hagan said.

With completion of a new hotel and the Lexington Civic Center, Rupp Arena should be a natural for the finals, Hagan said.

Burnell Hanging In There

Still Hopes To Turn Bisons Around

By JACK WALKDEN
Staff Sports Writer

NEW BUFFALO — Max Burnell is always looking for a challenge.

Boasting a brilliant career coaching record, Burnell has almost been a miracle worker at every school he's coached at. But Burnell has thus far been unable to work his magic at New Buffalo.

With a losing background, New Buffalo has done no better under Burnell, losing 11 straight since he took over last season. But through it all Burnell still remains as optimistic as the day he took over.

"I sure didn't expect to go this long without a victory here," Burnell says. "But I knew when I started that this would be the toughest one I had ever challenged. I think that's why I took the job. That's why quitting doesn't mean anything. I'm going to keep going until this thing is accomplished."

"I still think this program can be turned around. But it's not going to be easy. It's going to be a slow process. We have to get some kids to come out and stay out. If we can do that we'll win some games and begin to get some pride in winning."

"I do believe that if we can keep these kids together for the next three ballgames, the experience they gain will help them win the last couple. One thing about this bunch of kids is that they're not quitters. They will keep going until the end."

Burnell's task has not been an easy one. The Bisons have put together 12 straight losing seasons and presently boast a 20-game losing streak, just six short of the area record. New Troy lost 26 in a row between 1960 and 1963.

Even worse, New Buffalo has put together winless seasons in three of the past four years, has been shutout six of the last eight games (including three straight) and has scored two touchdowns or less in 38 consecutive games. And the Bisons will not exactly face an easy task the next three Fridays, facing Watervliet, Lake Michigan Catholic and Hartford, three Red Arrow powerhouses.

But Burnell has been through it before. His career coaching record stands at 292-81-12 and the situation has been the same at almost every school he's coached at. In 33 years of coaching, Burnell has had just three losing seasons, including last year at New Buffalo.

Burnell boasted an 8-1 record in his only year at Detroit Cecilia high school while winning the Catholic league title. At St. George high school in Evanston, Ill., his teams put together a brilliant 129-13 record over 20 years, 14 of which were unbeaten seasons.

He was the first coach at Bishop Lynch high school in Dallas, Tex. and coached the kids from the time they were freshmen. In their third year of varsity competition, Bishop Lynch won the state championship.

His final stop before New Buffalo was at East Moline, Ill., where he coached at United Township high school.

"They only won six games during the 12 years before I came there," Burnell says. "In fact they hadn't scored a touchdown in the two previous seasons and had lost 23 straight. In our first game we scored a touchdown before the opponent did and the stands went crazy."

Three years after Burnell arrived at East Moline, the school tied for the Western Big Six championship and the following year United Township won its league crown outright. But the struggle still goes on at New Buffalo.

"Right now we're at a stand still," Burnell says. "We advanced somewhat last year, but we didn't get the numbers out that I expected to get this year."

A number of the boys who played last year didn't come back out this year.

"We're in that kind of a rut. We lost eight or 10 boys who were with us last year, some because of cars they bought and others because of jobs. We're so depleted this year that we're playing with three kids on the first team that had never played football before this season."

Burnell compares the New Buffalo situation to the same one he encountered at East Moline.

"These youngsters have to have a defeatist attitude deep down in," Burnell says. "It was the same thing at East Moline. We lost our first three there the first season and then finally won a game. The kids started believing in themselves after that."

"We have to win some games here somehow so the kids will have something to be proud of. If I can keep these kids together the next three weeks, I think we can win those last two. If we can do that it will give us something to build on for next year. We need something like that more than anything."

Burnell has indeed had problems getting kids out and keeping them out. His Bison varsity boasts just 14 members with 15 more on the junior varsity. Even worse, the line averages just 151 pounds and the backfield 142 pounds.

"When you're building you have to be able to keep your kids out," Burnell says. "That's the only way to build experience. We expected more freshmen out this year, too. We had hoped for 20 to 30 kids and only got 12."

"The fact that we're losing has a lot to do with it. When a team is winning it gives the players a feeling of pride. But kids don't want to be a part of something that is a failure. It's a tough attitude and it's really too bad because the kids who are staying out are great kids. They play their hearts out, but just get trampled on."

Burnell also cites a lackadaisical attitude by the town and school administration for the losing tradition.

"The team doesn't even have any showers," Burnell says. "You may not believe this but they dress in the old basketball gym. I mean what do you have to be proud of when that happens. The kids don't even have dressing facilities. Last year we didn't even have enough equipment to put a full uniform on each player. We had to borrow some old Chicago Bear uniforms."

"A lot of the people here feel they don't want to back the team because it doesn't win. But that's not the way it should work. It destroys pride. They should back the team so they want to win."

That one elusive victory is the key as far as Burnell is concerned. That one victory that would start the program on the road back. Maybe it will come this season.

Eddies, Comets Face Bud Leaders

Duo Could Be Spoilers

Edwardsburg and Coloma will be out to be the spoilers in the Blossomland conference Friday.

The Eddies and Comets can throw the Bud football race up for grabs by knocking off league-leading Brandywine and Cassopolis, respectively. But neither will have the home field advantage.

Edwardsburg (1-1) travels to Brandywine (2-0) and Coloma (1-1) treks over to Cass (2-0). In other Blossomland action, Lakeshore (1-1) will be out to spoil Buchanan's (1-1) homecoming and River Valley (0-2) faces Dowagiac (0-2).

Edwardsburg has yielded just 21 points in three games, but it is a woeful offense which has troubled coach Ted Peak. The Eddies have gained just 475 total yards in three games.

"Defensively, we haven't been playing too bad of ball," Peak offers. "But we have to work on our offense. Cassopolis beat our line off the ball last week, and we're going to have to get off the ball to win."

Brandywine humiliated Edwardsburg 44-12 last year and Peak is hoping to gain a measure of revenge.

"We think we can get them this year," he says. "We want this one pretty bad. If we can get this one and somebody else beats Cass, we're right back in it."

Brandywine coach Pete McCauley doesn't think his team will overlook the Eddies.

"I don't know how we could overlook them because they beat Dowagiac and held Cass to just 13 points," he declares. "They have good size and great speed in their backs. That's what we're concerned about."

Gus Mayo heads a balanced Bobcat running attack, but quarterback Ed Pilarski is the key. Pilarski passed for almost 150 yards last Friday against River Valley.

Defensive halfback Tom Fuller is a doubtful starter with a possible broken hand. The hand was X-rayed Monday and it isn't known if he would be ready or not.

Coloma coach Bob Irvin is hoping that last week's win over Buchanan will finally get the Comets on track.

"We want to pick up some momentum from the win last Friday," he says. "We're going to have to play top-notch football to beat Cass. They have a wealth of outstanding running backs and an outstanding quarterback in (Dennis) Lawson."

Thanks largely to Lawson, the Rangers boast the area's third best passing attack.

Tom Vandervort has been the top Comet runner with almost 300 yards rushing. But Coloma, which has been beset by injuries all year, lost another top back when John Scott was hurt again Friday. Scott, who missed one game with a concussion, now is out with a stretched ligament in his knee.

"We don't take the attitude of a spoiler," Irvin says. "We feel that if they're going to win the title, they have to get by us first."

Cass coach Cal Trus is banking his team's hopes on a much improved defense. The Rangers are yielding only 175 yards per game, fourth best in the area.

Middle linebacker Vince Weatherspoon and defensive ends Joe Wallace and Jim

Miller have been the team leaders in tackles for the Rangers.

Running back Tim Hartsell, who missed one game with an injury, is almost back to full strength after gaining 83 yards last week against Edwardsburg. Lakeshore coach Dave Topping believes his team is just beginning to put it all together. The Lancers certainly had it together last week, blasting defending Bud co-champ Dowagiac, 38-12.

"We're just starting to play up to our capabilities," Topping declares. "We're not making the mistakes that we made in the first two football games. But we can't afford to overlook anybody. Buchanan is 1-2 just like we are and they're having their problems just like we did. We're going to prepare for them just like anyone else on our schedule."

Lakeshore is paced by a pair of speedy running backs in Odell Brister and Bob Harvey. Brister has rushed for 256 yards and Harvey for 224.

The Lancers have also been helped by a strong passing attack. Quarterback Kevin Campbell has completed 18 of 43 passes for 292 yards. End Tom Jager, an All-State candidate, has pulled in nine passes for 174 yards and a pair of touchdowns.

Buchanan, on the other hand, may be forced to go without regular quarterback Jeff Butler. Butler suffered a knee injury last Friday against Coloma and is doubtful for the Lancer game.

After a poor first half, the Bucks stayed even with Coloma in the second half last Friday. Buchanan coach Mike Young is hopeful that play will carry over into this week even without Butler.

"We just have to come back and play ball in the first half this week," Young said. "Lakeshore is so awesome that we have to do things right in the first half instead of waiting."

River Valley and Dowagiac will both be trying to establish an offense. The Mustangs have averaged only eight points and gained a measly 165 yards per game, while the Chiefs have boasted totals of just four points and 136 yards, respectively.

Sunday's program includes three 100-lap races. Odd numbered cars will be in the first and "evens" in the second. Graduation '76 will then be topped off by a 100-lap feature for the 24 fastest qualifiers.

Lakers Win By Stroke

The Lakers finished with 173 and the Lancers had 174. Benton Harbor was third at 211.

John Korff of Lake Michigan Catholic took medalist honors with a 40. Dave Haslett of Lakeshore was second with a 42. Other Laker scorers included Jay Franklin 43 and Mike Takacs and Jeff Glendening with 45 each. Mike Fisher, Mark Nidiffer and Harry Gnodtke all had 44 for the Lancers. Benton Harbor's Dave Dean was low for the Tigers with a 51.

Miller have been the team leaders in tackles for the Rangers.

Running back Tim Hartsell, who missed one game with an injury, is almost back to full strength after gaining 83 yards last week against Edwardsburg.

Lakeshore coach Dave Topping believes his team is just beginning to put it all together. The Lancers certainly had it together last week, blasting defending Bud co-champ Dowagiac, 38-12.

"We're just starting to play up to our capabilities," Topping declares. "We're not making the mistakes that we made in the first two football games. But we can't afford to overlook anybody. Buchanan is 1-2 just like we are and they're having their problems just like we did. We're going to prepare for them just like anyone else on our schedule."

Lakeshore is paced by a pair of speedy running backs in Odell Brister and Bob Harvey. Brister has rushed for 256 yards and Harvey for 224.

The Lancers have also been helped by a strong passing attack. Quarterback Kevin Campbell has completed 18 of 43 passes for 292 yards. End Tom Jager, an All-State candidate, has pulled in nine passes for 174 yards and a pair of touchdowns.

Buchanan, on the other hand, may be forced to go without regular quarterback Jeff Butler. Butler suffered a knee injury last Friday against Coloma and is doubtful for the Lancer game.

After a poor first half, the Bucks stayed even with Coloma in the second half last Friday. Buchanan coach Mike Young is hopeful that play will carry over into this week even without Butler.

"We just have to come back and play ball in the first half this week," Young said. "Lakeshore is so awesome that we have to do things right in the first half instead of waiting."

River Valley and Dowagiac will both be trying to establish an offense. The Mustangs have averaged only eight points and gained a measly 165 yards per game, while the Chieftains boast totals of just four points and 136 yards, respectively.

Hartford Speedway Staging Big Race

HARTFORD — The Hartford Motor Speedway's biggest racing event of the year — Graduation '76 — will be held here Saturday and Sunday.

More than 100 late-model stock car drivers, including defending champion Bob Senneker of Dorris, are expected to compete for a $25,000 purse. Racers from throughout the Midwest, and Canada, are entered.

Gates open at 3 p.m. Saturday and at 11 a.m. Sunday. Saturday's program includes time trials at 5 p.m. and racing at 8 p.m. There won't be time trials Sunday, but racing will get underway at 2:30 p.m.

Admission Saturday will be $5 for adults, $2.50 for children and $7.50 for the pits. On Sunday, tickets will cost $7.50 for adults, $2.50 for children and $7.50 for the pits.

Following Saturday's time trials, there will be heat races, a pursuit event and a feature for the 20 fastest cars, plus a Michigan Speedway Promoters race.

Sunday's program includes three 100-lap races. Odd numbered cars will be in the first and "evens" in the second. Graduation '76 will then be topped off by a 100-lap feature for the 24 fastest qualifiers.

Lakers Win By Stroke

The Lakers finished with 173 and the Lancers had 174. Benton Harbor was third at 211.

Lakeshore was second with a 42. Other Laker scorers included Jay Franklin 43 and Mike Takacs and Jeff Glendening with 45 each. Mike Fisher, Mark Nidiffer and Harry Gnodtke all had 44 for the Lancers. Benton Harbor's Dave Dean was low for the Tigers with a 51.

Tight WHA Back With New Money

Season Starting Thursday

From Associated Press

Gordie Howe is lacing up his skates again, the Minnesota Fighting Saints have reemerged with a new cast of characters, the Swedish population in Winnipeg is growing at an alarming rate and there's even a team called the Birmingham Bulls.

The World Hockey Association is back. Shuffling off the financial woes and collapsing franchises of a year ago, the WHA starts its fifth season Thursday amidst a tighter divisional structure and a welcome injection of new money.

Last season's three-division lineup has been junked and this time they'll try it with two six-team divisions. The Toronto Toros have moved to Birmingham, Ala. The Cleveland Crusaders have switched to Minnesota, replacing the franchise that went under there midway through last season. And new owners have taken over in Quebec, Edmonton and San Diego.

The league's two noted elder statesmen — Howe, 48, and Bobby Hull, 37 — are set for another campaign. Howe has left the Houston Aeros' front office to rejoin sons Marty and Mark on the ice. Hull, currently recuperating from a wrist injury, is expected to rejoin the Winnipeg Jets in about a month.

Marc Tardif of Quebec, the league's top scorer last season who suffered brain contusions after an alleged attack by Calgary's Rick Jodzio during the playoffs, appears to be rounding into form.

The season officially begins Thursday night with Minnesota visiting Cincinnati. It ends

April 6 and then come the playoffs, with four of the six teams in each division taking part.

A brief look at the divisions:

Western Division

The champion Winnipeg Jets and runnerup Houston Aeros are both in the same division this time around and should both make the playoffs without difficulty. At last count Winnipeg had 11 Europeans on the roster, and when Hull returns to the lineup he'll team with two of them, Swedes Ulf Nilsson and Anders Hedberg, to form the league's most explosive line. Joe Daley is solid in the nets and the defense will be ample as soon as Thommie Bergman, another Swede, recovers from a shoulder separation.

Houston has enough veteran players to keep things interesting. The team is built around the Howes, forwards Andre Hise and Larry Lund and goaltenders Ron Grahame and Wayne Rutledge. Calgary has picked up Richard Lemieux and Claude St. Sauveur from Atlanta of the NHL to go along with goalie Don McLeod, one of the league's best, and an improved defense.

Norm Ullman and Rusty Patenaude are among the offensive stars at Edmonton, where the Oilers have imported a host of new players, including journeyman Glen Sather.

Robbie Ftorek, 113 points last season, gives Phoenix some offense and Jim Niekamp and Garry Lariviere shore up the defense but the Roadrunners are still looking for someone to replace the retired Jack Norris in goal. Ernie Wakely returns in goal for San Diego and his defense should be improved with the addition of Paul Shmyr.

Eastern Division

Quebec, the league's highest-scoring club last season, has enough firepower to win this division even without Rejean Houle, who scored 51 goals but has since returned to Montreal of the NHL. Tardif and Real Cloutier will get some help up front from Andre Boudrias and Paulin Bordeleau, both acquired as free agents, and the addition of veteran Jim Dorey will help the defense.

New England has Brad Selwood and Rick Ley to anchor the defense. Ralph Backstrom and Tim Webster are the big guns up front. Frank Mahovlich, Vaclav Nedomansky and Mark Napier will score lots of goals for Birmingham but probably not enough to make up for a leaky defense. Last season, in Toronto, the club surrendered a league-high 398 goals.

Indianapolis, champs in the East last year, probably won't fare as well under the new alignment despite veteran forwards Dave Keon and Bryan Campbell and a tough defenseman in Kim Clarkson. Cincinnati's fortunes will depend on whether Rick Dudley, Dennis Sobchuk and Co. can score more goals than erratic goalie Paul Hoganson will give up.

Minnesota will have to rely on defense with Gord Gallant and the three Carlson brothers — Jeff, Jack and Steve.

Lakers And Shamrocks Share Red Arrow Lead

Lake Michigan Catholic and Berrien Springs are now tied for the Red Arrow conference girls basketball lead with 3-0 records following easy wins Tuesday night.

The Lakers ran by Hartford 73-14 in the Lakers' gym and the Shamrocks clobbered visiting Bridgman 68-18.

In other league contests, EAU

Claire (2-1) defeated Gallen (0-3) 41-34 and Watervliet (2-1) downed New Buffalo (0-3) 46-7.

The Lakers raced off to a 27-0 first quarter lead in thumping Hartford (1-2). A full court press was called off after two minutes by Lakers' Coach Wayne Stefanich as Lake Michigan Catholic's girls hit 59 per cent from the field the first half. Leading the balanced Laker scoring attack were Shelly Schmid with 15 points, Ann Donahue 14, and Helen McQuillan 10. The Lakers are now 7-1 overall. Lori Sindel-decker had six points for Hartford.

Berrien Springs also used a balanced scoring attack in its victory over Bridgman (1-2). Pacing the Shamrocks' attack was Anne Prillwitz with 16 points. Denise Schug had 13 and Cathy Doepker chipped in 10. Diane Umfress, leading Shamrock scorer, saw limited action due to an injury. Tracy Spletzer, Sheri Tiefenbach and Ellen Walst all had four points for Bridgman. Berrien Springs is 6-2 overall and travels to Lake Michigan Catholic next Thursday.

Eau Claire, playing at home, came from behind in the fourth quarter to down Gallen as Kathy Rodell pumped in seven points in the final stanza. Other Eau Claire pointmakers included Karen Layman with 11 and Tammi Vlied with 10. Sue Heller was top scorer with 21 for the Gaels. In the junior varsity contest, Eau Claire's Melinda Flowers scored 14 of her team's 18 points in a 18-17 win over the Gaels.

Julie Baiers and Renee Detwiler scored 15 and 12 points, respectively, in leading Watervliet to an easy home-floor win over New Buffalo. Baiers also had nine rebounds. Kathy Lawton pulled down seven caroms for the Panthers.

BH's Parrish Takes Fourth

Benton Harbor's Mike Parrish finished a strong fourth in a Lake Michigan Athletic Conference cross country jamboree held at Benton township park Tuesday.

Muskegon's Mike Fick finished first in 17:32 and Parrish was fourth in 17:49. The Tigers' Steve Hudson placed 18th.

Muskegon Mona Shores nipped Traverse City for first place. Mona Shores had 39 points, Traverse City 40, Muskegon 66, Benton Harbor 96 and Muskegon Catholic 128. Grand Haven did not participate.

Washington Ties Winning 'Streak'

Caps, Rockies Post NHL Victories

LANDOVER, Md. (AP) — One game into the new National Hockey League season, the Washington Capitals already have tied their longest winning streak in history.

Hartland Monahan's power play goal at 18:12 of the final period, his second score of the game, gave the Caps a 6-5 victory over the Atlanta Flames Tuesday night as the NHL began its 60th season with upsets by the two worst teams of the past two years.

Launching a new franchise in Denver after two wretched seasons as the Kansas City Scouts, the Colorado Rockies upended the Toronto Maple Leafs 4-2 to complete a most improbable opening night parlay.

Three games are on tonight's schedule, with Vancouver at Pittsburgh, Los Angeles at Cleveland, and the New York Rangers entertaining Minnesota. Montreal's defending Stanley Cup champions and runner-up Philadelphia both open at home on Thursday's six-game card.

Washington set 11 negative NHL records while winning only eight games in its inaugural 1974-75 season, and Kansas City scrambled to win 15. Last year, the Caps upped their victory total to 11, and the Scouts dipped to 12.

But it's a new season and, for one day at least, the league's newest expansion teams are atop the standings.

For the Caps, who didn't win last season until the 10th game, it was the 20th victory of their NHL existence and they have a chance to set a club winning streak record of two at Detroit Thursday night.

"Winning the first game doesn't mean anything," insisted Washington Coach Tom McVie, who replaced Milt Schmidt as coach last December. "We're going to prepare as best we can for 80 games."

For Coach Fred Creighton of the Flames, who allowed Washington only four goals while beating the Caps four times last year, it was a bitter defeat.

"We played a fair game," he said, "but they capitalized on their chances better than we did — and we had a lot more chances."

Washington goalie Bernie Wolfe turned aside nine shots by the Flames in the first three minutes before Washington's first attempt, by Monahan, slipped past Phil Myre and into the Atlanta nets.

Washington led 2-1 after the first period and 4-3 after the second before Atlanta rallied to tie the score 5-5 on goals by Guy Chouinard and Ken Houston during a 75-second span midway through the final period.

But a hooking penalty on Bill Clement, a former Washington player who had a goal and an assist, enabled the Caps to cash in on the power play after three previous feeble attempts.

At Denver, wing Wilf Paiement assisted on Colorado's two first-period goals and then pumped in one of his own in the final period to put the game out of reach.

Goalie Doug Favell, recently purchased from Toronto, beat his old mates despite leg cramps which caused him to leave the ice for four minutes in the third period.

Paiement set up goals by Larry Skinner and Dave Hudson, with the other Colorado tally coming from Nelson Pyatt. Errol Thompson and Bob Neely hit for Toronto.

B. Harbor Is Alone Atop LMAC

Benton Harbor's girls basketball team took over sole possession of first place in the LMAC with a 45-31 victory over Muskegon Catholic at the Tigers' gym Tuesday night.

The Tigers now stand undefeated through four conference games and 5-2 overall. Muskegon Catholic drops to 1-3 in the league.

After being down 13-2 in the first quarter, the Tigers came back to only trail by a 20-19 score at the half. "We started driving towards the basket more in the second quarter," commented head coach Judy Brooks. "Before we were just passing it around to set up the offense."

Then in the third quarter, Benton Harbor effectively cut off Catholic's top scorer, center Sharon Mack, and took a 27-21 lead after three stanzas.

Mack took game high scoring honors with 20 points. Dorothy Logan netted 14 for the Tigers while Robin Walker had 10 and Sheryl Finley eight. Walker was the team's leading rebounder with 20 boards.

Rangers' Goins Nets 55 Points

Edwardsburg and River Valley's girls basketball teams remained tied for the Blossomland league lead at 3-0, but Cassopolis' Billy Goins stole most of the limelight in Tuesday night's conference action.

Goins hit a school record 55 points to lead the Rangers past Coloma 95-32 at home. The Eddie's ran their overall mark to 6-0 with a 55-27 road win over Brandywine while the Mustangs topped Dowagiac 60-34 at the Chiefs' floor to also run their record to 6-0.

In the other conference game, Buchanan squeezed passed Lakeshore 48-41 at Buchanan.

Goins scored 21 points in the first and fourth quarters to help the Rangers, now 1-2 in the league, gain their fourth win in six games. It breaks the old school mark of 50 points set last year in a tournament game by her sister, Denise.

Grethen Hawthorne added 14 points and Kim Danzey 11 for Cassopolis. Cindy Culver had eight points to lead Coloma, now 2-5 overall and 0-3 in the Bud.

Sue Catto scored 23 points to help the Eddie's down the Bobcats. Patty Reed added 11 and Margo Runkle 10 for Edwardsburg. Teresa Duncan was Brandywine's leading scorer with 11 points.

"We got off to a bad start and missed the easy shots," groaned Bobcats' coach Jim Carter. "Then we had to gamble."

River Valley got hot from the floor in its game against Dowagiac. "We shot 49 per cent and that's the best our kids have shot all year," said Valley coach Fred Knut.

Deb Landin of the Mustangs led all scorers with 22 points while teammates Wendy Schwark and Ruth Simmons each added 10. Deb Schonbok had 13 for the Chiefs, now 2-4 this season and 0-3 in the league.

Washington Ties Winning 'Streak'

Caps, Rockies Post NHL Victories

LANDOVER, Md. (AP) —
One game into the new National Hockey League season, the Washington Capitals already have tied their longest winning streak in history.

Hartland Monahan's power play goal at 18:12 of the final period, his second score of the game, gave the Caps a 6-5 victory over the Atlanta Flames
Tuesday night as the NHL began its 60th season with up-sets by the two worst teams of the past two years.

Launching a new franchise in Denver after two wretched seasons as the Kansas City Scouts, the Colorado Rockies upended the Toronto Maple Leafs 4-2 to complete a most improbable opening night parlay.

Three games are on tonight's schedule, with Vancouver at Pittsburgh, Los Angeles at Cleveland, and the New York Rangers entertaining Minnesota. Montreal's defending Stanley Cup champions and runner-up Philadelphia both open at home on Thursday's six-game card.

Washington set 11 negative
NHL records while winning only eight games in its inaugural 1974-75 season, and Kansas City scrambled to win 15. Last year, the Caps upped their victory total to 11, and the Scouts dipped to 12.

But it's a new season and, for one day at least, the league's newest expansion teams are atop the standings.

For the Caps, who didn't win last season until the 10th game, it was the 20th victory of their NHL existence and they have a chance to set a club winning streak record of two at Detroit Thursday night.

"Winning the first game doesn't mean anything," insisted Washington Coach Tom McVie, who replaced Milt Schmidt as coach last December. "We're going to prepare as best we can for 80 games."

For Coach Fred Creighton of the Flames, who allowed Washington only four goals while beating the Caps four times last year, it was a bitter defeat.

"We played a fair game," he said, "but they capitalized on their chances better than we did — and we had a lot more chances."

Washington goalie Bernie Wolfe turned aside nine shots by the Flames in the first three minutes before Washington's first attempt, by Monahan, slipped past Phil Myre and into the Atlanta nets.

Washington led 2-1 after the first period and 4-3 after the second before Atlanta rallied to tie the score 5-5 on goals by Guy Chouinard and Ken Houston during a 75-second span midway through the final period.

But a hooking penalty on Bill Clement, a former Washington player who had a goal and an assist, enabled the Caps to cash in on the power play after three previous feeble attempts.

At Denver, wing Will Paient assisted on Colorado's two first-period goals and then pumped in one of his own in the final period to put the game out of reach.

Goalie Doug Favell, recently purchased from Toronto, beat his old mates despite leg cramps which caused him to leave the ice for four minutes in the third period.

Paient set up goals by Larry Skinner and Dave Hudson, with the other Colorado tally coming from Nelson Pyatt.
Errol Thompson and Bob Neely hit for Toronto.

B. Harbor Is Alone Atop LMAC

Benton Harbor's girls basketball team took over sole possession of first place in the LMAC with a 45-31 victory over Muskegon Catholic at the Tigers' gym Tuesday night.

The Tigers now stand undefeated through four conference games and 5-2 overall. Muskegon Catholic drops to 1-3 in the league.

After being down 13-2 in the first quarter, the Tigers came back to only trail by a 20-19 score at the half. "We started driving towards the basket more in the second quarter," commented head coach Judy Brooks. "Before we were just passing it around to set up the offense."

Then in in the third quarter, Benton Harbor effectively cut off Catholic's top scorer, center Sharon Mack, and took a 27-21 lead after three stanzas.

Mack took game high scoring honors with 20 points. Dorothy

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cincinnati Reds Manager Sparky Anderson is giving the Philadelphia Phillies something to think about. He's put a "Top Secret" stamp on his pitching plans for this weekend's National League playoffs.

Anderson says he will not name his starting pitcher until Friday night, less than 24 hours before the best-of-five showdown gets under way in Philadelphia.

"I know right now who it will be, but I'm not saying," Anderson said Tuesday as the NL West champions returned to work after a day off. "I'll name all three Friday."

Philadelphia Manager Danny Ozark has named veteran left-hander Steve Carlton, 20-7, as his opening-game pitcher.

Anderson had planned a right-handed rotation of Pat Zachry, Gary Nolan and Jack Billingham to offset the Phillies' right-handed hitting power. Billingham, however, suffered an undetermined injury to his throwing arm in the season finale and his status is uncertain.

Right-handed pitchers gave the Phillies fits at the end of the season, when they dropped 24 of 28 games and nearly blew a 1½-game lead over Pittsburgh.

"All their power is right-handed," explained Tony Perez. "They saw nothing but right-handers in the last month and that's why they nearly went down. That's what Sparky is thinking, too."

Anderson's starting choice reportedly is between Zachry, a rookie who won 14 games, and left-hander Don Gullett, whose late-season surge has buoyed the pitching staff.

On paper, some say the Phillies have the stronger starting staff, headed by three-time 20-game winner Carlton, Jim Lumborg, Tom Underwood and Larry Christenson.

"They might have better starters," said Perez, "but we're going to score runs. The Philadelphia park is one of the best to hit in."

The Phillies won seven of 12 games with the Reds, but Joe Morgan missed five of the early meetings. With Morgan in the lineup, the Reds swept the last three, setting off some verbal fireworks in the Phillies' clubhouse.

Philadelphia Manager Danny Ozark growled: "We proved they aren't as good as they think they are. They think they are superhumans."

GOT IT! Northern Michigan flanker Maurice Mitchell, a former Bangor high school all-star, made this finger tip catch in the Wildcats' 28-6 victory over Eastern Michigan last Saturday. Mitchell caught six passes overall for 69 yards while raising his four-year NMU marks to 88 catches for 1,655 yards, both school career records.

Rogers Calls Wolverine Rivalry 'An Opportunity'

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan State head football coach Darrell Rogers, an optimist, says he considers every problem "an opportunity."

If so, then Saturday's game against intrastate rival Michigan is one heck of an opportunity.

"We have an opportunity to play the No. 1 team in the nation," Rogers said, looking at the bright side. "Four hundred and ninety teams don't have them on the schedule."

"Of course," he acknowledged, "four hundred and eighty-five are darned glad."

The Spartans, 1-2-1 on the season, figure to be massive underdogs in Ann Arbor as they face the powerful Wolverines. And Rogers admits Michigan State must play perfectly — AND THE U-M must make a lot of mistakes — if they're going to have a chance at an upset.

"Our running attack has to do something if we're going to win," he began, adding the offense must improve "in every phase."

"We have to stop what they do best, be at an emotionally high peak and not make mistakes and hope they make them," he concluded.

The Spartan defense came up with its best game of the year last week in the 24-6 loss to Notre Dame. But the offense — which had shined previously — bogged down. Quarterback Ed Smith had a mediocre day passing, receivers dropped the ball and there was little blocking by the forward wall.

Meanwhile, Rogers called Michigan "not bad" — and then dropped the sarcasm to allow how the Wolverines were "awesome ... a great team ... They're only getting better."

But, he said, "I think somebody can beat Michigan." He was quickly challenged by sportswriters, who demanded: "This year? By anyone one their schedule?"

"If we don't, I don't know who could," Rogers declared.

Next 3 Bears' Games Sellouts

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Bears today announced that their next three National Football League home games are sellouts and as a result will be televised locally.

The sellouts are Oct. 31 against Minnesota, Nov. 7 against Oakland and Nov. 14 against Green Bay.

The Bears announced they still have 7,000 tickets left for their season finale against Denver Dec. 12.

Phils Won't Change Style For Playoffs

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Manager Danny Ozark of the Philadelphia Phillies doesn't like baseball's playoff system, but has definite ideas on approaching the best-of-five game series that decides the World Series opponents.

Just play it like a regular-season game, he says.

"You have to take the same outlook that you had all year," Ozark explained Tuesday at a workout in preparation for Saturday's National League playoff opener with the Cincinnati Reds. "You have to forget that it's a short series. The main thing is to execute fundamentals the way you have all year, throw to the right base, keep the double play in order, take the extra base."

"I've seen pitchers change their delivery entirely (for the playoff), guys who won 18, 19, 20 games. The catcher plays a big part. He has to resist not calling for the curve ball, because he wants to throw out a runner."

The hitter will be thinking with the catcher, looking for the same thing. We can't change our pattern on a hitter."

Ozark said further, "a runner can't say to himself that he's not going to steal because Johnny Bench is catching and has a great arm, and he can't steal against him." The Phillies' manager says that he has to take the same chances he took during the regular season.

"You can't immobilize a whole squad by changing the way you did things for 162 games," Ozark said. "You have to play a normal game."

Ozark dismissed the idea that the Phillies would be nervous because it's their first playoff, while the Reds are old hands at post-season competition and better equipped to handle the inherent pressures.

"If a player isn't nervous he doesn't belong on this ballclub," Ozark declared. "It's no more than like opening day. Cincinnati will be just as nervous as we are, I don't care how many times you've done it. I think players thrive on pressure. They get stronger, run faster, throw harder."

Ozark has long been an opponent of baseball's playoff system because "the weaker team might beat the best team in a short series. It might come down to the second-best team in the National League meeting the best in the American. Or the two second-best meeting for the (World Series) championship."

The first two games of the NL playoff will be held in Philadelphia Saturday and Sunday and then the series will shift to Cincinnati for as many games as needed next week.

Once again, Jeff Callender led the Bears across the finish line in 16:08. Other St. Joe runners included Bruce Goodwin, third; John Dine, fourth; Rex Fitzekam, seventh; and Roger Bergman, eighth.

St. Joe's junior varsity beat Holland's jayvees 19-41. The Bears' Pat High was first.

China A-Blast Fallout Hits U.S.

By JAMES H. RUBIN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Radioactive fallout from a recent Chinese atomic explosion is not a threat to public health in the United States, federal officials say.
Nonetheless, public health specialists in some states urged citizens to wash homegrown fruit and vegetables before eating them.

Officials said the Chinese announced the blast on Sept. 26. The radioactive cloud from China then crossed the Pacific and was detected in the northwestern United States last Saturday and in the East the following day.

An Environmental Protection Agency spokesman said the radioactive dust was brought to earth along the East Coast by the lack of air circulation and heavy rainfall.

The fallout also has prompted health officials to watch for possible contamination of milk, because cows that eat grass contaminated with radiation can store the fallout for a time.

Officials stressed that there was no reason to fear that drinking milk would cause problems. Dr. Bernard Cohen of the University of Pittsburgh's Scaife Nuclear Laboratory said the risk of drinking a cup of milk was about the same as spending 20 minutes in Colorado, which has naturally high radiation levels due to its elevation.

James Liverman, assistant administrator of the U.S. Energy Research and Development Administration, said Tuesday "the levels of fallout that have occurred do not present any risk to public health and safety. I don't believe there is any need for concern."
He said the fallout only reached about 4 or 5 per cent of the level at which Environmental Protection Agency guidelines recommend that some precautions be taken.
Liverman said the figure was based on measurements at the Peach Bottom nuclear power plant in southeastern Pennsylvania where fallout was first detected Sunday.

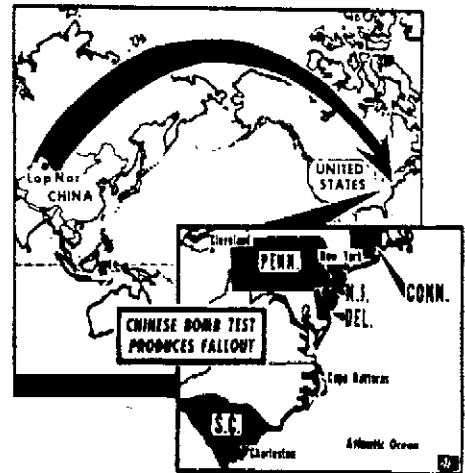

Officials in Maryland, New York and Pennsylvania said garden vegetables and fruits should be rinsed with tap water, a common precaution in any event.
Tiny increases in radiation were also detected in Oregon, Washington and Michigan. But officials there said no special precautions were warranted.
When it announced the nuclear blast, China said it was a response to a call by its Communist party to turn "grief into strength" following the death of Chairman Mao Tse-tung last month.
The explosion at Lop Nor in western China was the 19th by the Chinese in 12 years. China is not a party to the nuclear non-proliferation treaty signed by the United States, the Soviet Union and other nations.

U.S. Auto Sales Top '75 Levels

By MICHAEL L. GRACZYK
Associated Press Writer
DETROIT (AP) — The nation's auto industry has reported a 9.2 per cent increase in domestic car sales over year-ago levels, with Chrysler leading the way with a 35 per cent sales climb.
Ford Motor Co., idled since Sept. 15 because of a strike by the United Auto Workers Union, said its sales for September rose 12 per cent, while General Motors Corp. reported a 7 per cent increase. American Motors Corp. continued its sales slump, posting a 47 per cent plunge during the 25 selling days.
Figures released Tuesday by the four major U.S. carmakers showed delivery of 644,423 cars, compared with 590,323 in September 1975. Both months included 25 selling days. The percentages are based on a daily rate of 25,777, compared to 23,613 a year ago. The period record of 31,397 was achieved in 1973.
For the year-to-date, sales of 6,401,128 cars were 28 per cent ahead of the 5,022,257 sold in the same period a year ago. One more selling day was included in this year's figures. The daily rate is the industry guideline for determining sales.

FALLOUT REPORTED: Low amounts of radioactive fallout have sprinkled on several Eastern Seaboard areas as result of a Sept. 26 nuclear bomb test in China, federal and state officials disclosed Tuesday. Radiation Count Is Higher In Michigan, Too

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A state radiology expert says tests have detected an increase in radiation fallout since the Sept. 26 detonation of a nuclear bomb in China.
Donald E. Van Farowe, chief of Michigan's radiological health division, said readings Monday and Tuesday showed five micro-curies per cubic meter, compared to .38 micro-curies last Saturday and Sunday, and 2 micro-curies Thursday and Friday.
Van Farowe said fallout levels normally increase in autumn months, but he added that the Monday and Tuesday readings probably were due to the Chinese explosion.
The state will know for sure, he said, by the end of the week when regular weekly tests performed on food, milk, water and other air samples are complete.
Van Farowe said fallout levels so far this year are estimated to have remained around 1.5 to 2 micro-curies.
He added that levels recorded in Michigan have been as high as 98.2 in 1961, though the highest average levels of between 10 and 12 were recorded in 1958, 1959, and 1961-63.
Since 1965, he said, levels have averaged between 1.5 and 3.

Bus Safety Up 'Dramatically'

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The safety of Michigan's school buses has dramatically improved over the past five years, according to the Department of Education. Five years ago the state's fleet of buses received a C-plus rating during an annual inspection. This year, the more than 12,000 buses are expected to get an A-plus rating, said John Porter, state superintendent of public instruction. Porter said that in the 1969-70 school year, about 83 per cent of the state's 9,778 buses passed the inspection held by the state Board of Education and State Police. Last year, 11,793 of 12,470 — about 95 per cent — passed. Porter said he believed this year the rating will be even better. Porter made his comments in a statement about National School Bus Safety Week.

MAYAGUEZ MISSION UNDER STUDY: U.S. military assault of an island off Cambodia in the Mayaguez rescue mission last year was ordered despite pilots' reports that most of the crew of the merchant vessel were not there, a congressional study said in Washington Tuesday. GOP Blasts Mayaguez Report

By JIM ADAMS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans are complaining about the timing and content of a congressional report that criticizes the handling of the Mayaguez incident.

The General Accounting Office, in a report issued Tuesday, said Marines were ordered to invade a Cambodian island and rescue crewmen from the captured cargo ship, despite reports that the crewmen were no longer on the island.

The report also said intelligence information incorrectly indicated the island would be defended by about 20 Cambodian soldiers, but the Marines landing on the island were met by fire from about 150 heavily armed men.

Eighteen Marines were killed or listed as missing as a result of the assault on May 15, 1975, and 23 Air Force men were killed in a helicopter crash two days earlier.

The report, released by the House international political and military affairs subcommittee, said the Cambodians began releasing the crewmen from another location while the attack on the island was starting.

Shortly after the release of the report, President Ford's press secretary, Ron Nessen, said Ford disagrees with the conclusions. He said Ford "carried out the actions in the Mayaguez case and believed they were right."

Rep. Larry Winn Jr. of Kansas, one of two Republican members of the House subcommittee that released the report, noted that the document was released the day before Ford and Democratic presidential nominee Jimmy Carter were to debate foreign policy.

Winn said the report raised generally legitimate questions but he said he had been told by a subcommittee staff member it would not be released until after the election "because it could — they didn't think so, but it could — become a political issue."

But Rep. Dante Fascell, D-Fla., chairman of the subcommittee, said timing of the release "was never a question." He said the report had been held up by the National Security Council, which is controlled by the White House, because of a dispute over what portions of the report should be seen by the public.

Fascell said the NSC had at first wanted to keep the entire report secret, but the subcommittee had refused.

Arabs Walk Out Of IMF Meeting

By ARNOLD ZEITLIN
Associated Press Writer

MANILA, The Philippines (AP) — In the first overtly political moves of the International Monetary Fund (IMF) World Bank meeting, Arabs and some Africans walked out today before a speech by an Israeli, and Pakistan demanded admission of China and expulsion of Taiwan.

seats just before Moshe Sanbar, governor of the Bank of Israel, started his address. The Syrian co-chairman of the session, Minister of Finance Sadek Ayoubi and Minister of Economy and Foreign Trade Mohammed Imady, also left the podium before Sanbar's speech and returned after he finished.

Sanbar did not mention the walkout. He did refer to an opening speech Monday by Ayoubi, saying he joined the chairman in the hope that a "just peace in the Middle East could become a cornerstone for economic and social prosperity of the region."

Minister of Finance Mohammed Hanif Khan of Pakistan earlier urged that "the lawful rights" of Communist China be restored in the IMF and World Bank.

Pakistan, which often has spoken for Peking in international forums, was the first to raise the two-China issue here. The Chinese sent a message before the opening of the conference to remind it that the assets and interests of China in the fund belonged to Peking.

IMF managing director Dr. H. Johannes Witteveen said the fund directors would discuss the question after the meeting ends.

Pakistan was supported by India and Nepal.

IMF and World Bank officials said they have asked Peking at least twice if it wishes to join the two organizations, but have never received a reply.

Pakistan and India also pressed for greater power for developing countries within the two international agencies.

GOP Blasts Mayaguez Report

By JIM ADAMS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans are complaining about the timing and content of a congressional report that criticizes the handling of the Mayaguez incident.

The General Accounting Office, in a report issued Tuesday, said Marines were ordered to invade a Cambodian island and rescue crewmen from the captured cargo ship, despite reports that the crewmen were no longer on the island.

The report also said intelligence information incorrectly indicated the island would be defended by about 20 Cambodian soldiers, but the Marines landing on the island were met by fire from about 150 heavily armed men.

Eighteen Marines were killed or listed as missing as a result of the assault on May 15, 1975, and 23 Air Force men were killed in a helicopter crash two days earlier.

The report, released by the House international political and military affairs subcommittee, said the Cambodians began releasing the crewmen from another location while the attack on the island was starting.

Shortly after the release of the report, President Ford's press secretary, Ron Nessen, said Ford disagrees with the conclusions. He said Ford "carried out the actions in the Mayaguez case and believed they were right."

Rep. Larry Winn Jr. of Kansas, one of two Republican members of the House subcommittee that released the report, noted that the document was released the day before Ford and Democratic presidential nominee Jimmy Carter were to debate foreign policy.

"I'm sorry that someone saw fit to release it now, because I was told it wouldn't be released until after the election," Winn said.

Winn said the report raised generally legitimate questions, but he said he had been told by a subcommittee staff member it would not be released until after the election "because it could — they didn't think so, but it could — become a political issue."

But Rep. Dante Fascell, D-Fla., chairman of the subcommittee, said timing of the release "was never a question." He said the report had been held up by the National Security Council, which is controlled by the White House, because of a dispute over what portions of the report should be seen by the public.

MAYAGUEZ MISSION UNDER STUDY: U.S. military assault of an island off Cambodia in the Mayaguez rescue mission last year was ordered despite pilots' reports that most of the crew of the merchant vessel were not there, a congressional study said in Washington Tuesday. The Mayaguez is shown here at Singapore after the incident. (AP Wirephoto)

Arabs Walk Out Of IMF Meeting

By ARNOLD ZEITLIN
Associated Press Writer

NILA. The Philippines — In the first overtly political move of the International Monetary Fund (IMF) Bank meeting, Arabs and Africans walked out today after a speech by an Israeli, Pakistan demanded admission of China and expulsion of an.

seats just before Moshe Sanbar, governor of the Bank of Israel, started his address. The Syrian co-chairmen of the session, Minister of Finance Sadek Ayoubi and Minister of Economy and Foreign Trade Mohammed Imady, also left the podium before Sanbar's speech and returned after he finished.

It was announced that the two had left to attend a meeting.

Minister of Finance Mohammed Hanif Khan of Pakistan earlier urged that "the lawful rights" of Communist China be restored in the IMF and World Bank.

Pakistan, which often has spoken for Peking in international forums, was the first to raise the two-China issue here. The Chinese sent a message before the opening of the conference to remind it that the assets and interests of China in the fund belonged to Peking.

IMF managing director Dr. H. Johannes Witteveen said the fund directors would discuss the question after the meeting ends.

Pakistan was supported by India and Nepal.

IMF and World Bank officials said they have asked Peking at least twice if it wishes to join the two organizations, but have never received a reply.

Pakistan and India also pressed for greater power for developing countries within the two international agencies.

Congress Votes

BY CONGRESSIONAL QUARTERLY

WASHINGTON — Votes of area members of Congress on key roll calls for the week ending Sept. 30 were:

HOUSE

Federal Lobbying. — By a 148-202 vote the House refused to delay consideration of a bill to overhaul the federal government's 30-year-old lobbying disclosure law. Delaying the bill probably would have killed it for the year.

The bill subsequently passed the House overwhelmingly, however, the measure died because of another procedural logjam engineered by opponents in the rush for an Oct. 2 adjournment. Backers promised to bring the bill up again early next year.

The proposed law would have required organizations engaged in lobbying members of Congress and other high-level government officials to register annually and file reports every three months listing their activities and expenses.

Supporters of the disclosure bill contended the public has a right to know who is working to affect government decisions, what they are doing and how much they are spending. They argued that current law does not require enough information and is virtually unenforceable.

Opponents of the bill held that it was too broad in its definition of who is a lobbyist, was a possible infringement on First Amendment rights of free speech and was being pushed through the final stages of the legislative process with too much haste.

Voting to delay consideration of the lobbying disclosure bill: Brown (R); Vander Jagt (R); Rhodes (Minority Leader).

Not voting: Conyers (D); Hutchinson (R).

Offshore Oil Production. — The House decided, by a narrow margin of four votes, to kill a measure changing the manner in which offshore federally-owned oil and gas resources are leased to private industry for development. The vote was 188-194 and came on a motion to send the bill back to a House-Senate conference committee, which in effect kills it for the rest of the year.

Supporters of the bill argued that present leasing procedures need to be revised to give coastal states a larger voice in these decisions, to ensure that more attention is given to the environmental effects of offshore oil development and to encourage more competition among oil companies in bidding for these leases. They also said the bill was needed to ensure that the price paid to the federal treasury for these leases reflected the fair value of the resources located on them.

Opponents of the bill said that the present leasing system was a good one and that the changes which this bill would make would result in considerably unnecessary delay in developing these oil and gas resources. They also charged that certain provisions, by allowing for federal exploration of offshore areas, would shift the high cost of oil exploration from the oil companies to the taxpayer. This, they warned, would be a windfall for the oil industry and might open the way for the federal government to move in to the oil business.

Voting to kill offshore oil leasing bill: Brown (R); Hutchinson (R); Vander Jagt (R); Rhodes (Minority Leader).

Voting against killing offshore oil leasing bill: Blanchard (D); Conyers (D); O'Neill (Majority Leader).

Labor-HEW Funds. — The House voted 312-93 to override President Ford's veto of a bill appropriating $36.6 billion for the Departments of Labor and Health, Education and Welfare for fiscal year 1977. The vote margin in the House was 42 more than the two-thirds majority needed to override a veto.

Backers of the President's veto argued that the bill would mandate spending $4 billion more than Ford had requested in his budget. They charged that such spending would be inflationary and that the bill had made no attempt to cut wasteful programs.

Opponents of the veto charged that Ford's budget request had made no allowance for increased costs and would have cut $2 billion from existing programs.

Voting to override veto of Labor-HEW appropriations bill: Blanchard (D); Conyers (D); O'Neill (Majority Leader).

Voting to sustain veto of Labor-HEW appropriations bill: Brown (R); Hutchinson (R); Vander Jagt (R); Rhodes (Minority Leader).

SENATE

Labor-HEW Funds. — The Senate followed the lead of the House and overrode Ford's veto of the $36.6 billion Labor-Health, Education and Welfare appropriations bill. The vote was 87-15, 12 more than the two-thirds majority necessary to override a presidential veto. The bill became law automatically after the Senate action.

Voting to override veto of Labor-HEW appropriations bill: none.

Not voting: Hart (D).

Automotive Research Veto. — By a 41-35 vote the Senate failed to override Ford's veto of a bill that would have pumped $100 million in federal funds into development of pollution-free, energy-efficient automobile engines. The vote was 10 short of the two-thirds majority necessary to override a veto. The Senate action killed the bill for the session.

In rejecting the measure Ford called it a wasteful expense that would only duplicate existing efforts by government and industry to develop engine alternatives. Further, he warned that the $100 million startup program would be only the first step in "a massive spending program" by the federal government.

Supporters of the bill contended that it was necessary to stimulate what had been a sluggish engine development effort in the private sector. They said their bill would "supplement but not supplant" the private effort.

Earlier in the day, the House had voted to override the veto by a 293-102 vote, 29 more than needed.

Voting to override veto of automotive research bill: none.

Not Voting: Hart (D).

CB Business Good For 'Shady Lady'

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Truck drivers tuned to citizens band radios know her as Shady Lady. That's the "handle" of a young woman with a new twist on the world's oldest profession. She cruises the interstates around this Ohio River city, and uses her car's CB mike to solicit 10-minute interludes with truckers at a charge of about $25.

Shady Lady, who asked that her real name not be made public, said she knows of no other woman in the area "working" from CB radios, although she's heard of others elsewhere in the country.

Shady Lady, in her early 30s, said that for the past seven months, she's earned a living entirely with her CB. She said she averages at least 10 customers, all truckers, on a dusk-to-dawn shift. And she reports earnings as high as $500 a night and works five nights a week, taking weekends off.

Shady Lady says she worked a lot of hotels and truck stops before discovering the ease of getting business via CB radio. Working with the CB has kept her out of trouble with the law, a relief from the hassles she had to endure on the hotel circuit, she said.

report on the presence of police vehicles on the road.

When a trucker answers, Shady Lady said, he usually asks, "Where are you going tonight?"

"I'm headed for Cincinnati," she'll say. "You want to pull over for a cup of coffee?"

"Sure," the trucker responds. "How much does the coffee cost?"

Then the driver describes his rig and they agree to meet at the nearest stopping place. She said she usually arrives first, watches him pull in, walks over and identifies herself. A lot of truckers are repeat customers, she says.

CB Business Good For 'Shady Lady'

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Truck drivers tuned to citizens band radios know her as Shady Lady. That's the "handle" of a young woman with a new twist on the world's oldest profession. She cruises the interstates around this Ohio River city, and uses her car's CB mike to solicit 10-minute interludes with truckers at a charge of about $25.

Shady Lady, who asked that her real name not be made public, said she knows of no other woman in the area "working" from CB radios, although she's heard of others elsewhere in the country.

Shady Lady, in her early 20s, said that for the past seven months, she's earned a living entirely with her CB. She said she averages at least 10 customers, all truckers, on a dusk-to-dawn shift. And she reports earnings as high as $500 a night and works five nights a week, taking weekends off.

Shady Lady says she worked a lot of hotels and truck stops before discovering the ease of getting business via CB radio. Working with the CB has kept her out of trouble with the law, a relief from the hassles she had to endure on the hotel circuit, she said.

"This is Shady Lady," she begins. "Give me a break on channel 19 for a southbound smoke report." A smoke report in CB terminology is a report on the presence of police vehicles on the road. When a trucker answers, Shady Lady said, he usually asks, "Where are you going tonight?"

"Sure," the trucker responds. "How much does the coffee cost?"

Then the driver describes his rig and they agree to meet at the nearest stopping place. She said she usually arrives first, watches him pull in, walks over and identifies herself. A lot of truckers are repeat customers, she says.

Shady Lady said she never makes dates with "four wheelers," regular passenger cars, because they lack the needed facilities.

Gallup Keeps Tabs On Nation's Pulse

By DEBRA GAYNOR
Morris Connally Record
PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — Life isn't always easy for the man who keeps tabs on the pulse of the nation.

Sometimes George Gallup Jr., president of the Gallup poll, gets letters from citizens whose hearts don't beat the way the pollster says they're supposed to.

But Gallup says that in presidential elections his projections have deviated from national vote figures by a maximum of 1.2 per cent in any year since 1950.

Of course, that doesn't take into account the 1948 election. When Gallup stopped surveying by mid-October, Harry Truman was trailing in the polls and Thomas E. Dewey looked like the winner. Gallup says that was the only time the poll has ever predicted a presidential election winner incorrectly.

Gallup does have to revise his poll results every once in awhile, too. For example, over the weekend Gallup said that Gallup polls in late August and early September underestimated Jimmy Carter's lead in the presidential race by about three percentage points. He said this was discovered when a larger vote sample for the period in question was tallied.

And he said that Gallup results released last Friday may also have to be revised. He said those results were based on interviews with 587 registered voters, a lower number than the usual 1,000 or more. The poll showed Carter with 50 points, President Ford with 42. Eight per cent were undecided.

But then there was December 1975, when Gallup drew up a list of 38 possible Democratic presidential nominees, and Jimmy Carter's name wasn't on the list.

"Carter caught a lot of us unaware, including the Gallup poll," said Gallup.

A question Gallup hears frequently is: "How come I've never been polled?"

About 1,500 people, he says, are interviewed for each survey. "Even if we interviewed

Virtually all the interviews are done in person and usually on a Saturday, Gallup says. Mail survey returns are poor, and telephone interviews tend to reach older people that are more conservative and more religious services in a typical week, that attendance is high among Catholics and low among young people.

"Religion is performing a vital role in this country," he said. "It's the glue that binds Democracy together."

Gallup polls also show the nation's youth is politically apathetic, with only half of people aged 18-to-29 registered to vote.

On the mood of the nation, Gallup says there has been a shift toward conservatism. Some signs of this are that parents favor a return to discipline in schools and that support for capital punishment is at its highest level in 25 years.

Gallup says his polls don't influence the presidential election vote.

"The polls don't affect voter participation or choice," he says. "If our polls influenced voters, when we show a man leading he'd go on leading. That isn't necessarily true."

"I would debate whether the public can be swayed," he says. "They're extremely cynical about politics."

Without attempting to predict the outcome of the Ford-Carter debate on foreign policy, it seems probable that international affairs will be a low item on the agenda of the average voter on Nov. 2. The best definition of the typical American attitude on defense is that we should be the toughest nation in the world — but not get into fights off our turf. This Continental Patriotism is reflected in the platforms of both parties.

Each candidate also has his own set of problems. Ford, who hastily abandoned the term "détente" in his primary fight with Ronald Reagan, is vulnerable to the charge that we have been taken for a ride by the Soviets. He could, of course, say that everything is great and he can be counted on to clean up the mess.

Of course, Gene McCarthy will be lurking out there somewhere, labeling the two candidates peas from the same pod. While his nationwide appeal will be slight, McCarthy could hurt Carter badly in certain key states. In 1948 Henry Wallace only racked up 2.4 per cent of the total vote, but cost Truman New York, Michigan and (arguably) Maryland. (If Wallace hadn't been kept off the Illinois ballot on a legal pretext, Dewey would have won another 28 electoral votes. And California almost went to Dewey via Wallace.)

Another reason Carter has to walk a tightrope is that the kind of issue that works up articulate liberals can turn off workers. Recently in San Diego Jimmy gave a first-class speech on the menace of nuclear proliferation and current American policy of passing out reactors like peanuts. The production of nuclear technology, however, is a capital-intensive operation — relatively few workers would be laid off if we clamped down.

But what about nuclear proliferation's little brother — the incredible American arms sales abroad. The Shah of Iran's plans to establish hegemony in the Persian Gulf alone should put half the "military-industrial" workers in Southern California, Texas and Washington state on overtime for the next decade. In macropolitical terms, arms sales are strictly a no-win issue. Of course, since Ford has been selling the stuff (or, more specifically, authorizing its sale), he has no interest in discouraging on the matter — except perhaps to the Machinists and the United Automobile and Aerospace Workers.

Then take the question of employing commodity embargoes for political objectives. Already this matter is of great significance to the agrarian sector of the economy (less than 3 per cent of the workforce is directly engaged in agriculture, but there is a very significant ripple effect: shippers, processors and seamen's unions, to mention only three). At this point both Ford and Carter are firmly planted in mid-air on embargoes: Ford says he wouldn't (but he has) and Carter said he wouldn't... except, maybe, sometimes. Neither candidate will move to delude into this mess.

What sane candidate, for example, would tackle what is to me the most momentous and frightening reality of our time: reliance on tactical nuclear weapons to stem a possible Warsaw Pact invasion of Europe? Given the American mood, the sensible military option — building up our conventional strength, which would require conscription — would be politically disastrous. No — scrub that and stick to the middleground of high ambiguity and faith in the Democratic Way of Life.

NEWS OF MARKETS

Market Slides Again

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market headed lower today, continuing the steep downward trend that began more than a week ago.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks lost about 4 points in early trading, and declines took a 3-2 lead over advances among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

Brokers said the market was caught up in an atmosphere of uneasiness over impending third quarter corporate earnings reports.

Many Wall Street firms have been lowering their profit estimates for many companies for the quarter because of recent sluggishness in the economy.

They also noted concern that Thursday's report from the government on wholesale price trends during September might show less favorable figures than in recent months.

Dow Chemical fell 1/2 to 40 1/2 in a 136,000-share block trade. On Tuesday the company estimated lower third quarter earnings.

On Tuesday the Dow Jones industrial average fell 11.22 points to 966.76, extending its loss for the last six sessions to more than 46 points.

Losers outnumbered gainers by about a 5-2 margin in the daily tally of NYSE trading, and the exchange's composite index was down .42 at 55.20.

The American Stock Exchange market value index was off .92 at 100.56.

Landmark Is Noted By Clark

BATTLE CREEK — Clark Equipment Company this week commemorated the production of its 500,000th industrial truck in ceremonies at the Industrial Truck Division in Battle Creek.

Clark, the world's largest manufacturer of industrial trucks, has been producing the machines since 1917. Clark estimates it has built twice as many industrial trucks as any other manufacturer in the world. On a worldwide basis, Clark has produced 625,000 industrial trucks.

Bert E. Phillips, Clark president and chief executive officer, said, "In dedicating this 500,000th Clark industrial truck, we really celebrate all 500,000 Clark trucks manufactured domestically. We are proud this milestone in the material handling industry bears the name of Clark."

Michigan Governor William G. Milliken praised Clark for pioneering the industrial truck, saying, "The name 'Clark' has, in the minds of many people throughout the world, become synonymous with industrial trucks."

The 500,000th industrial truck, a C500-30 Internal Combustion Rider, and an original 1919 Clark Tractor have been offered for display at the Smithsonian Institution in Washington, D.C.

Clark, headquartered in Buchanan, is also major producer of material handling systems, construction machinery, and axles and transmissions.

GOODWILL INDUSTRIES: ITS ACCOMPLISHMENTS

Cheryl Abney was born without arms. When she was six, she underwent surgery to her shoulders so she could use an electric arm prosthesis. But Cheryl already had learned to do almost everything for herself with her feet and had made the physical adjustment to her severe handicap without prosthetic aid.

The psychological adjustment was more difficult. She was shy, withdrawn, self-conscious, unsure of her vocational future (if any). Then in 1973, Cheryl came to Goodwill Industries of Central Indiana where vocational evaluation led to her enrollment in Goodwill's bookkeeping - office - clerical training course. As her vocational skills increased, so did her confidence in herself. During the next two years, spurred on by Goodwill, she learned to drive a car, began to wear cosmetics, was awarded a high school equivalency diploma — and became an expert typist (with her toes).

Cheryl was selected National Goodwill Worker of the Year in 1975 and early this year was hired to work in the Indianapolis offices of the U.S. Civil Service Commission.

Such success stories as Cheryl's are recorded thousands of times each year within the state-federal vocational rehabilitation programs as well as at the 161 Goodwill offices across the nation (and similar rehabilitation-oriented organizations such as United Cerebral Palsy, National Assn. for Jewish Vocational Services, National Easter Seal Society, National Assn. Retired Persons, Salvation Army).

In the words of Dr. Howard A. Rusk, pioneering director of the Institute of Medical Rehabilitation in New York City:

"The chain of health care starts with (1) the prevention of disability; (2) moves on to medical or surgical treatment to lessen or eliminate the disability; (3) then goes on to special education and vocational training which raise rehabilitated persons to their highest level of productivity; and (4) finally comes to the employment of the once unemployable individual."

The payoff is truly magnificent: — Cheryl alone is earning $6,300 as a trained typist now, is returning $964 of her earnings to the community. Just through the rehabilitation work of Goodwill Industries, $82.1 million was earned by the handicapped in 1975, of which they returned $21.3 million in federal, state and local taxes.

— The discarded materials you contribute to Goodwill are repaired by handicapped workers in the organization's workshop training facilities and retailed in their 850 stores all over the U.S. The sale of these repaired items accounts for a giant 61 per cent of the revenue needed to conduct their rehabilitation programs. Federal government grants account for a tiny 3.49 per cent.

— For every dollar invested in 400 sheltered workshops (such as Goodwill runs) society gets a return of $1.56 to $1.85, a study by Greenleaf Associates for IIRW discloses.

But the problem grows bigger, as the trend toward deinstitutionalization has brought more and more of the severely handicapped to these organizations. "The very concept of 'handicapped' has been considerably broadened and the thrust now is on the more severely disabled," emphasizes Dean Phillips, president of Goodwill Industries of America. And in "All For the Love of People," a forthcoming book on Goodwill's 75 years of service, Phillips adds:

"There just isn't enough money earmarked for vocational rehabilitation activities. For example, there are no rehabilitation services for long-term 'sheltered employment' and workshops are picking up the tab for services that the government rightly should buy."

"It amazes me that the administration seems not to realize that rehabilitation programs and education-training programs for the handicapped are an alternative to welfare," Sen. Jennings Randolph (D-W.Va.) chairman of the Senate Subcommittee on the Handicapped, told Brooke Shearer, my research associate in Washington. "Apparently, administration officials cannot realize the humanitarian impact and I regret they have failed even to realize the economic benefits involved in rehabilitation efforts at all levels."

Earnings Reported For Dow

MIDLAND, Mich. (AP) — Third-quarter earnings of the Dow Chemical Co. are expected to be between $5 cents and 50 cents a share, the company reported Tuesday.

This would represent an increase from the $4 cents reported for the second quarter of 1976, but would be down from last year's record third quarter of $1.16.

G.J. Williams, Dow financial vice president, said the slower-than-expected economic recovery in most countries of the world now seems to be extending into the fourth quarter of 1976.

"In view of this development, we do not expect that Dow's earnings for all of 1976 will exceed 1975's record earnings of $3.41 per share," Williams explained.

"Until recently we had expected a pickup in the second half. We had been hopeful that the year's earnings would be 10 per cent higher than 1975."

The 1976 earnings will reflect foreign currency translation charges of perhaps 15 to 20 cents per share, he said. Last year's earnings were affected favorably by a gain of about seven cents per share, officials said.

Williams said the 1976 performance follows "an 18 per cent profit gain in 1975 and a 94 per cent increase in 1974, which set new highs for the company."

Such success stories as Cheryl's are recorded thousands of times each year within the state-federal vocational rehabilitation programs as well as at the 161 Goodwills across the nation (and similar rehabilitation-oriented organizations such as United Cerebral Palsy, National Assn. for Jewish Vocational Services, National Easter Seal Society, National Assn. Retired Persons, Salvation Army).

In the words of Dr. Howard A. Rusk, pioneering director of the Institute of Medical Rehabilitation in New York City: "The chain of life care starts with (1) the prevention of disability; (2) moves on to medical or surgical treatment to lessen or eliminate the disability; (3) then goes on to special education and vocational training which raise rehabilitated persons to their highest level of productivity; and (4) finally comes to the employment of the once unemployable individual." The payoff is truly magnificent.

Cheryl alone is earning $6,300 as a trained typist now, is returning $964 of her earnings to the community. Just through the rehabilitation work of Goodwill Industries, $82.1 million was earned by the handicapped in 1975, of which they returned $21.3 million in federal, state and local taxes.

— The discarded materials you contribute to Goodwill are repaired by handicapped workers in the organization's workshop training facilities and retailed in their 850 stores all over the U.S. The sale of these repaired items accounts for a giant 61 per cent of the revenue needed to conduct their rehabilitation programs. Federal government grants account for a tiny 3.49 per cent.
— For every dollar invested in 400 sheltered workshops (such as Goodwill runs) society gets a return of $1.56 to $1.95, a study by Greenleigh Associates for HEW discloses.
But the problem grows bigger, as the trend toward de-institutionalization has brought more and more of the severely handicapped to these organizations. "The very concept of 'handicapped' has been considerably broadened and the thrust now is on the more severely disabled," emphasizes Dean Phillips, president of Goodwill Industries of America. And in "All For the Love of People," a forthcoming book on Goodwill's 75 years of service, Phillips adds:
"This calls for an enormous sophistication of techniques and specialization of personnel. And it's costly.
"There just isn't enough money earmarked for vocational rehabilitation activities. For example, there are no rehabilitation services for long-term 'sheltered employment' and workshops are picking up the tab for services that the government rightly should buy."
"It amazes me that the administration seems not to realize that rehabilitation programs and education-training programs for the handicapped are an alternative to welfare," Sen. Jennings Randolph (D-W.Va.) chairman of the Senate Subcommittee on the Handicapped, told Brooke Shearer, my research associate in Washington. "Apparently, administration officials cannot realize the humanitarian impact and I regret they have failed even to realize the economic benefits involved in rehabilitation efforts at all levels."

Earnings Reported For Dow

MIDLAND, Mich. (AP) — Third-quarter earnings of the Dow Chemical Co. are expected to be between 85 cents and 90 cents a share, the company reported Tuesday.

This would represent an increase from the 84 cents reported for the second quarter of 1976, but would be down from last year's record third quarter of $1.16.

G.J. Williams, Dow financial vice president, said the slower-than-expected economic recovery in most countries of the world now seems to be extending into the fourth quarter of 1976.

"In view of this development, we do not expect that Dow's earnings for all of 1976 will exceed 1975's record earnings of $3.41 per share," Williams explained.

"Until recently we had expected a pickup in the second half. We had been hopeful that the year's earnings would be 10 per cent higher than 1975."

The 1976 earnings will reflect foreign currency translation charges of perhaps 15 to 20 cents per share, he said. Last year's earnings were affected favorably by a gain of about seven cents per share, officials said.

Volkswagen Gets Keys To Plant

NEW STANTON, Pa. (AP) — Volkswagen accepted the keys to its first American assembly plant Tuesday with hopes of regaining its shrinking share of the U.S. small car market when production begins in 1978.

"We are entering the largest single car market in the world and competing with the three largest and most able car producers that exist," said VW chairman Toni Schmuecker. "It is not going to be easy, but we are confident of our success."

Volkswagen will invest up to $250 million over the next five years to regain control of the five per cent of the American small car market it enjoyed until recently.

The New Stanton plant, formerly used by Chrysler Corp., will begin producing Volkswagen's Rabbit model in the spring of 1978, and company officials expect annual output to reach 200,000 cars three years later.

TODAY'S WEATHER MAP: Mild weather is forecast today for both coasts, with seasonably cool weather expected inland. Showers are expected from the central Gulf to the Great Lakes and for parts of the northern Rockies and northern Plains. (AP Wirephoto)

INVESTORS' GUIDE

Stock Way To Cope With Inflation

By SAM SHULSKY

Q. My wife and I, in our mid-40s, are in total disagreement about investing in common stocks. The first stock we bought is now worth about one-third of what we paid. However, I feel we must gamble if we are to have anything at retirement. We earn about $20,000, have $29,000 in savings at 4½, 6 and 7½ per cent, some E bonds and $2,000 worth of common stock. We have three teenage daughters.

A. I don't know what stock you bought, or when, or why. If I did, perhaps I could discuss a 66 per cent loss.

Your letter, however, did raise three interesting points:

- 1) The ratio of $31,000 in dollars and E bonds to $2,000 in stock — hardly a balanced diet for investors in their 40s;
- 2) Your feeling that you must "gamble";
- 3) $15,000 kept in savings at only 4½ per cent.

I take it your wife does not favor investment in common shares. That does not make her unique by any means. She is entitled to her opinion. But as a mother it is also her duty to face up to the fact that tuition costs for your girls are rising steadily and by far more than 4½ or 6 or 7½ per cent a year. And retirement costs for yourselves two decades off may be "out of sight." No one likes to take on unnecessary risks in securities; but, on the other hand, inflation is no longer a risk. It's a certainty. And how does she intend to cope with it, using fixed-dollar investments?

Gambling. I have a hunch that is what you did with your first stock purchase. Your stamped, self-addressed return envelope is bringing you a list of quality growth stocks. Nothing is guaranteed in investing. But that doesn't mean you must go in for all-out gambling anymore than possession of a driver's license means you must never drop below 60 miles an hour.

I have always respected a conservative individual's preference for insured savings. But does that mean more than half your savings should be earning only 4½ per cent?

Q. Do you have any figures comparing taxable and tax-free returns? What about other yields — from bonds, stocks, commodities, savings certificates, real estate, gold, silver?

A. High-grade corporation (taxable) bonds currently yield around 8½ per cent. Top quality tax-exempt yields are around the 5 to 6 per cent level. To decide which is best for you, you must take your own tax bracket into consideration. If you pay 50 per cent in income taxes, a 6 per cent tax-free return is obviously better than an 8½ per cent taxable return. So you must do the arithmetic.

Stocks will yield anywhere from zero to 8 or 9 or even 10 per cent, depending upon the type of stock, industry, etc. Commodities, gold, silver yield nothing. Your reward must come in the form of a trading profit. Real estate, like the girl with the curl in the middle of her forehead, can be "very, very good" or "horrid." Savings institutions, according to letters to this desk, are paying anywhere from 4½ to 7½, 7¾ per cent.

Keeler Building Change Adopted

KEELER — The Keeler township board last night adopted an amendment to the township building code which forbids people from leaving dangerous and abandoned buildings standing in the township.

The new law is aimed at clearing the township of several burned out and weather-beaten cottages.

Residents have complained that children are playing in the unsafe structures and that they are eyesores.

In other areas, the board ordered that boats and portable piers be removed from the public access to Magician lake off 9th avenue. Clerk Kenneth Timmons was appointed to supervise the removal.

CONCRETE DREAM: Earl Lima and his wife, Barbara, are building a 39-foot ketch at their home in Williams Bay, Wis. Hull will be covered with concrete. When the boat, which will have 900 square feet of sail, is eventually launched in Lake Michigan, the Limas plan to live in it. (AP Wirephoto)

Man Gets 1-Year Jail Sentence

Berrien Fifth District Judge Hugh Black sentenced a New Troy man to one year in jail Tuesday for failing to show up to serve a 90-day sentence on a probation violation.

Lodged in the county jail on a bench warrant charging he failed to appear at the county jail to serve the jail sentence was Terry Lee Krueger, 19.

According to court records, Krueger was sentenced to pay fine and costs of $130 and put on probation for conspiracy to commit petty larceny Sept. 9, 1975.

Woman Driver Injured

BERRIEN SPRINGS — A Berrien Springs woman was hospitalized last night as a result of injuries suffered when the auto she was driving crashed into a moving truck backing out of a private drive east of here.

Several said it wasn't the comment which was so terrible, but rather Butz' lack of discretion in making it, and the lack of discretion by Watergate figure John Dean, who printed it in an article he wrote for Rolling Stone magazine. Dean did not identify the cabinet member who made the remark, but Butz was identified as its source by New Times magazine.

Half the blacks who stopped by thought the comment was relatively unimportant.

Some of the women said they were embarrassed — but none blushed, the paper said.

Zoning Job Out In Pine Grove

GOBLES — The Pine Grove township board last night voted to eliminate the office of township zoning administrator and turn those duties over to building inspector Ivan Iay.

The zoning administrator had been responsible for issuing land use permits. A land use permit had to be obtained before the building inspector could issue a building permit.

Supervisor Mort Westcott said it will be simpler in the future to have both permits issued by the same man.

Milliken Asks Help On Poll

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Gov. William Milliken has asked the 15 Upper Peninsula county commissions to help him figure out how to gauge public opinion about Project Seafarer before he decides whether to approve the plan. In a letter to the commissions Milliken said his alternatives include a peninsula-wide public opinion poll, a voter referendum or a survey of the county commissions. He repeated a pledge that U.P. residents have the right of refusal of the controversial project the Navy has proposed for construction in the central and western parts of the peninsula. Seafarer would be a massive underground transmission grid to allow the Navy to keep contact with seagoing submarines. Michigan is the third state in which the Navy has tried to build the system.

Keeler Building Change Adopted

Man Gets 1-Year Jail Sentence

Berrien Fifth District Judge Hugh Black sentenced a New Troy man to one year in jail Tuesday for failing to show up to serve a 90-day sentence on a probation violation.

Lodged in the county jail on a bench warrant charging he failed to appear at the county jail to serve the jail sentence was Terry Lee Krueger, 19.

According to court records, Krueger was sentenced to pay fine and costs of $150 and put on probation for conspiracy to commit petty larceny Sept. 9, 1975.

When he failed to meet those payments, didn't attend alcohol abuse school and didn't report to his probation officer, a bench warrant was issued, according to court officials.

He was arrested and sentenced to serve 90 days in jail on probation violation. When he reportedly failed to appear at the jail to serve that sentence Sept. 3, 1976, another bench warrant was issued. He was again arrested and given the one year sentence.

Zoning Job Out In Pine Grove

GOBLES — The Pine Grove township board last night voted to eliminate the office of township zoning administrator and turn those duties over to auditing inspector Ivan Ray.

The post of zoning administrator had been held for the past five months by Richard Lee of Gobles. He thanked board members for the job and said he was glad to be done with it.

The zoning administrator had been responsible for issuing and use permits. A land use permit had to be obtained before the building inspector would issue a building permit. Supervisor Mort Westcott said will be simpler in the future to have both permits issued by the same man.

In other areas, the board scheduled its regular meeting next month to Tuesday, Nov. 9, as not to conflict with the Nov. 2 general election which falls on the regular meeting date.

Board members said they will announce their decision at the next meeting on which of two applicants will be appointed chairman of the Pine Grove township zoning board.

The applicants are Richard J. Rosendal and Paul Pyron,

Ian Pleads Innocent To Sex Count

Farmington Hills man accused of allegedly offering a Berrien Metro Crime and Drug Enforcement unit officer money to perform a sexual act with the man at the St. Joseph Holiday Inn pleaded innocent Tuesday during arraignment in Berrien Fifth District court.

Demanding a jury trial on a charge of accosting and soliciting for immoral purposes was Walter Joseph Kelley, 37. Bond was set at $500.

The metro officer said he was in the lobby of the Inn, 100 Main street, St. Joseph, early Tuesday when he received a phone call and an offer of an unspecified amount of money to perform a sexual act. At the time the officer was on an unrelated assignment.

The new law is aimed at clearing the township of several burned out and weather-beaten cottages.

Residents have complained that children are playing in the unsafe structures and that they are eyesores.

In other areas, the board ordered that boats and portable piers be removed from the public access to Magician lake off 94th avenue. Clerk Kenneth Timmons was appointed to supervise the removal.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee E. Miller, who told the board they own a cottage next to the access, said the site has become clogged with boats and piers left there in the water all summer and stored on the ground in the winter.

The action to remove the boats and piers was in response to the Lees' complaint.

Supervisor John Gillespie instructed township Fire Chief Robert Millhouse Jr. to investigate the possibility of obtaining workmen's compensation insurance for volunteer firemen.

Millhouse told the board his brother, John, who is also a volunteer fireman, had injured his shoulder in a fire last week, making him unable to work for at least two weeks. Millhouse said the fire department had medical coverage, but no form of compensation to make up for his brother's lost wages.

The board rescheduled its next monthly meeting to Tuesday, Nov. 9, at 7:30 p.m. so as not to conflict with the Nov. 2 general election which falls on the regular meeting date.

Donald Van Patten, 41, and Carolyn Theresa Fuss, 36, both of Allegan.

Tony Nichols, 18, Hamilton, and Kimberly Vecchio, 16, Holland.

Milliken Asks Help On Poll

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Gov. William Milliken has asked the 15 Upper Peninsula county commissions to help him figure out how to gauge public opinion about Project Seafarer before he decides whether to approve the plan. In a letter to the commissions Milliken said his alternatives include a peninsula-wide public opinion poll, a voter referendum or a survey of the county commissions. He repeated a pledge that U.P. residents have the right of refusal of the controversial project the Navy has proposed for construction in the central and western parts of the peninsula. Seafarer would be a massive underground transmission grid to allow the Navy to keep contact with seagoing submarines. Michigan is the third state in which the Navy has tried to build the system.

CONCRETE DREAM: Earl Lima and his wife, Barbara, are building a 39-foot ketch at their home in Williams Bay, Wis. Hull will be covered with concrete. When the boat, which will have 900 square feet of sail, is eventually launched in Lake Michigan, the Limas plan to live in it. (AP Wirephoto)

Listed in satisfactory condition this morning at Berrien General hospital, Berrien Center, was Mrs. Sarah Nelson, 56, 2406 Lemon Creek road, Berrien Springs.

State police at Niles said Mrs. Nelson was driving a car south on Red Bud trail when she crested a hill and was unable to avoid the truck backing out of a drive north of Snow road. Truck driver Gary Tripp, 25, Riverside, Calif., was not injured, police said.

Police said investigation of the accident, which occurred in Oronoko township shortly before 10:30 p.m., is continuing.

POLICE ROUNDUP

Pumpkin-Tossers Smash Mailboxes

Berrien sheriff's deputies said 16 mailboxes were reported damaged in Bainbridge township Tuesday by smashing pumpkins against them apparently from a passing vehicle.

Deputies said 12 of the boxes were on Territorial road between the 5700 and 6600 block, three were on Blastock road near Territorial and one on North Branch road.

St. Joseph township police said Richard Dale Vandenburg, 28, Niles, was arrested Tuesday on a charge of uttering and publishing a forged check.

Vandenburg, 2107 Kathryn street, was booked at the Berrien county jail.

Police said personnel at the Inter-City Bank, 2600 Cleveland avenue, reported a man was attempting to cash a $500 check that had been reported stolen last week from Camelot Place Condominiums, 2501 South Cleveland avenue, St. Joseph township. Police reported the arrest was made at the bank shortly after police were called at 12:30 p.m.

Attracted By Butz' Comment

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — Some 200 persons showed up at the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal office after the newspaper said anyone could drop by and read the comment which led to the resignation of Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz.

The Avalanche-Journal printed a notice on page one Tuesday morning extending the offer.

The actual comment, in which Butz referred to blacks as "coloreds" and described in obscene and derogatory terms what he was said were their sexual and bathroom preferences, was distributed by news services but not as part of a story for publication.

One farmer and his wife drove 70 miles from Yoakum to read the remarks, then copied it down to take back to other farmers.

About a third of the curious were black, the newspaper said, and about half were women.

Half of all those who read it said they were not particularly shocked, and that it should not have cost Butz his job because private talk had nothing to do with how he ran the Agriculture Department.

Several said it wasn't the comment which was so terrible, but rather Butz' lack of discretion in making it, and the lack of discretion by Watergate figure John Dean, who printed it in an article he wrote for Rolling Stone magazine. Dean did not identify the cabinet member who made the remark, but Butz was identified as its source by New Times magazine.

Half the blacks who stopped by thought the comment was relatively unimportant.

Some of the women said they were embarrassed — but none blushed, the paper said.

Lubbock, on the Texas South Plains, is a large farming center for the state and its 159,000 residents are mostly conservative.

MICHELLE: Beautiful And Funny

Just Ask All Her Boyfriends

Michelle Lots Of Laughs

Q: What does Michelle Phillips have that gets her all those superstars like Warren Beatty, Ryan O'Neal, and her ex-husband, John Phillips? — N.G., Portland, Ore.

A: Well, besides being a beauty, she has a great sense of humor. Recently, a British scandal sheet printed a picture of Warren in bed with head shots of all the girls he has had romances with. Michelle is busy pasting up a picture of herself with all her boyfriends around her to send to the same paper.

Q: What's this about Mia Farrow going to play Peter Pan, Mary Martin's famous role? — F.Z., Corpus Christi, Tex.

A: Mia has already taped a TV special for Christmas airing. However, her Peter Pan, with Danny Kaye playing Captain Hook, is all freshly written by Anthony Newley and Leslie Bricusse. It won't use any of the songs or the book from the Mary Martin TV version.

Q: We're always reading about what huge salaries movie stars are getting these days. How about screenwriters — are they commanding big money too? — T.R., Wilmington, Del.

A: Now they are, thanks to novelist and screenwriter William Goldman, who has totally revolutionized the lot of the scriptwriter. It started when Goldman got $400,000 for "Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid," a record fee nine years ago. Goldman has been steadily raising script fees, and his latest coup is one million snappers from Joseph E. Levine for the screenplay of his latest novel, "Magic."

QUESTION YOU NEVER

ASKED: Why are the cast and crew of one of the purest shows on television all making doctor's appointments? They were in location in northern California with nothing to do in the evening but drink and play cards until somebody imported a playgirl named Candy. Somebody else later discovered that she had something that was catching. Frankie phone calls followed to all the men who had been on location.

Q: I know that Robert Redford spent some time in Plains with Jimmy Carter. Has he endorsed him — J.L., New York.

A: No, Redford has not endorsed Carter and he won't. He's spent days, recently, trying to compose a letter to Carter explaining his views. He will support any of Carter's environmental and energy plans, but that's it.

Q: Sinatra seems to be hitting the road these days, giving performances everywhere. How come he's working so hard? He certainly doesn't need the money. — B.M., The Bronx.

A: He certainly does need the money. Frank has been one of the most generous stars in the world, and also one of the biggest spenders. As a result, he doesn't have the kind of cushion of investments that celebrities like Bing Crosby and Bob Hope have amassed. To make up for the years he has practically spent more than he earned, Sinatra is now out doing one-night stands. It's a good idea — the man earns hundreds of thousands for a performance.

A: Reconciliation time is over, alas, and divorce time is coming up. Friends say this split is a relief to him — he's glad it's over. His wife, big spender, Cathy Hawn, won't get the kind of divorce settlement that Dean's first wife got. However, since Martin legally adopted Cathy's 5-year-old daughter because she urged him to, the child will be well taken care of.

The car is fitted with a ton of batteries, is totally silent and cruises at about 55 miles per hour with a top speed of 70. The limo's only drawback is that it can go just 100 miles before the batteries need a 45 minute recharging. However, for Memhin, the real asset is that the car is pollution-free.

lives in London. The interesting thing about him right now is that he just bought an $80,000 all electric limousine called Transformer I. It'll Be 'Fowl' Day In Plymouth

PLYMOUTH, Mich. (AP) — Fowl deeds will be the order of the day Sunday with 67 chickens entered in the first annual Plymouth Chicken Flying Meet. Patterned on a similar contest held several years ago in Rio Grande, Ohio, the bird-flying meet is sponsored by the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce. Sponsors of the birds have spent days training them for the distance hop. One rooster suffered a fatal accident when it ran into the side of a barn during a too-ambitious practice flight.

The contest got extra promotion this week from an unknown person who signed himself the Phantom Bantam and left chickens in a number of downtown businesses.

Sponsors said the meet will be in line with rules of the International Chicken Flying Association. For those who miss the birds' competition, there will be a dance later. It is called Fowl Ball.

Small Counties Are Worried

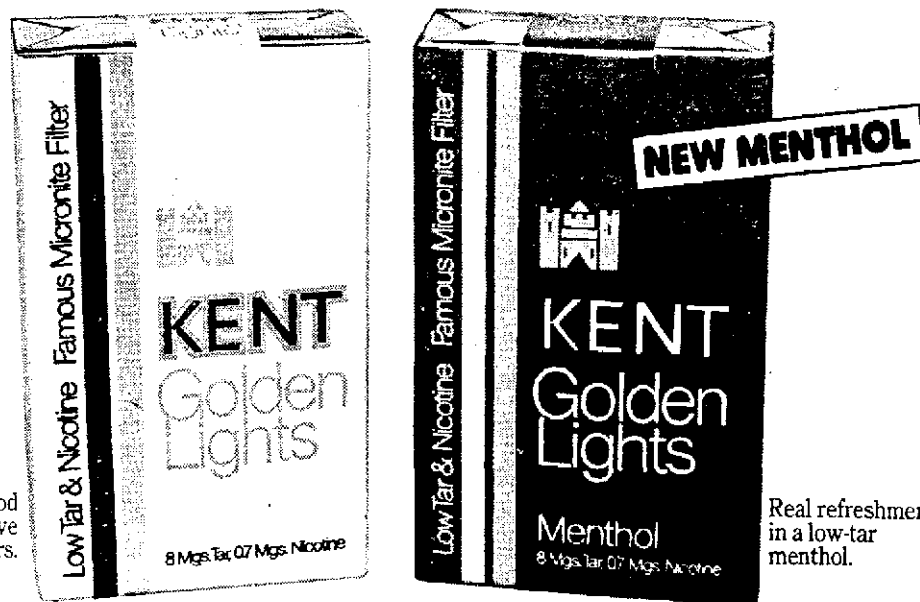

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Legislation to shorten jurors' terms and let some now-barred professionals sit on juries appears to be getting support from everyone except small counties that are worried about what the changes might cost. In testimony before the House Judiciary Committee, Rep. Jeffrey Padden, D-Wyandotte, said a package of several bills he sponsored to require a "one-day, one-trial" jury system in Michigan circuit courts has received general approval. The "one-day, one-trial" system has been used successfully in Wayne County for the past year, and in some Texas and Florida courts. Michigan circuit courts now require jurors to be on call for from two weeks to 90 days, though Wayne County statistics show the longest trial last year was 25 days, with the average running about 3.5 days. Part of Padden's package would erase current laws barring lawyers, doctors, pharmacists, police and fire officials, and state and county elected officials from jury duty.

A: He certainly does need the money. Frank has been one of the most generous stars in the world, and also one of the biggest spenders. As a result, he doesn't have the kind of cushion of investments that celebrities like Bing Crosby and Bob Hope have amassed. To make up for the years he has practically spent more than he earned, Sinatra is now out doing one-night stands. It's a good idea — the man earns hundreds of thousands for a performance.

A: Reconciliation time is over, alas, and divorce time is coming up. Friends says this split is a relief to him — he's glad it's over. His wife, big

The car is fitted with a ton of batteries, is totally silent and cruises at about 55 miles per hour with a top speed of 70. The limo's only drawback is that it can go just 100 miles before the batteries need a 45 minute recharging. However, for Menuhin, the real asset is that the car is pollution-free.

It'll Be 'Fowl'

Day In Plymouth

PLYMOUTH, Mich. (AP) — Fowl deeds will be the order of the day Sunday with 67 chickens entered in the first annual Plymouth Chicken Flying Meet. Patterned on a similar contest held several years ago in Rio Grande, Ohio, the bird-flying meet is sponsored by the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce. Sponsors of the birds have spent days training them for the distance hop. One rooster suffered a fatal accident when it rammed into the side of a barn during a too-ambitious practice flight.

The contest got extra promotion this week from an unknown person who signed himself the Phantom Bantam and left chickens in a number of downtown businesses.

Sponsors said the meet will be in line with rules of the International Chicken Flying Association. For those who miss the birds' competition, there will be a dance later. It is called Fowl Ball.

Small Counties Are Worried

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Legislation to shorten jurors' terms 1 let some now-barred professionals sit on juries appears to be lting support from everyone except small counties that are rried about what the changes might cost. In testimony before House Judiciary Committee, Rep. Jeffrey Padden, D-Wyan-te, said a package of several bills he sponsored to require a ne-day, one-trial jury system in Michigan circuit courts has eived general approval. The "one-day, one-trial" system has n used successfully in Wayne County for the past year, and in ne Texas and Florida courts. Michigan circuit courts now uire jurors to be on call for from two weeks to 90 days, though yne County statistics show the longest trial last year was 25 rs, with the average running about 3.5 days. Part of Padden's kage would erase current laws barring lawyers, doctors, armacists, police and fire officials, and state and county elected cials from jury duty.
